Mrs. Clara Skarin Winborn confessed to Lieutenant William B. Kent of Seattle early today in the Oakland city jail that she had killed Ferdinand Hochbunn, wealthy Seattle real estate man, for an alleged attempted attack against her. This was the declaration today of Lieutenant Kent.

Lieutenant Kent sent a wire later this forenoon to Seattle notifying Prosecuting Attorney Calvin Douglas of that city of the confession.

Mrs. Winborn was arrested Saturday night in Oakland upon information furnished to the local police by The TRIBUNE. The police department and The TRIBUNE for months had conducted a search of the bay region for the young woman, following Seattle notification that she had come here to escape from the Seattle police.

Until the arrival of Lieutenant Kent to return her to Seattle she had steadfastly refused to make any comment on the crime.

The killing took place October 12 or 13 at Seattle. In her confession this morning to Lieut. Kent she declared that the day after the murder she returned to the house where it had been committed, 2529 Fifth avenue, Seattle.

She slit the trousers pocket of her victim, as he still lay upon the floor, with a pair of shears and took therefrom a bunch of keys. She selected the trunk key. From the trunk she took a purse containing $700 in gold.

The weapon, she said, was a .32 caliber revolver which she had purchased at the pawn shop of the Imperial Loan Company, 105 Yester Way, Seattle, on September 23.

In buying it she declared she gave the name of her cousin, Ann Clark, and the address of her aunt, Mrs. W. C. Batesman, of 6528 Twenty-sixth avenue, Northwest, Seattle. A police check this morning at Seattle confirmed this part of the confession.

Continuing her narrative, Mrs. Winborn said that on the same day, October 14, she sent $50 to the Union store at Kalama, Wash., and $120 to a trunk named "Moe" at Chicago. It is supposed by Lieutenant Kent that this was in payment of old debts.

On October 15 she sent $250, she said, to her betrothed, Raymond Kerran, a telephone operator at Kalama, Wash. She was to have been married in the spring of this year. The telephone operator to him she paid for with gold coin for a total of $425.

She made, she admitted, the totally unnecessary explanation to the manager of Postal Telegraph Company that her rich uncle had died recently and left her the money.

In her confession to Lieut. Kent she added under further questioning that she did not remember what she did with the revolver that she used after the crime.

Word was received by the local police today that Mrs. Mable Herbert, the wife of a member of a Seattle detective department, left the northern city today with extradition papers and a complaint and warrant charging Mrs. Winborn with murder in the first degree. Mrs. Herbert is expected to arrive here by Friday evening.

Kent has had two interviews with Mrs. Winborn. The first one lasted for an hour; the second for two hours and forty-five minutes.

"I did not make a confession or sign any statement," said Mrs. Winborn when interviewed today. "I did tell Kent a number of things that took place in Seattle. They were answers to questions which he claimed would clear up other angles of the case. I don't intend to make any statement until I reach Seattle."

Mrs. Winborn cried for the first time yesterday afternoon since she had been taken into custody. But she claims that they were tears of joy and not tears of sorrow and regret.

"I just had to cry when Mrs. Evak Wuestefeld and her daughter, Hazel, came to see me in the city prison," said Mrs. Winborn. "I was hoping at their home in Berkeley when the place was entered by a burglar who stole $45 in currency," explained Mrs. Winborn. "When they notified the police department there was nothing to do but move, and move quickly."

TURKISH TROOPS SLAY CHRISTIANS

Unchecked March Continues —Greek Army in Utter Rout.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Latest advices reaching official circles on the Asia Minor situation declare that all that remains of the Greek army is 100,000 men, fleeing in a panic before the victorious Turkish nationalists and now less than sixty miles from the Mediterranean coast.

The advances declare it probable that only half that number of Greeks will reach the sea as organized fighting units of Turks are within fifty miles of Smyrna and forty miles from the Sea of Marmora.

The Turkish advance since the offensive was launched ten days ago is stated to be more than 130 miles, which experts here say is one of the fastest advances in all the history of wars.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—(By International News Service).—The advancing Turkish nationalist army in Anatolia has begun the massacre of Christians, according to reports from Athens today. The Turks are only 75 miles from Smyrna, seat of Greek great headquarters.

Allied warships, including an American man-of-war, are on their way to Smyrna to prevent the Turks from entering the city. The allies may intervene with troops.

GREEK ARMY
IN FULL RETREAT.

The Greek army is in retreat all along the Anatolian battlefield, putting up only a weak rearguard resistance.

The allied high commissioners at Smyrna are trying to arrange an armistice.

Advices from Athens claimed the Turkish losses on the Anatolian battlefield reached 10,000 killed and wounded.

The Greeks admit evacuating Eskişehir, but claim that Turks have not yet occupied the city.

The Greeks have evacuated Broussa, causing the whole northern end of the Greek front to crumble.

British officials declare that the allies will not leave Constantinople even if the Turkish nationalists make such a demand.

Premier Lloyd George will preside at a cabinet meeting tomorrow when a definite policy will be worked out.

Word was received by the local police today that Mrs. Mable Herbert, the wife of a member of a Seattle detective department, left the northern city today with extradition papers and a complaint and warrant charging Mrs. Winborn with murder in the first degree. Mrs. Herbert is expected to arrive here by Friday evening.

CARQUINEZ STRAITS TO BE BRIDGED

War Department Approves Linking of Central and Northern California By Means of Suspension Span

Structure Will Be 3000 Feet Long and Cost $2,500,000;
Work to Start When Two Counties Grant Franchises

Linking of Central and Northern California by means of a huge suspension bridge across Carquinez Straits, the third longest structure of its kind in the United States, has received the official approval of the War Department, according to word received today by the San Francisco Transit company, sponsors of the project.

Petitions requesting the superintendence of the two counties between which the Carquinez bridge will be swung—Contra Costa and Solano—were granted franchises for the structure were drafted today upon receipt of the official communication, and will be presented to the two boards immediately.

The narrowest part of the straits has been selected as the site for the suspension bridge, which will reach from Redwood City to Dilworth Point, which lies between Vallejo and Benicia.

The bridge will be approximately 3000 feet long, and will have a clearance above mean high water of 135 feet. The middle and longest span will be 1500 feet in length, while the side spans will each measure 750 feet.

PLANS ARE DRAWN FOR GIANT SPAN

All the plans for the giant span have been drawn, preliminary surveys and estimates completed and over $2,500,000 of the $5,000,000 required for the project secured.

It is planned to start work within sixty days after the two counties have formally voted their approval, and the bridge will be ready for vehicular traffic within twelve or eighteen months.

In presenting their franchise petitions to the supervisors of Solano and Contra Costa counties, the officers of the San Francisco Transit Company will outline in detail the plans for the structure, which will be a toll bridge. They assert the tolls, however, will cut the cost of crossing the straits by auto by fifty per cent, besides providing means for crossing at any hour of the day or night. Plans for the bridge call for the construction of connecting links of highway between the state highway and the approaches from both sides.

BRIDGE WILL REVERT TO TWO COUNTIES.

Another feature of the plan to be presented to the county officials provides that at the expiration of twenty-five years, the bridge will revert, at no charge whatever, to the two counties, the company agreeing to maintain the bridge franchise, to keep the structure in full repair up to the time the counties are ready to take it over under the terms of the agreement.

Today's announcement of the approval of the War Department of the plan to bridge the straits, long the bone of contention, revealed the fact that so thorough has been the preliminary work on the project that nothing stands in the way of the actual beginning of construction work but the formal granting of the franchise by the two counties. This is made necessary by the fact that while the War Department controls the straits, the counties' approval must be obtained in order to erect the approaches.

Plans for the structure have been prepared by Charles Evan Fowler of New York and Detroit, an engineer of international reputation as a bridge expert, who is now building the gigantic $30,000,000 Detroit-Windsor suspension bridge and who has assisted in the erection of a score of the biggest bridges in the United States.

TOWERS WILL REAR
300 FEET IN HEIGHT

His plans show a bridge of the suspension type 3100 feet long, with a middle span of 1500 feet, two shore spans of 750 feet each, and a clearance of 135 feet above mean high water. The towers will be 300 feet in height, the depth of piers 90 feet, and the roadway thirty feet wide, or double the width of the present paved highway and only five feet less than that of the Manhattan bridge across the East river, and ten feet less than the Williamsburg bridge across the same river. These two bridges carry 5,200,000 vehicles annually.

Sox Release Two
to S. F. for Kamm

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(By International News Service).—The White Sox this afternoon released pitcher Harry Courtney and Clarence Hodge to the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League. They go as part payment for William Kamm, San Francisco third sacker, who was purchased for $100,000.

Two Main Chiefs Of Railway Shop Strike 'Missing'

Machinists' Head Disappears
—Jewell Reported in Canada With Funds.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—At the moment when rumors of impending partial settlement of the rail strike were in wide though controverted circulation today, W. H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, one of the largest of seven rail unions now on strike, took occasion to disappear. Johnston's associates and his family professed ignorance of his whereabouts but were unanimous in their conviction that he was on official and important duty. At the machinists' headquarters here inquiries brought the reply that he was "in Pittsburgh, Baltimore or New York."

Adding to the mystery was the established fact that Johnston had a conversation yesterday with Secretary of Commerce Hoover before he dropped out of sight and was reported to have informed the secretary that settlement prospects were bright.

NOT DODGING PROCESS
SERVING, AIDES STATE

Whether B. M. Jewell, the official head of the entire striking group, was in company with Johnston in the latter's mysterious journeyings, or whether railroad presidents were seeking or being sought, for settlement conferences, remained in the "rumor" stage with every railroad source of information denying that executives were seeking such meetings.

A vigorous denial was entered by machinists' officials to suggestions that their elusive chief might be seeking to fool process servers, armed with copies of the Chicago restraining order entered in the injunction suit entered against Johnston and the other strike leaders. To the exact contrary, it was said, he was "seeking service" of the papers, and would be instantly brought to light to receive them if any United States marshal showed up around headquarters.

JEWELL REPORTED IN CANADA WITH FUNDS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—The mystery continued concerning the whereabouts of B. M. Jewell, leader of the striking "shopmen," who dropped from sight last week within a few hours after Attorney-General Daugherty had obtained a temporary injunction against the strikers.

Officials at his headquarters say they do not know where he is, and are uncertain whether he will be present in court next Monday when Judge James H. Wilkerson hears the government's petition that the restraining order be made permanent.

They refused to comment on persistent reports that Jewell has moved his funds to Canada and is preparing to carry on the strike from there if the Federal courts issue a permanent injunction against activity directed from here. Government agents are known to be looking into Jewell's moves. He has not yet been served with the notice of the issuance of the injunction, although the papers were left at his office by representatives of the Federal marshal.

Insurgent Miners

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 6.—Insurgency and disappointment in the ranks of the anthracite mine strikers have been linked together in bitter opposition against acceptance of the Pepper-Reed plan to settle the five-months' strike.

International President John L. Lewis and District Presidents Chris Golden, W. J. Brennan and Thomas Kennedy are facing the battle of their lives in the convention, which opens this afternoon.

Three Texans Dead
in Feud Over Klan

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 6.—Three men were killed and two seriously injured in a family feud inspired by interest of the Ku Klux Klan in political affairs at Sealy, Tex., according to advices here today.

F. C. Shafter, prominent real estate man, and his sons, Robert and Luther Bell, were killed in the shooting affray. Ernest Shafter, stabbed in the back, was in a serious condition and Turner Bell was believed fatally wounded by a shot in the head.

Charles Crocker's
Auto License Revoked

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The auto driver's license of Charles Crocker, aged 17, son of W. H. Crocker, San Francisco financier, was revoked yesterday by Judge Buck at Redwood City as a result of Crocker being charged with speeding and cutting corners on the La Honda grade.

Eastern Strike Leader Urges Borah to Initiate Action; Injunction Denounced in

No Quicker Way to Discredit Government, Robinson of Arkansas States; Compers
Attacks U. S. Strike Plan

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—Prospects for a partial settlement of the railroad shopmen's strike were believed here today to be largely in the hands of Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Including Willard's road, fifty-two railroads were said to have been involved in the plans for a separate settlement. Union leaders here said that representatives of the striking shopmen were in Baltimore today to meet some of the executives.

The understanding here was that Willard still hoped to reach a separate agreement by which the strikers would be given their old jobs back with pensions restored, and that disputed points be left to five representatives of the train service brotherhoods and five executives.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—Impeachment proceedings for the impeachment of Attorney-General Daugherty and Federal Judge Wilkerson of Chicago, on the ground that the railroad strike injunction, granted by the latter at the former's request, was in violation of the constitution, was urged on Senator Borah in a telegram today from John J. Dowd, chairman of general strike committee of the Eastern Railroad Shopmen.

The impeachment demanded by the government against the striking railroad shopmen was declared today in the senate by Senator Robinson Democrat, Arkansas, to be a violation of both the constitution and the Clayton anti-trust act.

Senator Robinson charged that the federal court "exceeded its authority in issuing the temporary restraining order and declared that the alleged advantages" to be derived from the order "are more than offset by the permanent impairment of the reputation of the federal judiciary for integrity and impartiality which must result from such an unwarranted assumption of authority."

"WORDS CAN'T MITIGATE INTENT OF DOCUMENT"

The message addressed to Senator Borah as chairman of the Senate committee on education and labor.

On behalf of 25,000 railroad shopmen on strike in the New York district, we urge upon you the immediate necessity for the impeachment of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and Federal Judge Wilkerson.

The injunction against the striking railroad shopmen requested by the attorney general and issued by Judge Wilkerson constitutes a violation by high government officials of the constitutional guarantees of American freedom and of specific federal statutes without precedent in the history of the nation.

Soft words of interpretation spoken in "high official quarters" after the issuance of the injunction cannot mitigate the plain language and intent of the document. Nor can they wipe out the astounding admission by the attorney general reported in the press that the order was issued that he would use the power of the government to maintain the open shops.

"NO QUICKER WAY OF DISCREDITING GOVERNMENT"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(By United Press).—Voting bitter opposition to the government's injunction against the striking shopmen, Senator Robinson, Arkansas, declared:

The president and the attorney-general have placed between the railway executives and the strikers the power of the government and an army of U. S. marshals and hold in readiness the military and naval forces.

No quicker way of discrediting and undermining the government can be pursued than to make court process independent of constitutional limitations and statutory restrictions and responsive to mere convenience and opinion.

"UNWARRANTED," COMPERS SAYS OF INJUNCTION.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 6.—(By United Press).—"The recent manifestly by our people and the press of the country against Attorney General Daugherty's unwarrantable injunction a most gratifying manifestation of the real American spirit," Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, said here today.

"The strike of railroad shopmen could be adjusted in a day if the standpoint of humanizing the government was adopted."

A complete reconciliation has been effected, and there are to be none of the usual after effects of grudge or bitterness.

Mack says that his wife will arrive here early tomorrow. Confirmation of the reconciliation was received today in a telegram from Los Angeles, in which Mrs. Ida Finkel, Mrs. Mack's mother, declares that reports of a separation or divorce are completely unfounded.

As he was seated last night in the familiar setting of cosmetics, cigarette stubs and stage make-up in his dressing room, Mack said:

"It was a misunderstanding. You see, old top, I have become so used to my wives leaving me that when Mrs. Mack went to Los Angeles, at a moment's notice, to take her two children to her mother's home, I said to myself: 'Willard, old boy, here's another lady who could not get accustomed to a husband that goes off on periodic wild bays.' It was natural for me to jump to this conclusion, for it had happened before. But I did my wife an injustice. We have just had a long-distance talk in which she says she is coming back Thursday morning and that she will take her part in 'Kick In,' the play we are now producing."

MINE RESCUE IS DELAYED BY CAVE-IN

Workers Piercing Into Old Drift Leading to Argonaut Find Passage Blocked by Debris From Former Fire

Expectation of Fast Headway Through Tunnel Turns to Realization of Many Hours Before Men Are Reached

The OAKLAND TRIBUNE today dispatched to Jackson, Amador county, to the headquarters of the American Red Cross a contribution of $100. The Red Cross is not only helping to sustain the rescue parties at work clearing a highway of escape for the buried miners and looking after the comfort of their families, but is planning every means of assistance to the men if they are brought out alive.

AT THE ARGONAUT MINE, Jackson, Calif., Sept. 6.—The 353-foot drift to the Kennedy mine is not entirely caved, this morning's work showed. The morning crew cleared out five feet and put in sets of timbers. They can now see ten feet ahead over the muck in the drift, and for this distance the timbers are in good shape. This bulletin provided a ray of hope today.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

JACKSON, Sept. 6.—Jaded Jackson is today, numb after ten long nights and days of intense nervous expectancy, its still 45 appetite for excitement cloyed at last by dulling rescues, pattered and worn from too many rebounds against the bulwark of hope.

Forty-seven citizens or former citizens of this clannish little community are still one mile underground in the Argonaut mine, where they were entrapped by a week ago Sunday night.

And today, ten days after the time of their rescue is just as indefinite as ever. This is admitted flatly by mine officials.

Hope had been dashed in an almost fatal plane last night. Miners working through the 3600 level of the adjoining Kennedy property were preparing to touch off the last blast which would carry them through a sixty-foot rock wall. The town believed that this would be the open sesame to the tomb—that it would reveal a 353-foot tunnel partly open and requiring only a few hours to clear; that then would come the last 75 feet of uprise and then—!

CAVE-IN BLOCKS
WAY TO MINERS

But the last blast revealed not an open tunnel, but a cave-in filled with sticky muck jammed with mine timbers and twisted rails, the debris scattered when this property was flooded some time ago, extinguish a fire—and that it will now take days, how many no one today would venture to guess.

When the 7 a.m. shift came up to the surface with the report of conditions, hope which had been buoyed and plunged like a shuttlecock flying over the net of human emotions, was completely blunted.

The passage of time has worn dull the poignant grief of the wives of the entombed men. They have neither given up hope, nor expect so much. The homes seem to hang in a dull cloud of suspended judgment.

Today Mrs. George Steinman and Mrs. Evan Eilly, surrounded by their children, received Red Cross workers and neighbors with a certain pathetic calm, while the children were trying to understand "why mamma is having so much company."

BULLETIN BOARDS
DRAW WAITING CROWD

Main street, Jackson, is crowded with little groups of men standing before newly erected bulletin boards and discussing the disaster. They break up and re-form, ebb and flow throughout the day, a current that sweeps differently along, going nowhere, arriving at nowhere.

At the head of the street, blocked again—! the sky line a mile away, the tower of the Argonaut mine looks down from its hilltop throne, a monarch.

It will take six months before the mine can be put in condition again, officials say, and already the workers here, dependent upon it for life, are wondering what they too are going to do.

LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

DUBLIN, Sept. 6.—Many persons were reported killed and wounded today, although the fighting between the irregulars and the Free Staters is said to have decreased in violence. A woman was killed and another wounded when irregulars made an attack at Watertford.

An attempt by irregulars to make an ambush attack at Mitchelstown was frustrated by Free Staters. Adjutant Shinnick of the irregulars was killed. Twelve irregular soldiers were captured. Two persons were killed and three others wounded in brushes in Cork, Leitrim and Monaghan counties.

A number of irregulars were captured in Donegal county. During raids in Dublin, Free Staters seized thousands of propaganda pamphlets, a printing press and a quantity of gelignite and some shells.

his make-up in a small mirror. Then he became reminiscent, and said:

"Twenty things—love and marriage! Peculiar things! You see marriage is supposed to be for people who have made up their minds. Love is for children. Unfortunately, some of us never grow up, and love continues our playground. In the game of love we all play 'let's' and occasionally we cry 'I love it!' But marriage is a different thing. It is the chess game which tells us that recess is over."

Mack chivalrously took most of the blame for the previous wrecks of his hitherto barking. The only one of his former wives whom he criticized at all, and that but mildly, was Pauline Frederick, the famous actress and motion picture star. Of her Mack said:

"Polly is all right. But I see that she has been giving out newspaper statements when she thought that Mrs. Mack and I had come to the parting of the ways. Polly says I don't know my own mind. Neither does she. Frankly, her instincts are too nomadic. If she is in London she wants to be in New York, and if she is in New York she feels a tremendous urge to go to Los Angeles. She also has had three husbands so I am but one jump ahead of her. I think her third husband, Dr. Rutherford of Seattle, will last. Even Polly could find no fault in his character, for he is a splendid chap. I see that Polly says I am forever chasing rainbows, and I am glad she admits being a rainbow."

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 6.—Determined to force the question of the Daugherty injunction to a clear-cut decision, Memphis labor is preparing to back to the limit the defense of Jacob Cohen, editor of the Labor Review, arrested on a charge of violating the injunction.

Involved in Cohen's case is the whole question of the extent to which authorities may go to apply the injunction to the press, labor leaders pointed out, in declaring that the Cohen case is of vital importance to the press and public of the entire country.

Cohen was arrested following publication of an editorial in the Labor Review, the official organ of the Memphis trades and labor council. This editorial appearing in last Saturday's issue, scathingly denounced "scabs."

DAMAGE SUITS HEARD.

A jury in Superior Judge A. F. St. Sure's court yesterday heard testimony in two damage suits involving $26,595. The actions are Joseph S. Wright against Salzberger & Sons, for $16,950, and Thomas Osborne Wright against the same defendant for $9,645. The first action is for expenses incurred by Wright as father of Thomas Wright, 14, who was run down and injured by an auto truck belonging to the defendants. The second action is for $25,000 damages for personal injuries to the boy.

Judge Church ordered a bench warrant issued for the man's appearance.

TEXAS IS RAILWAY GUARD SHOT; NEAR DEATH

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 6.—M. V. Torres, guard at a Texas and Pacific water tank at Midway, 75 miles west of Fort Worth, was shot and probably fatally wounded as he walked his beat early today. Torres is a brother of Deputy U. S. Marshal Torres of Fort Worth.

SWITCH THROWN, SEVEN COACHES ARE WRECKED.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 6.—The Southern Railway's Royal Palm Limited was wrecked today seven miles from Jacksonville, Fla., where a switch was thrown after the locomotive had been in two, officers of the road here said.

Five Pullman coaches, two day coaches and the engine left the rails. First reports said no one was injured.

A piece of metal was found driven in the split rail where the switch was opened.

The Royal Palm is the Southern's crack tourist train running between Chicago and Jacksonville. Officials of the Southern railway declared the wreck undoubtedly was the work of men who deliberately attempted to ditch the flyer.

Cities Service to Buy Planet Petroleum

The Empire Gas & Fuel Company of Maine, a subsidiary of Cities Service Company, has contracted to purchase the entire holdings of the Planet Petroleum Company in northern Texas according to an announcement by Henry L. Doherty & Co.

The Planet Petroleum Company properties embrace a large tract of land aggregating several hundred acres, situated in the electric field in the northern part of Texas. These leases have a daily production of more than 5000 barrels of high grade crude oil and a significant feature of the production is that it comes from several different sands.

Oakland Girl Treated At Vallejo Hospital

VALLEJO, Sept. 6.—Elma Reynolds, 23, thirty-eight street, Oakland, was given medical attention at the Vallejo general hospital Sunday by Dr. F. B. Jones for injuries incurred when a car in which she was riding was struck by another machine on the Napa highway. Her injuries consist of cuts about the face due to flying glass from a broken windshield.

yearly each. Fowler has been retained as consulting engineer by the San Francisco Transit company and will have as his consultants H. L. Haehl, a Pacific Coast authority on hydraulic engineering; Edwin A. Duryes, a member of the engineering board reporting on the Brooklyn bridge; and Dr. D. B. Steinman of New York, technical expert on long span bridges.

Besides completing the preliminary plans the sponsor of the bridge project have completed all surveys, soundings, triangulations, plans, stress sheets and specifications, and have obtained all necessary geological surveys. The granting of the franchise will be the signal for a call for bids, with assurance that actual work will be under way within sixty days after official approval of the counties to the project is voted.

ALL BET $300,000
ALREADY SUBSCRIBED.

Officers of the company backing the project emphasized today that there will be no stock-selling campaign in connection with it. They declared that already all but $300,000 of the $2,500,000 required has been subscribed, and applications more than covering the balance filed.

The officers of the company are President Otto G. Freyermuth, M. D., of San Francisco, vice president, Henry Martens, president of a San Francisco foundry with branches in South San Francisco, Los Angeles and Richmond, treasurer Lou H. Silberman, secretary of a San Francisco iron and metal company with branches throughout the East and in the Orient, secretary, Thomas Nesbit, certified auditor and accountant, directors, Harry Silberman, Jr., president of a San Francisco iron and metal company and Arthur A. Jennings, superintendent engineering department, U. S. N. at Mare Island.

Exports See Delay In Clearing Drift

With 343 feet still to be cleared, and with 75 feet of hard rock still to be drilled and blasted when the raise leading into the Argonaut is reached, the day of expected delivery set for tomorrow, has been put back at least five days, in the opinion of mine officials.

SIGNALS TO MEN GO UNANSWERED

Fred Lowell, secretary of the directing committee and of the State Industrial Commission, announced this morning that although signal blasts were fired throughout the night on the 3600 foot level of the Kennedy, no answering blasts had come from within the Argonaut. Yesterday rescuers reported that two blasts had been heard. Five were reported the night before.

Lowell also announced today that a recheck showed there were 47 men entombed. This is the number originally given out. Two days ago it was reported that one of the men had quit the Argonaut and gone to work in the Kennedy, which would have reduced the number to 46. The report was found to be in error.

Superintendent V. S. Garbarini of the Argonaut, Vice-president E. A. Hutchinson of the Kennedy, and Lowell who are carrying the burden of responsibility in directing the attempted rescue are haggard and worn. They have gone without sleep for days borne up by hope. This morning they appeared to have aged many years since yesterday.

Lowell refused to say the fight is hopeless. He simply stated conditions as they have been found and withholds comment.

The bulletin posted today follows: "Cleaned out the 3600-foot level of the Kennedy for a distance of ten feet during the night. There is still 343 feet to be cleaned out. The drift C. I. timbers and rails were found imbedded in the muck and rock."

"On the 3400-foot level of the Kennedy 50 feet has been cleared out. There still remains 175 feet to be cleared."

Business Adviser Tells of Moore Will

Harry W. Lobb, business adviser of the late Mrs. Mary Ellen Moore, and against whom a contest of the $150,000 Moore estate is being directed, was a witness in Superior Judge E. C. Robinson's court yesterday. Lobb was beneficiary under the will, approximately $35,000 being left to him. Against this bequest the heirs of the estate are bringing the legal fight.

Lobb told of his business dealings with Mrs. Moore and of the transactions in which he acted as her agent. He told of securing an attorney to draw Mrs. Moore's will, his action being at her request, but declared that he did not know at the time that he was to be named as a beneficiary. He said that during the drawing of the will Mrs. Moore asked him how he would like some sugar stock, and a moment later she instructed the attorneys to divide the residue of her estate between Lobb and her two brothers.

Rich Yachtsman Saves His Child After Explosion

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 6.—(By United Press).—Their bodies burned almost beyond recognition, and with only a slim fighting chance for recovery, Mr. and Mrs. Lynden Bowring, wealthy residents of Los Angeles, were rescued here at 9:40 a. m. by the cruiser Quest of the Wrigley fleet from Avalon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowring were burned last night when a gas stove aboard their yacht exploded. Heroic rescue work on the part of the father, who risked his life by rushing madly into the flames, is all that saved the life of a 14-months' old baby. The explosion occurred in one of the cabins where Mrs. Bowring was seated. The husband rushed into the burning cabin, seized the baby and placed it on deck and then returned to get his wife. A second explosion followed and the husband was cut off by the flames.

Early today the injured were placed aboard the Quest and started for San Pedro. A heavy fog impeded the progress of the ship. Two ambulances were on hand to rush the victims to hospitals. The yacht was destroyed at a loss of $40,000.

Mrs. Bowring is the daughter of J. C. Bosche of Los Angeles.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY U. S. MAIN STREET

The "Main street" of the nation should be the Lincoln highway, in the opinion of the Lincoln Highway Association, and to impress upon the people of Oakland that they should get behind the movement to induce tourists to take the route to northern in stead of southern California, Austin F. Bement, vice-president and secretary, will address the Rotary Club at the Hotel Oakland tomorrow.

There is only one short stretch in Utah that has not been provided for by state or federal funds for improvement, according to Bement, who recently drove an automobile across the continent. The topic of his address tomorrow will be "What the Lincoln Highway Means to Oakland and Northern California."

Married Teacher Asks Reinstatement

Friday morning will see a court battle by Mrs. Lucy Hardy before Superior Judge James G. Quinn against the Albany Board of Education in which she seeks by a writ of mandate her reinstatement as a school teacher from which position she was discharged because she got married.

The writ filed yesterday by Mrs. Hardy asserts that the Albany school board violated the state law by discharging her without just cause and that the board had no authority to make the rule against married teachers. Members of the board made defendants are A. Landquist, George V. Carter and Laura H. Ryan.

How to Buy an ORIENTAL RUG

ONE: Buy Quality, not a name

Two rugs of the same name may be of far different quality. Oriental rug quality is based upon—one, the choiceness of the materials; two, the use of pure vegetable and animal dyes; three, the harmonious blending of colors; four, the typicalness and refinement of patterns; five, the fineness of texture.

TWO: See the rugs in your own home

THREE: Compare Values, not Prices

The hundreds of thousands of inferior "commercially" produced Oriental rugs brought yearly to this country are largely sold to the credulous and indiscriminating during periodical sales by the allurements of "bargain" prices. Najarian holds no sales—but his values in true and worthy Oriental rugs are not equaled in California.

Consistently finer rugs and better values have made—

"Welcome to OAKLAND WEEK" is really more than a sales drive. It is the first public expression of co-operative effort on the part of Oakland's progressive merchants.

The great Boys' Week of last spring and the successful $100,000 drive of the Chamber of Commerce are simply public expressions of this new spirit of co-operation which is helping to make Oakland one of the great commercial cities of the West.

THE policy of THE OAKLAND BANK is in tune with this spirit of progress. The recent changing of the bank's name, the establishment of four new branches, the building program of nearly a million dollars are likewise outward expressions of progressive banking service offered to present and new customers alike.

Tell newcomers about this new Oakland spirit—and about THE OAKLAND BANK.

JOINT BODY URGED TO HANDLE WORK OF DEVELOPMENT

Consolidation of Business League and Merchants' Exchange Is Favored.

A proposal favoring consolidation of the Business Development League with the Merchants' Exchange was the subject on which addresses were made at the Development League's luncheon at the Hotel Oakland yesterday by T. M. Woodward, manager of the Great Western Power Company, and by W. P. Scott, president of the Merchants' Exchange. The subject will come up for further consideration at next Tuesday's meeting of the league.

Consolidation of the two bodies was favored by both speakers. Woodward pointed out that the purposes of the League and the Exchange supplement each other and that both organizations have the same end in view, which is that of promoting the development of the city. Scott, president of the Merchants' Exchange, spoke on the value of united effort and co-operation and pointed out what could be achieved by a union of the membership of the League and the Exchange.

A special committee was appointed to examine the proposal with F. H. Woodward as chairman.

FIRE PROTECTION PLANS FOR HILLS MAKE PROGRESS

BUSINESS CLOTHES ARE IMPORTANT

"Oh, you look so neat and trim, Miss Baxter. You do have the best looking clothes to wear to the office. That skirt is a beauty and you have such attractive blouses. I usually wear out old things and they don't always seem to fit into the environment, but I don't seem to be able to afford new business clothes."

"Oh, I find it economy in the long run to buy good clothes to wear in the office. And I just couldn't think of wearing old things that aren't suitable. I don't spend such a terrific lot for my clothes, either. But since one wears business clothes six days in the week, I think it is quite important to give them as much attention as evening clothes."

"I guess you're right. I hadn't thought of it that way. I would love to have a new tweed suit and fur, but I don't see my chance of buying it for the next two months. Clothes cost so much. If I need something for good I usually buy it first and haven't enough left for office clothes."

"You'd better get the suit and fur before you change your mind. And if you haven't enough money on hand, why not get them at Cherry's, 515 13th street? They have some stunning new fall suits, coats, dresses, etc., in and they allow you six months to pay."

Cherry's store for men is at 523 13th street.—Advertisement.

Child Welfare Feature Of State's Exhibition

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6.—The aster had interfered with plans for State Fair continued to be a great attraction for thousands today with its horse show, livestock and horticultural exhibits and many diversified entertainments, while the memory of yesterday, which was parent-teachers' and mothers' day, lingers in the minds of many.

The many activities of yesterday emphasized educational and child welfare work. There was a big luncheon in the assembly hall as a feature. The women's building was crowded throughout the day for the baby clinics and other child welfare demonstrations. Folk dancing and a physical training exhibition by the school children of Sacramento was a special attraction in the afternoon.

The Argonaut mine disaster was called to the minds of many by a large picture of the mine which was placed in the Amador county booth, with a printed sign telling of the fight to rescue the entombed miners. Previously the booth had remained empty because the disaster had interfered with plans for State Fair continued to be a great attraction for thousands today with its horse show, livestock and horticultural exhibits and many diversified entertainments, while the memory of yesterday, which was parent-teachers' and mothers' day, lingers in the minds of many.

The names of S. H. Phelan and Charles Warner were added to the finance committee. That committee reported a number of substantial subscriptions from interested parties and recommended the addition of the two additional members in order that the others having property interests to be protected should be interviewed and urged to do their part in providing the means necessary to keep up the work already under way, and to insure ample precautionary measures against a repetition of former disastrous fires.

On motion of Woodbridge Metcalfe, assistant professor of forestry at U. of C., seconded by Warner, the committee unanimously endorsed the project to build an extension of the Oakland Sky Line boulevard to the northwest across the face of Grizzly Peak to Tallac avenue in Berkeley. The committee took the ground that such a highway would not only add greatly to the sightliness of Oakland and Berkeley driveways, but would be of great importance in checking fires and in transporting men and materials quickly in case of necessity.

Considering reports that the hills might be closed to hikers, the committee recommended extreme caution to all hikers in the Contra Costa Hills and that no fires be started except with full legal authority. It was decided not to recommend closing of the hills to hikers unless actual necessity arises due to the action of the hikers themselves.

ALAMEDA FAVORS TUBE NOT BRIDGE TO LINK CITIES

Council Holds Passage Under Estuary Cheaper Than Span Above.

ALAMEDA, Sept. 6.—The Alameda city council went on record last night as being in favor of the construction of a tube beneath the estuary instead of a bridge over it, to connect the city with Oakland.

According to the councilmen they were in favor of immediate action in securing the construction of this exit from Alameda. The cost of construction and maintenance is considered cheaper than a bridge.

L. Kalski made application to the council for permission to erect a $100,000 apartment house at Grant street and Central avenue. This will necessitate the changing of the classification of the district and as a result a large delegation of old time residents of the section were present and protested. The council took the matter under further advisement to permit investigation.

An ordinance was introduced arranging for holding the meetings of the police pension board meetings once a month instead of quarterly as at present.

City Manager C. E. Hickok was instructed by the council to investigate the reported holes in Webster street. These are the result of track laying activities upon the part of the railway company, according to the complaint made to the council.

79-Year-Old Man Has Disappeared

Relatives are worried over the disappearance of Horace B. Forbes, 79 years old, deaf and feeble, who has been missing since he wandered away from his home at 1321 San Luis avenue Monday morning.

The man's disappearance was reported to the police by his son, H. B. Forbes, who says his father is sometimes subject to amnesia and to wandering. The son describes his father as being five feet six inches tall, 125 pounds, gray beard and moustache, brown hair, deaf and afflicted with a cataract over the right eye. When leaving home he wore a brown suit, gray soft hat and a blue shirt.

Near Mars is the red star called Antares.

ART OF SEWING TAUGHT AT CLUBS

Millinery and dressmaking clubs are being formed at the Manzanita school, the millinery under the instruction of Mrs. Marie Johnson and the dressmaking being taught by Miss Mary Hanlon. The millinery class meets every Monday afternoon from 1:30 to 4 o'clock. The dressmaking hours are on Wednesday afternoons from 1:30 to 4 o'clock. All ladies desiring to take these courses are welcome as long as the enrollment does not become over-crowded. Further information can be obtained by phoning Merritt 1747. A nominal fee is charged each pupil to pay the teacher's salary.

Speeders Punished by New Methods

(By International News Service.) SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 3.—A new method of punishing speeders was introduced here by Justice Benjamin Shove when, rather than send Emmet Ross to the penitentiary in default of fine, he ordered the man to surrender his machine for six weeks. Ross turned it over to the police.

Wife Who Reduced Divorced by Mate

(By International News Service.) LONDON, Sept. 5.—Anxious to have a waist "like a wasp," the wife of a Berlin tradesman followed the instructions of an anti-fat specialist, with the result that, in the course of a few weeks, she reduced her weight by one-third. Incidentally, however, she became extremely pale and, in the eyes of her husband, lost her personal charm. He applied for a divorce and the court granted his claim.

The Story of Mankind

Not in a decade has a book been written that has so impressed the reading world as Henrik van Loon's great historic masterpiece, now running serially in The Oakland Tribune.

All History in Review

- there, in a group, Alexander, Charlemagne, Washington, Bonaparte
- there the Sumerians, writing lazily with nails; in dramatic contrast the Bastille totters in a heap
- float after float depicts, in simple Van Loon outline, all the epochs of thousands of years
- bands blare forth the achievements of proud and ancient nations—as they pass from view
- at length, the pageant fades out and all too swiftly, you have come to the end.
- Read it in the Sunday Magazine.

Everything from Everywhere,

From all quarters of the globe—by ocean and by rail—during the past few weeks have come great consignments of the newest merchandise in all lines to the merchants of Oakland for their offerings during "Welcome to Oakland Week," September 11 to 16, inclusive.

Several months ago the business people of Oakland began to plan for this big week. Buyers from the stores, making their regular trips to New York and Europe, were told to buy their regular large stocks and then to add good measure, in quantity and value, for "Welcome to Oakland Week." That Oakland stores have kept pace with the progress of the city will be proven beyond a doubt during this open-house week.

In preparing their stocks for Oakland's big get-acquainted, get-together party they have outdone every other city on the Coast in the quantity, quality and diversity of goods which they have secured.

Newcomers and visitors from out-of-town will discover, and old residents will appreciate more than ever, that in the stocks of the Oakland stores they will always find, displayed for their convenient selection, everything they may need or wish, at prices that bear comparison with offerings found anywhere.

An intimate knowledge of Oakland's shops is an important part of knowing Oakland itself. Get well acquainted with them next week and be sure to visit every one.

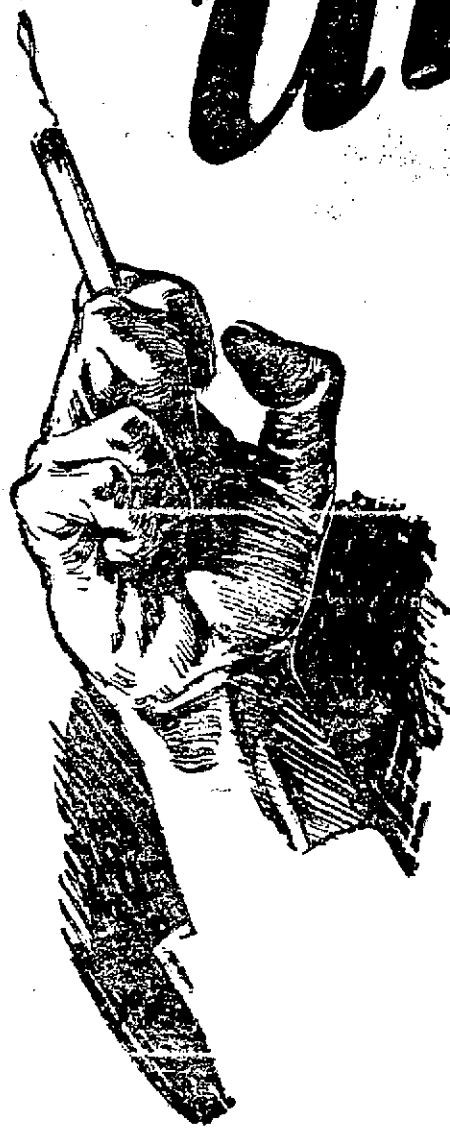

How Well Do You Know Oakland?

Do you realize—

That Oakland is the fastest growing industrial city in California? Government reports based on the 1920 census show Oakland far ahead of both San Francisco and Los Angeles in percentage of gain in capital invested in manufacturing; persons engaged in manufacturing; horsepower used in manufacturing; value of products manufactured; and wages paid in manufacturing?

Doolittle Planning New Trip After Record Flight

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 6.—Having eaten today his first breakfast since starting his air dash from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific, Lieutenant James H. Doolittle, army aviator who late yesterday completed his flight here from Jacksonville, Fla., a distance of 2,200 miles, in 21 hours, and 18 minutes, was busy with plans for his next flying task. He has been instructed to report for duty at McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio, and plans to fly there, starting Friday, in the specially constructed de Havilland plane which brought him here safely from the Atlantic coast.

On March 24, 1921, Lieutenant W. D. Coney left Fable Beach, Fla., on a one-stop flight to San Diego. Early on the following morning his airplane fell in Louisiana, seriously injuring him. He died March 30. Doolittle made a previous effort to fly across the continent from Florida last month, but his plane fell on the Florida beach before he could get into the air.

SOME ENTHUSIASM
Doolittle showed much of that same enthusiasm when he landed here just before dusk yesterday. The most apparent feature on his arrival and landing perfectly accomplished, after a grind of more than 21 hours in the air, was a wholesome, joyous grin. That grin lasted until he "submitted" to an interview, which was obtained while he was taking a warm bath. The reporter sat in the bathroom and put the question between splashes of water as Doolittle refreshed himself after his long trip.

Doolittle told of his start, of running into a storm, how he roared from the storm zone, how he roared, how glad he was to see two fellow aviators meet him at Imperial Valley, and of the landing.

Lieutenant Doolittle made an average of 101 miles an hour. When he reached Imperial Valley and saw the two pacemakers from Rockwell field—Captain William Randolph and Lieutenant C. L. Lubber—waiting to accompany him on the last leg he "opened up wide" within his trusty Liberty motor and came at a speed estimated at about 115 miles an hour.

BREAKS FORMER RECORD.
The former record for the Jacksonville to San Diego flight was made by Major Theodore MacAuley in April, 1918, when he flew across the country from the east coast to the west in 25 hours and 10 minutes. Major MacAuley made the west to east coast flight in 19 hours and 10 minutes the same month.

The most astonishing feature of the flight to veterans' flight men at Rockwell field, was the fine condition in which Lieutenant Doolittle arrived. They expected to see him covered with spatter oil and also to find him dead tired. "I was not dead tired," he said. "I was just tired." When Doolittle landed, having taxied up to the deadline with superb precision, he pulled off his leather cap, smiled from a face clear of spatter oil, and then laughed as congratulations were extended by Major Shepherd W. Fitzgerald, commander of Rockwell field.

"Thank you, sir," was his acknowledgment of the major's greeting. "How do you feel, Jimmie?" asked a brother officer. "Not bad," said Doolittle, with another grin. "Did you have any trouble?" "Not a bit of any kind." "Aren't you hungry?" "Well, I could eat a little," said Doolittle.

After a few more words of greeting, Doolittle was whisked away to the home of Lieutenant John McCulloch, post adjutant, where, after he had a warm bath, he talked of his flight.

FOURTH TO TRY FLIGHT.

Lieutenant Doolittle is the fourth army aviator to attempt a one day, one stop transcontinental flight and the second to succeed. The first attempt was made by Lieutenant Alexander Pearson, who attempted to fly from California to Florida in February, 1921. Pearson got lost in the Big Bend country of Texas and was forced to land across the Rio Grande in Mexico. Later he rode into San Antonio, Texas, on a mule and told a tale of harrowing experiences.

On March 24, 1921, Lieutenant W. D. Coney left Fable Beach, Fla., on a one-stop flight to San Diego. Early on the following morning his airplane fell in Louisiana, seriously injuring him. He died March 30. Doolittle made a previous effort to fly across the continent from Florida last month, but his plane fell on the Florida beach before he could get into the air.

WRIT SOUGHT IN CAR THEFT CASE

Alleging that the preliminary examination developed no evidence to connect the defendant with the crime of grand larceny, a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Harry T. Beguhl was argued yesterday afternoon before Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church. Decision will be rendered Friday afternoon.

Beguhl was arrested with T. J. Walsh and John M. Dorney, charged with the theft of an automobile. It is contended by Attorney Leo E. Sullivan, representing him, that Beguhl was employed as a mechanic in a garage owned by Walsh. It is further alleged that Walsh and Dorney stole the machine in question and instructed Beguhl to alter the numbers, which he refused to do, resigning his job.

The state contends that the garage was headquarters for a gang of auto thieves, of which the three men were leaders.

Man Sentenced On Wife's Charges

George Hangaris, convicted on the testimony of his wife, Florence Hangaris, who charged that he forced her into a life of shame and took her earnings to purchase a ranch, was sentenced to San Quentin for one to ten years by Superior Judge L. S. Church yesterday.

A motion for probation made on his behalf was denied as was a motion for a writ of habeas corpus.

SAN LEANDRO TO SHUT SOFT DRINK SHOPS AT TWELVE

Ordinance Planned to Enforce Closing at Midnight; Council Meets.

SAN LEANDRO, Sept. 6.—San Leandro's soft drink parlors must close promptly at midnight, it is an ordinance proposed by Trustee Edwin Duck is adopted.

When the issue was brought up before the meeting last night it caused some excitement and it was decided to talk the matter over in a committee of the whole. Meanwhile City Attorney J. Allison Bruer will be asked to draw up a proposed ordinance.

"The so-called soft drink parlors close the front doors at 10 o'clock but the back rooms are open until all hours," declared Trustee Duck. "If the soft drink parlors cannot do enough business up to 12 o'clock then they ought to quit," said Mayor Pelton.

The citizens who called the Oakland fire department for assistance recently in putting out a fire on Cambridge avenue was publicly rebuffed by the city.

Additional fire protection for about fifty houses now on Warwick avenue and in that vicinity will be sought from the East Bay Water Company by decision of the trustees.

The proposed closing and abandoning of portions of the northwestern and southwestern corners of East Fourteenth street and Tenth avenue was deferred to see if property owners would pay for engineers' fees and printing.

The new tax rate will be set tomorrow at a special meeting for final consideration of the budget, it was decided by a motion offered by Trustee Duck.

The report of the city treasurer for the month of August showed $12,295.56 on hand.

The Public Library will not receive a larger appropriation for the coming year. The trustees refused the request of the secretary of the library that 8 1/2 cents, instead of 5 cents out of the tax rate be allowed the library.

Mrs. M. Rogers was granted a permit for a one-story tile building in East Fourteenth street between Castellan and Estudillo avenues. The building will consist of three stores and cost $25,000.

The trustees decided to oil and rock three blocks on Victoria court and two blocks on Dowling boulevard.

WEDDED BUDDIES' Mayor Victor in PREFERRED AT LEGION MEET

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—The old sign "Officers Only," which is said to have caused more A. E. F. "buck" privates to lose their patience than the entire German army, will have a new peace counterpart at the annual convention of the American Legion to be held here October 16 to 20.

"Married Buddies Only" will be the new order, word having gone out that only veterans accompanied by their wives will be housed in the residential districts of New Orleans. The remainder of the 150,000 visitors expected are to be billeted in buildings, hotels, and other quarters. To comrades who were telling their wives that they could not take the trip to the convention because of "lack of accommodations," the committee has advised that married men accompanied by their wives will be given preference.

Man's Leg Broken By Runaway Horse

SAN LEANDRO, Sept. 6.—His right leg broken when he was thrown from the seat of his wagon and run over by the wheels during a runaway, Foster Ramon today is under treatment at his home on Lincoln avenue near San Leandro Junction.

Mayor A. E. Pelton and J. E. Faustina, who were passing in a machine, took the injured man home.

School Athletic Schedule Is Made

SAN LEANDRO, Sept. 6.—School athletics and games are rapidly assuming a schedule and receiving the enthusiastic attention of the pupils under the direction of F. A. Baker, newly appointed vice-principal of schools. The baseball teams are being organized with schedules planned for inter-class, inter-school and inter-city games with Hayward, Boys' and girls' basketball, indoor ball and handball teams are also in process of organizing.

SLIGHT HOPE HELD FOR OAKLAND MAN INJURED BY AUTO

W. J. Thompson Crushed As Two Cars Crack Near Turlock.

MODESTO, Sept. 5.—Slight hope is today held for the recovery of W. J. Thompson, 125 Twelfth street, Oakland, who received a fractured skull and a compound fracture of the jaw when he was struck by a passing machine while repairing a tire of his own car on the state highway near Turlock last night.

Thompson was crushed between his own car and one driven by Bundy Pearson of Turlock, who claims Thompson did not have the lights of his own car burning and was blinded by the lights of an approaching machine and could not see Thompson until he was upon him. Bundy was accompanied by Bob Olson. They took Thompson to the Emanuel hospital at Turlock where he was operated on this morning.

The accident happened about one and a half miles south of Ceres, it is stated.

VISITOR HURT.

RICHMOND, Sept. 5.—Miss Della Ashland, principal of a grammar school at Visalia, who is the house guest of Mrs. W. A. Jones, 907 Macdonald avenue, was riding with friends near Hayward Monday, when the car was struck by another automobile. All were thrown out of the car and slightly injured. Miss Ashland sustaining a number of small cuts and bruises.

The End of a Perfect Day—

Clearlake Park, Lake County

No scene could be more enchanting than Clear Lake on a moonlight evening. Never in your most fanciful dreams have you pictured a spot so delightfully alluring.

Here the air remains balmy for hours after sundown, making swimming, boating and other outdoor pastimes supremely enjoyable. The water is cool, but not chilly—always a comfortable temperature for bathing.

An All-Year Playground

Clearlake Park is a wooded peninsula of 2800 acres, subdivided for homesites, with more than 12 miles of frontage on Clear Lake. It is situated in the most picturesque part of Lake County, just a few hours' ride from Northern California cities, and is accessible over splendid roads at all seasons of the year.

Many diversions, aside from water sports, will be found at Clearlake Park. You can hunt, fish, hike or play golf. An open air dancing pavilion is now under construction. Every facility is being provided for the comfort of those who purchase sites for tents, cottages or permanent homes.

Small Payment Secures Homesite

Any person of average means can afford a beautiful homesite in Clearlake Park. Desirable lots on hill or shore, all within easy reach of beaches and boat harbors, may be purchased on easy terms. Remember, there are no mosquitoes here—no mud and no malaria.

Married Teacher Seeks Reinstatement

Mrs. Lucy Hardy, who was dismissed as a school teacher from the Albany schools on the ground that she had violated a rule of the board by getting married, has applied to Superior Judge James G. Quinn for a writ of mandate compelling the Albany Board of Education to reinstate her. She alleges the rule made by the board against married teachers is unconstitutional and declares she was dismissed without a hearing and without cause as required by the state law.

Christening To Take Place On Sunday

The christening of little Charles Zook Sutton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zook Sutton of Hazel Lane, Sunday afternoon, will be an important event at The Highlands, when the various ramifications of the Long and Requa families will be assembled. The baby is the great grandson of Mrs. Isaac L. Requa and grandson of General and Mrs. Oscar Fitzalan Long. He is a brother of wee Amy Long who made her advent into this world but a few seasons ago. Rev. William R. Jenvey will read the Episcopal ritual.

In honor of Miss Marjorie Spring, whose marriage to Harold Behue-

MISS ELEANOR GIMBAL, who, with Miss Beth Cereghino, will entertain September 16 at the E. B. Gimbal home for Miss Frances Black.

mann will take place Saturday, an informal afternoon will be given Thursday by Mrs. Salem Pohlman (Sally Long) at her home.

Thursday evening, August 31, at 8 o'clock in the Memorial chapel at Stanford University, Miss Gladys Lucille Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Walker of Oakland, became the bride of John Lathlean Knight of Bakersfield. Dr. Gardiner of Stanford University officiated with only relatives and close friends present.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a brief sojourn at Carmel-by-the-Sea after which they will return to Bakersfield where they will make their future home.

The bride was graduated from Stanford University, and is a member of the Sigma Kappa sorority. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Nevada, and a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Knight are members of the faculty of the Kern County Union high school and Junior College at Bakersfield.

LEAVE SUNDAY FOR THE EAST.

Miss Gladys Walker and her young daughter, Miss Marjorie Walker, will leave Sunday for the east, where Miss Walker will enter Vassar College for women. Mrs. Walker will travel about the Atlantic coast for a month before returning to Piedmont.

The wedding of Miss Noel Margaret Ransford of Piedmont and William Leslie of New York was solemnized yesterday morning in the Church of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs at Forest Hills, New York. Only the family and a few intimate friends were guests and later a wedding breakfast was served at the noted Forest Hills Inn.

The ceremony was read at a nuptial mass. Miss Ransford wore a chic traveling suit and was attended by two intimate friends. The honeymoon will be passed in the Southern States after which the newlyweds will come to the western coast to make their home.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. W. A. Ransford of Piedmont.

IS BRIDE OF NAVY MAN.
At 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon Miss Dorris Manchester Poole was united in marriage to Lloyd E. Richards of Long Beach, but formerly of Oakland. The wedding ceremony was read by the Reverend Henry Shires of Christ Episcopal Church of Alameda. In the presence of about thirty of the relatives and friends of the young couple, Miss Ruth Poole was her sister's only attendant, and John Siem of Hayward, best man. Miss Poole is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dickerson of Alameda. Richards is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards of Oakland, and is now stationed on board the U. S. S. California. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The young couple will take a tour of the south for their honeymoon trip and later will reside at Long Beach.

The latter part of this year Miss Ruth Poole will become the bride of John Siem, a Hayward business man.

The wedding of Miss Veronica Leonard and William J. Bacus Jr. was quietly solemnized last Tuesday morning at St. Andrew's Church. Rev. Eugene Warren officiating.

The bride, who is an attractive brunette, wore a white satin gown with pearl trimmings and white picture hat. Miss Adèle Leonard was the only attendant upon her sister, and she was gowned in canary yellow. Roy Stultz attended the bridegroom. Only immediate relatives of the young couple were present. After the wedding breakfast the young couple left on a motor trip to the southern part of the state. Upon their return they will occupy a bungalow in the Lakeside district.

The bride is the daughter of a pioneer family of Oakland. Bacus is in business with his father, Commissioner William J. Bacus.

Women Will Defend All American Ideals

BY EDNA B. KINARD

To defeat by every means within their power unpatriotic action, intolerance or propaganda in whatever form wherever it may be found has become the initial and outstanding task of the members of the Berkeley Chapter, Penwomen of America. They pledged themselves by resolution adopted at the first meeting this year "to defend the letter and spirit of our national institutions and ideals."

The organization which is numbered with the newest groups to be recognized on the East side of the bay, includes in its personnel many of the well known writers hereabouts. The Cora L. Williams Institute in Berkeley is the headquarters.

Action was taken by the local women in answer to a patriotic call issued from the national headquarters in Washington calling upon its members to enlist in a nation wide campaign against disloyalty to the country of whatever nature in the spoken or printed word.

The announcement from the Berkeley chapter says, "Information has been received by the officers of the organization from the government that those who attempt to destroy American institutions and principles direct their efforts primarily to the women of the country and students in the colleges. This feature is being given particular attention by the special committee appointed by the national president, Mrs. Lois N. Geldert, and the national executive board which is taking under close scrutiny, also, the textbooks in the schools and colleges—many of which it is stated through delegations, fail to instruct properly in American history, American traditions and ideals."

Radicalism in schools and colleges is also being protested by the present chapter organizations. When the semi-annual meeting of Los Angeles Federation meets tomorrow according to word which comes from the south, serious attention will be given to the following resolution:

"Realizing the danger to our American system of education and the government of the United States itself, from disturbing influences working upon the minds of those ignorant or forgetful of our traditions and early history; and understanding that with the revision of the course of study for Los Angeles Schools, there has also been a change of emphasis upon certain subjects, we urge

"That more emphasis be put upon the ideals and traditions of America and the framers of the constitution;

"That all teachers be instructed not to teach their personal political convictions any more than their personal religious beliefs.

"Building a Business" will be reviewed by Mrs. Freda Ehmman, president of the Ehmman Olive company, at the regular luncheon of the Ladies of the President Woman's club in the Broadway clubrooms tomorrow.

The Adelphi club will open the new season formally tomorrow, the union program of assembling the Alameda clubwomen after a three months' vacation from organized activities. Miss Jane Seymour Klink has been invited to be the speaker at the inaugural reception, with Mary Anderson Johnson, soprano; and Hugh Williams, tenor, contributing the musical numbers.

With a comprehensive program of child welfare framed for the coming year, Mrs. W. E. Marston of Berkeley, president of Second District, California Congress of Mothers, is making ready to present the details of the completed plans before the leaders who will be responsible for carrying it to success.

Oakland leaders will be afforded that opportunity tomorrow afternoon in the Young Women's Christian association building at a conference over which Mrs. Marston will preside.

Professional Dancers
Wear Them

Dancers must safeguard the health and comfort of their feet most carefully. Many professional dancers have adopted Cantilevers for their off-stage footwear, because they realize the benefit and enjoy the freedom of these flexible-shank shoes.

THE ARCH
The Cantilever Shoe is patterned with extraordinary care to fit the arch of the foot. It supports the arch. But it does not contain a steel shank-piece as ordinary shoes do. The Cantilever Shoe bends as easily as the foot. It encourages the muscles to exercise, keeps them supple and strong.

Dancers, teachers, saleswomen, housewives, all women who must be much on their feet, should try these graceful, comfortable shoes.

If you have been suffering from fatigue, backache, headaches, nervousness, burning or aching feet, change for a month to Cantilever Shoes. They will give you better health and a new enjoyment of comfort.

Maybe that hill is not there, after all—

VERY often the hill we seem to be climbing is made out of the common mistakes of diet which starve tissues and nerves and slow down energies.

How smooth and level the path seemed to be when we were younger.

Simple, natural food may level that hill to a smooth path again.

Why not try it?

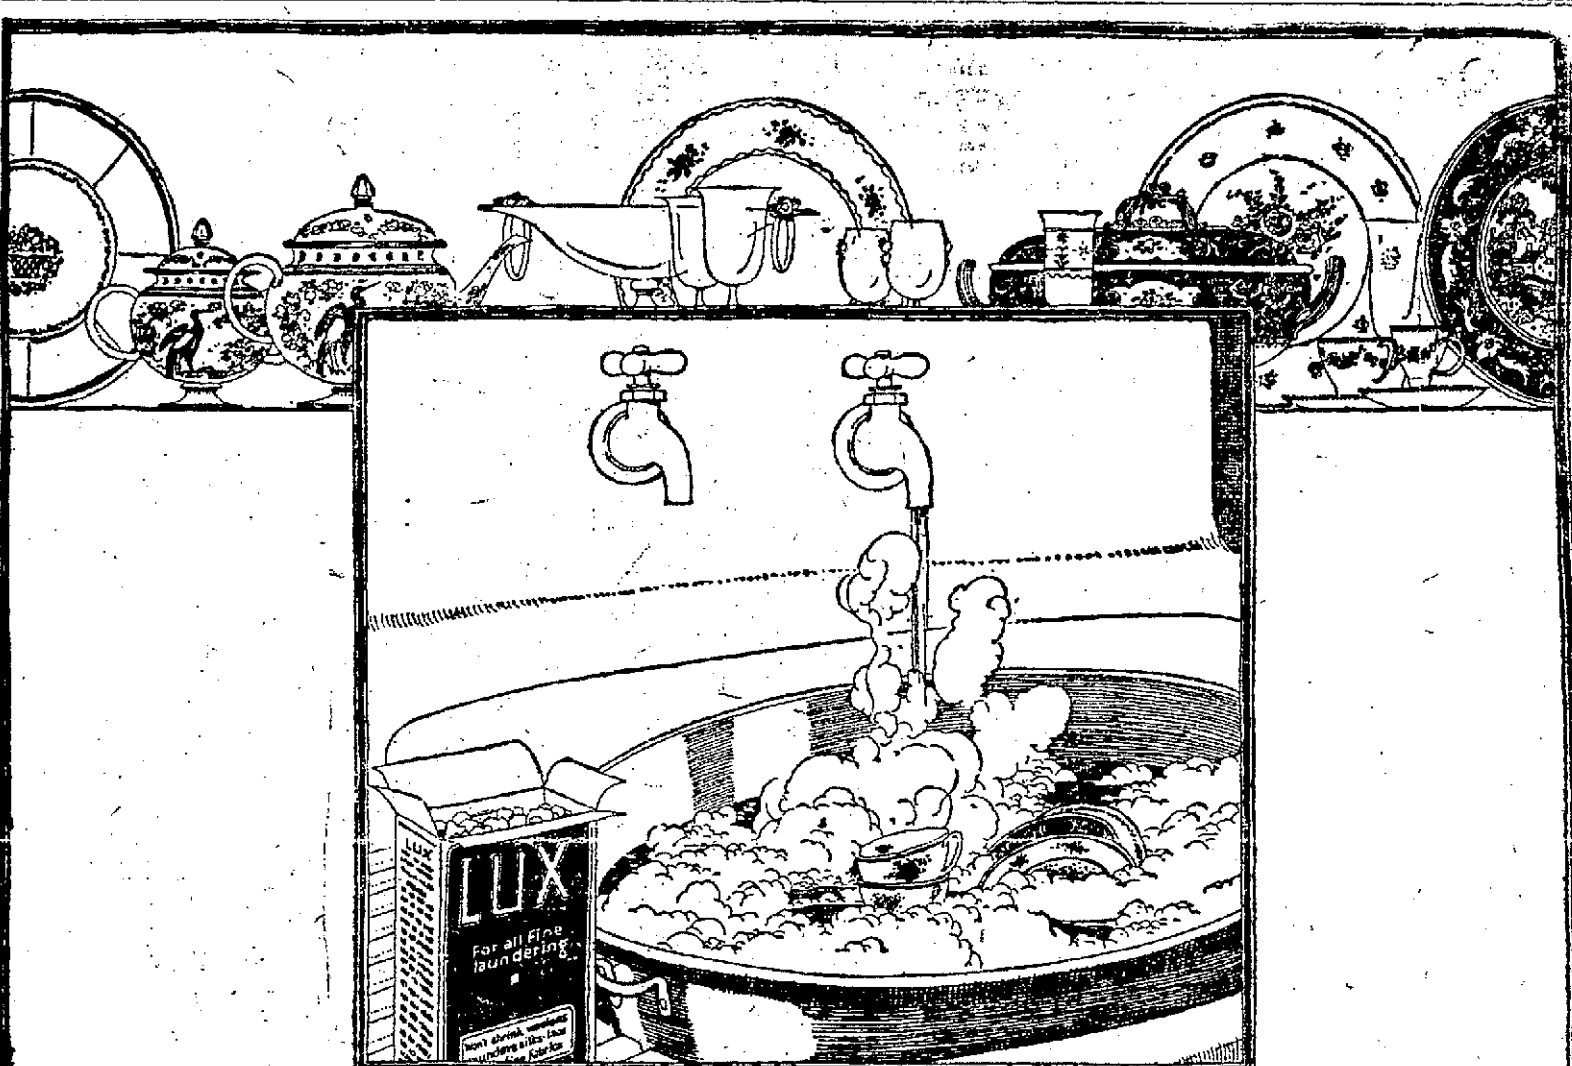

Begin today with a dish of Grape-Nuts with cream or milk—and fresh or preserved fruit added if you like.

Keep on with this crisp, delicious, strengthening food in place of heavy, ill-assorted, starchy breakfasts and lunches—and see if the old-time zest and speed on the old-time level path doesn't come back again.

LUX FOR DISHWASHING

At last—relief from the three-times-a-day coarsening of the hands

THROW one tablespoonful of Lux into your dishpan—turn on the hot water. The flakes foam up into the richest, thickest lather you have ever had for dishwashing.

Three times a day you can wash dishes in this lather and still your hands will not be rough or red. Lux contains no free alkali or any other ingredient that could hurt the most sensitive skin—it is as easy on your hands as a fine toilet soap.

Begin today to wash your dishes the Lux way—don't permit your hands to have the old three-times-a-day-in-the-dishpan look. One package of Lux will last for 44 dishwashings—more than two weeks. Start using it now. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Just a tablespoon to a pan. A single package does 44 dishwashings—all the dishes for more than two weeks.

WON'T REDDEN HANDS

Lux leaves your glassware sparkling without a trace of soapy film—your silver lustrous, your china spotlessly clean.

A WORTHY APPOINTMENT

Announcement by President Harding that George Sutherland, former Senator from Utah, will be appointed to the Supreme bench to succeed Associate Justice John H. Clarke will meet with general approval.

In the House, where he served one term and in the Senate, to which he was elected twice, Judge Sutherland won instant recognition for his knowledge of constitutional law. It was the established practice, among his colleagues, to look to him when there were intricate legal problems to be solved and his reputation as a student and clear thinker was conceded by all parties and factions.

Sutherland's parents settled in Utah in 1864 and it was in that state the boy received his grammar school education. Later he was graduated in law from the University of Michigan and in the same year, 1883, admitted to the bar. In Utah he was a member of the state senate, delegate to the Republican National Conventions in 1900, 1904, 1908 and 1912. A member of congress in the Fifty-seventh session he declined renomination for the Fifty-eighth. It was in 1905 he was elected to the Senate where he served until 1917.

Sutherland's record in his home state and in Washington is one of intelligent service.
Among his fellows he was regarded as a man of exceptional attainment in the field of constitutional law and, by all who knew him, his appointment to the Supreme Court will be regarded as a fitting recognition of abilities and temperament he has many times proved.

OUT OF THE NORTH

The maps of the far north must be redrawn.
Where land has been charted the ship of Donald B. MacMillan sailed without hindrance and in spaces designated as open sea the explorer chipped rocks on dry land.

The cruise of the Bowdoin, when its story is told in full, will take place beside those other heavily-tilled ships which have braved the ice and the cold for the sake of science and adventure. By courier to Newfoundland the first word has come telling enough to hint at surprising discoveries, patient and lonely vigils, and rare tales yet to come.

The Bowdoin has reached Labrador after more than a year in the wilderness of the Arctic. The party, the messages indicate, has made important geographical discoveries and has thrown new light on the flora, geology and atmospheric conditions of the Arctic. For 274 days the ship was held in the ice, more than 2000 miles the explorers traveled over territory upon which white men had never set foot.

Three islands hitherto unknown were found by MacMillan and the "last remnants of the walrus herds to be found in the north today" were encountered in enormous herds.
"At one point," says MacMillan, "we sailed over an area indicated as land on all of the latest and most authoritative maps and, instead, we found a vast expanse of water."

A result of the trip will be a new map of Baffin Land and nearby lands and waters.
When MacMillan returns he will be greeted by the scientists of the country who predict from the brief word with which he has broken an icebound silence this expedition will bring home a full cargo of valuable information.

AMERICA AND PHILIPPINES

A short time ago Manuel Quezon and a mission from the Philippines stopped in Oakland on the way to Washington where they were determined to ask the immediate independence of their islands. Quezon and Mr. Osmena, an other member of the party, spoke to a local audience, voiced their hopes and expressed the belief their errand would meet with success.
Those who heard them were impressed with their sincerity and their abilities as orators.

The mission did not meet with the success predicted and returned to the islands where certain enthusiastic supporters talked of re-praisal. It is interesting to note the position of Quezon and Osmena, disappointed Filipino statesmen. Before the Rotary Club in Manila the former said, but the other day:
"It is silly to talk about seeking other markets for island goods at this time, when the United States is the only country in the world offering us real money for our products, and when bolshevism is spreading in Europe beyond the bounds of Russia."

Quezon is wise enough to know that the United States is affording the Filipinos protection at a time when the world is in disorder.
He is shrewd enough to value the market and the money which come with friendly relations.

Osmena, the man who delivered the main speech in Oakland and whose oratory, despite the fact that it had to be interpreted, brought enthusiastic response from his hearers, said:
"Filipinos mean to cultivate and keep the friendship of Americans. Good will between the two peoples is mutually necessary and beneficial."

With leadership of this kind the Filipinos may expect, when the proper time comes, to see their hopes come true.

FOR PUBLIC SAFETY

Considering the increased use of highways and the heavier railroad traffic and it is a remarkable fact that the year 1921 saw the railways make the best record for safety of operation they have made in the thirty-four years in which statistics have been compiled. If educational methods, the application of safety first principles and a constant emphasis of the need for care may do this for the railroad companies there is hope for similar results in the ranks of those who drive automobiles.

Figures of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the last fifteen years show an increase in safety of railroad operation which has not been surpassed, and probably not equaled, in any other large industry in the country. In 1907 the total number of persons killed by railroads, employees and non-employees, was 11,893. Since then there has been a steady and gradual decline until 1921 when the total, despite the increased number of automobiles and the new hazard of grade crossings, was 66 per cent less. It should be remembered that the number of railroad employees has increased since 1899 by 140 per cent, passenger traffic by 225 per cent and the freight handled by 225 per cent.

So much for the pleasant side of the story.
Records show that the 1921 story will not be repeated in 1922. There are now 10,500,000 registered motor vehicles in the United States against 1,000,000 in 1912. One in every ten persons in the country is the driver of a car.
The curve of accidents this year is moving up and until the motoring public learns the lesson of carelessness it will continue to ascend.
It is for this reason the American Railway Association is conducting a "Careful Crossing Campaign" with the slogan "Cross Crossings Cautiously." The need for this campaign is written in the books of the coroners the country over; it is told in the headlines of the papers on Mondays. The United States Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the National Highway Traffic Association, National Safety Council and other organizations are co-operating in the effort which, if given attention, cannot fail to save many lives. The campaign opened in June and will close with the last day in this month. It is one which should be continued indefinitely by every person who uses the streets and highways.

Inhibition of the study of German in the schools may have been a somewhat hysterical movement due to wartime obsessions, but it might well be removed now. The war is over and the world is working back to normalcy.
Still if restored it need not be obtrusive, for the German language is not to be predominant in this country. There were evidences that it was being pushed unduly in the educational curriculum when the matter came into unfavorable attention. The good American way would be to have conditions so that those who desire to study German can have an equal chance with those who study other foreign languages. What would seem to be fairly wise would be to consider especially the study of Spanish, to enable a closer acquaintance with South American peoples, where the commercial activities of this country are destined to lie in greater degree than heretofore.

In Mexico there is a different kind of bootlegging. It is smuggling arms into the country for the use of revolutionists. These Mexicans always seems to have with her, with means to pay for unlawful guns, just as this country has those fighters with money to pay for illicit booty. When an invoice of arms can be put in the hands of revolutionists large returns are enjoyed by the crafty operatives who do it;
but that style of bootlegging is much more difficult than the kind where the goods may be concealed variously about the person. There is bootlegging and bootlegging.

The way in which William G. McAdoo is keeping in the limelight is about the way a man might adopt who had the intent to appeal to the electorate for public office at a future time, whether it is his purpose to become a candidate for the presidency or not. Not long ago there was an account of his purpose to ride a bucking broncho at a Southern California rodeo, and now appears a story of an unusual fishing venture that he is to participate in somewhere in Wyoming. These in the abstract may not seem to be particular presidential urges, but they serve to keep his name before the people. Nothing is so necessary in seeking a high office as to maintain a conspicuous place in the public mind.

Heat and Fairs.

(Murphy Notes in Calaveras Pros-

Sultry weather. After a few nice cool days this intense heat is not a bit acceptable. Some fires in the surrounding hills help to make the atmosphere very close and hot, but who ever heard of Fair week being anything but hot-heat seems to go with fairs and circuses. I wonder why they could not be held a little later just as successfully.

There will be no "queen of queens" in Paris. A stand committee of directors of the fetes has decided that, inasmuch as the queens were always chosen from the working girls and the experience always made them disdain work, it would be best to do away with the crown and scepter. No sooner is a girl chosen to reign at a carnival, a committeeman said, than she wishes to become a mo-wish to work any more. It is too bad. It is our idea it is too bad that the annual opportunity for a working girl to be a queen and dream of the gold plate and silver screen is to be taken away. What is needed, of course, is more queens.

NOTES and COMMENT

California has a champion in the Medford (Oregon) Mail-Tribune:
"Portland papers quite frequently take editorial shots at California for her 'superb self-satisfaction,' her 'irrepressible desire for the limelight' and her 'climatic basis.'
California transformed a sagebrush waste into an agricultural empire, without the aid of a joyride by businessmen and politicians; builded more than one city within her boundaries, and never left the development of her natural resources, exclusively and forever, in the hands of the Lord. Also California does not become insanely inflamed with every nifty notion that comes along. And the metropolitan centers of California back their orations with their spontaneities. If the Willamette valley was in the Golden State, people would travel from the farthest corners of the globe to be reined on every autumn."

New York Herald: "A Massachusetts investigator has decided that by making a cheap kimono last five years and being correspondingly careful of other articles of clothing a working girl should be able to support herself on $9 a week." It does not seem credible, and even if it is true what girl, working or not working, wants to make a cheap kimono last five years, and what sensible person wants to see an girl forced to live under the conditions this triumph of economy suggests?"

Kansas City Times: "Once the Alton was a good railroad property.
It began going down hill before E.
H. Harriman got control. He rehabilitated it, but at the same time engaged in reckless financing—the sort of financing that at one time went under the name of melon cutting and was regarded as smart.
With seven hundred miles of owned road, the Alton had securities of 127 million dollars outstanding—at the rate of $130,000 a mile. The collapse was inevitable."

The Medford Mail-Tribune announces that the Japanese question: "The Japanese immigration restriction bill will soon be up before the august senators, and, when passed ought to put a stop to the present depopulation of Europe of anarchists and hungry hell-raiders. The Japs ought to cock themselves up on a soap box and be immune from legislative pestering."

Salt Lake Tribune: "All Spain was recently plunged into mourning because of the death of Granero, a celebrated bullfighter, whose tragic end occurred in the arena at Madrid. At his magnificent funeral every phase of Spanish life was represented—statesmen and society, the army and navy, the law, literature and science. Thousands were mourning. In spite of the bull-fighter's alertness in sidestepping, the bull was an easy victim. Granero was thrown to the ground and speedily gored and tossed to death."

The Editor of THE TRIBUNE declines responsibility for opinions and statements expressed in this column. Brief contributions on current topics of general interest are welcome. They will not, as a rule, be printed unless accompanied by the name of the writer, which, if desired, will be withdrawn from publication.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

All chapeaux off to THE TRIB-
UNE Building Company!

As the clearing of the lot, upon which is to be erected the new TRIBUNE building, progresses the people of our home town will begin to realize what this enterprise
means to Oakland.

From the site of an insignificant,
ancient, two-story building the 19-
story TRIBUNE building, Phoenix-like, is to rise, an ornament to our city beautiful, a monument to the city pride of our leading newspaper publishers.

Talk about your skyscrapers!
Why, that's to be a regular "sky-buster." I'll say: No further need of the services of Old "Pop" Atlas,
to hold up the sky! The new TRIB-UNE building will do the trick, and
no mistake!

With the erection of this magnificent building accomplished, together with that of the bank building now under construction in the same city block, the "hub" of Oakland will have become permanently fixed for all time to come. Clustered about our magnificent City Hall,
these, stately edifices will serve the purpose of "centering the circle" at a point where Broadway, Fourteenth, San Pablo and Telegraph
avenues converge. This, geographically, is the logical center of the magnificent City of Oakland.

After the lapse of countless centuries to come; when the bones of
the present generation shall have become dust and mingled with that
of Mother Earth, THE TRIBUNE
Building will still stand, its steel ribs and frieze cornice a tribute to the civic enterprise of our leading newspaper publishers.

As stands THE TRIBUNE in the literary and newspaper firmament,
so will stand THE TRIBUNE Building in this age of progress and development—foremost.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

OUT OF THE CROWD.

This much I know, from out the moving throng

There are a few whose smiles outline the rest.

A few who start Joy's tremor in the breast.

The thousands come and press their way along.

Brave souls and good, aglow with mirth and song.

But though in silk and broadcloth they are dressed,

The greeting of a time-tried friend is best.

And he stands out who loves us, right or wrong

The busy people pass us day by day.

Fashioned by God as swallows and the bees;

Scarce noticed are the strangers on the way.

Then comes a face the eye en-raptured sees—

Here is a friend! The great, the rich, the proud,

Are merely men and women in the crowd.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

All chapeaux off to THE TRIB-
UNE Building Company!

As the clearing of the lot, upon which is to be erected the new TRIBUNE building, progresses the people of our home town will begin to realize what this enterprise
means to Oakland.

From the site of an insignificant,
ancient, two-story building the 19-
story TRIBUNE building, Phoenix-
like, is to rise, an ornament to our city beautiful, a monument to the city pride of our leading newspaper publishers.

Talk about your skyscrapers!
Why, that's to be a regular "sky-buster." I'll say: No further need
of the services of Old "Pop" Atlas,
to hold up the sky! The new TRIB-UNE building will do the trick, and
no mistake!

With the erection of this magnificent building accomplished, together with that of the bank building now under construction in the same city block, the "hub" of Oakland will have become permanently
fixed for all time to come. Cluster-
ed about our magnificent City Hall,
these, stately edifices will serve the purpose of "centering the circle" at a point where Broadway, Fourteenth, San Pablo and Telegraph
avenues converge. This, geographically, is the logical center of the magnificent City of Oakland.

After the lapse of countless centuries to come; when the bones of
the present generation shall have become dust and mingled with that
of Mother Earth, THE TRIBUNE
Building will still stand, its steel
ribs and frieze cornice a tribute to the civic enterprise of our leading newspaper publishers.

As stands THE TRIBUNE in the
literary and newspaper firmament,
so will stand THE TRIBUNE Building in this age of progress and development—foremost.

COUNTY TAX RATE SET BY SUPERVISORS

Basic Levy Is $1.56, But With Special Funds Added Will Be $2.66 Here, $3.08 Berkeley, $2.54 Alameda

With Supervisor R. C. Staats, of Berkeley, voting in the negative, the Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon fixed the county tax rate for the ensuing year at $1.56, that figure being the same as that of last year. The vote on the rate came late yesterday at the end of an entire day given over to the discussion of the needs of the county for the coming fiscal year. The above figure is the basic rate, to which is added such special taxes as may be needed in each city for school purposes and in unincorporated areas for school and other purposes.

OAKLAND RATE $2.66.

The fixing of the rate at this figure, will result in Oakland's county tax rate being fixed at $2.66, the sum of $1.10 being added for school purposes. This is the same rate as last year in Oakland. In Berkeley the figure will reach $3.08, and in Alameda $2.54.

Figures as prepared by County Auditor Garrison for other incorporated areas include the following: Albany, $2.46, last year $2.42; Emeryville, $1.94, last year $1.90; Piedmont, $2.38, last year $2.37; San Leandro, $2.78, last year $2.78; Hayward, $2.92, last year $2.88; Pleasanton $2.42, last year $2.03; Livermore, $2.07, last year $2.14.

Thus it will be seen that practically all of the cities in the county have increases in their rates this year. Oakland is apparently the only exception to this rule.

REVENUE IS INCREASED.

Approximately $70,000 more revenue will be received from taxes this year than last, it is estimated. This will be due to increases in assessed valuation, but the four-cent increase granted to the schools will take up this entire amount and a sum above this, it is predicted. There will be additional costs in the county government as well, it is estimated. This increase is set at $400,000 this year over last. An indication of this is the general fund, which is figured to total $3,100,000 for this year.

In fixing the tax rate, the supervisors worked on the theory of giving the school department all that was asked for, while the various county departments were pared to the lowest figure possible. To this Supervisor Staats took exception, claiming that the schools were being favored to the extent of sacrificing efficiency in the county government.

Police Aid Sought in Finding Two Men

ALAMEDA, Sept. 6.—The police have been requested to aid in finding Arthur Pine, grocery clerk with the firm of Sussman Wormser & Co., of San Francisco, who left his home, 608 Taylor avenue, two days ago. The request was made by his wife, Mrs. Mildred Pine, who fears that harm has befallen her husband. According to her report he had been on the verge of a nervous breakdown. Pine is described as light complexioned, having blue eyes, 33 years of age, 6 feet tall, 170 pounds in weight. The police have also been asked to keep a watch out for H. B. orbes, 80 years of age, who disappeared from his home, 1331 San Luis avenue, Berkeley, two days ago.

BERKELEY PARLOR TO MARCH ON 9TH

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—A jinks and banquet preparatory to the beginning Friday, Admission Day celebration in San Jose were held by Berkeley Parlor, Native Sons, last night in Native Sons hall. Members of Berkeley Parlor will turn out in large numbers for the three-day festival in San Jose, planned as one of the largest ever held by the order. Berkeley Natives will parade in uniforms and will march with members of Bear Flag Parlor, Native Daughters. Fancy costumes especially designed for the occasion will be worn by the Native Daughters, while special features are being planned by both parlers. President F. V. Kane presided at last night's banquet and among the speakers were Grand Trustee Waldo F. Postel, J. A. Flinn, J. P. Brennan, James G. Beatty, J. George Moore, President L. F. Davis of Richmond Parlor and others. The committee in charge consisted of R. J. Garrett, R. H. Mahoney, E. Bertheaud, Thomas Rowe and George Wagner.

Ground-breaking for School Realizes Dream of Pioneer

As a fruition of the vocational training efforts of an Oakland educator 40 years ago, ground was broken yesterday afternoon at Twenty-sixth and Myrtle streets for the new half-million-dollar vocational high school, which will take the place of the present old structure in West Oakland.

The ground-breaking ceremonies were impressive, in the presence of educators, city officials and the student body; but according to several speakers they were not so remarkable as the story of the school itself.

Forty years ago, according to the speech of President Harry Boyle of the board of education, a little "tinkering shop" was started in the old Lincoln school by Principal T. O. Crawford, who believed in manual education for children so inclined. Crawford, later county superintendent of schools, gathered a few tools and ran his little vocational class as a branch of Lincoln school.

IDEA RIDICULED.
 At that time Crawford was ridiculed, but the idea grew so that ten years ago the present vocational school was ordered equipped for the "hand-minded" class of student who wants to saw, tinker and make things. Professor Edwin Lee, head of the vocational education department of the University of California, was the principal speaker at the ground-breaking ceremonies. He stressed the importance of the workingman to the power to choose leaders of vision and to develop the qualities necessary to leadership within himself. Such men, Professor Lee declared, it is the purpose of the new vocational school to furnish to society at large.

PURPOSE OF SCHOOL.
 "From this school," he said, "must come the workingman; a man not alone able to hold his own in the skill and artistry of a particular occupation, but a man who shall have the wisdom to choose leaders of vision; a man who shall require of his leaders allegiance to truth, to law, to government; a man who has within himself the potentialities of leadership; a man who will have as a basis for living sobriety and honor; a man who will recognize the interdependence of employer and employee; a man who will see clearly that the home he owns and the money he has in the savings bank represent capital just as truly as the factory in which he works represents capital; a man who will measure the life he lives not by what he can get out of people, but by what he can give to people."

"The public school occupies the strategic position in this matter. It is above all suspicion of bias or prejudice; it exists for the teaching of truth, not the half-truth of the pharisaical employer, not the half-truth of the radical unionist, but the truth of the scientist, the educator. The potential worker as he grows in proficiency in his chosen occupation must also grow in understanding of the truths of the industrial and social relationship he will face as an adult. He must be bulwarked against false doctrine, against the sway of un-

BOY WEARY OF SCHOOL TAKES TO ROAD LIFE

SANTA CLARA, Sept. 6.—Robert Rogers, Jr., 12 years old, was picked up by Constable Thomas Maloney last evening in an orchard on the outskirts of Santa Clara with a sack of prunes over his back and a roll of blankets to keep away the cold. Unseen of face and hand, the youngster told the officer he left San Francisco two days ago to "see the valley" and he had made his way here by eating what fruit he was able to obtain when passing orchards, and that he had gotten tired of school in the metropolis.

The Santa Clara officer turned him over to the probation office of the county, who will return him to his parents.

S. F. GIRL, SHOT BY SUITOR AS LOVE WANES, MAY DIE

Cook Arrested Coming From Room Where Woman Lies Badly Wounded.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Miss
Eleanor Gordon, aged 25, of 1000
Hyde street, is in the emergency ward at the Children's Hospital with a bullet wound in her breast, and Thomas Economy, 777 Tehama street, cook, said to be the girl's rejected suitor, is under arrest at the Bush street station, charged with assault to commit murder.

A member of the local police department, passing Miss Gordon's apartment early today heard a revolver shot. He started up the steps to investigate and met Economy coming out. He placed Economy under arrest, and went up to Miss Gordon's apartment where he found the girl lying on a dangerously wounded.

He took her to the hospital in a taxi. Economy is said to have been "keeping company" with the young woman. He is also said to have given money to her at different times. Recently the young woman's affections are said to have shown signs of waning. The shooting today is declared to have been the result of a visit paid by Economy to her apartment in order to have a "show down" and settle the matter once and for all.

The wounded girl's condition is said to be critical.

LESSON NO. 152.

Functions of the Three-Electrode.
(Copyright by Edward M. Davis.)
(All Rights Reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproductions Prohibited.)
In radio-receiving circuits there are four distinct functions which the three-electrode vacuum tube is capable of performing namely, rectification, direct amplification, regenerative amplification and oscillation. Through the first of these functions, rectification it converts the received radio oscillation into a unidirectional pulsation which produces audible signals in the telephone receivers. In this respect it resembles the crystal detector, but in addition to its rectifying properties it simultaneously performs the function of direct amplification, due to the fact that the small amount of energy received in the grid circuit is used to control the larger amount of local energy provided by the battery in the plate circuit of the tube. In other words the alternating voltage of the received oscillation when impressed between the grid and filament causes the plate current to follow the variation of the voltage impressed upon the grid.

This relation is brought out in the simple receiving circuit of Figure 1 which shows the physical relations existing between the plate and grid circuits. When no signal is being received and the circuit is in proper adjustment, a steady current flows from the positive terminal of the plate battery, through the telephone receivers, from plate to filament instead of the other way to the negative terminal of the plate battery.

The varying voltage of the received oscillation impressed upon the grid causes corresponding variation in the plate current with resultant rectification and direct amplification.

It has been previously explained that the property of amplification possessed by the tube may be utilized previous to rectification of the received oscillation, that is, radio-frequency amplification or it may be used after rectification to magnify the oscillation of audible frequency. This method being known as "radio-frequency amplification."
The function of the grid in the regenerative amplification of the re-
2 by connecting a "tickler coil" in the plate circuit and placing the coil in inductive relation to the secondary coil so that the radio-frequency current of the plate circuit will flow through the tickler coil and induce a radio-frequency voltage in the secondary coil. The voltage induced in the secondary coil reinforces the radio oscillations in the grid circuit. The tube further amplifies this oscillation and the resultant radio-frequency current in the plate circuit flows through the tickler coil and by virtue of its coupling to the secondary coil further increases the oscillation in the grid circuit. Due to this regenerative action the amplitude of the signal is considerably increased.

The remaining function of the tube—oscillation—takes place when the coupling between the "tickler coil" and the secondary coil is increased up to a certain point. At this point the regenerative action of the circuit due to the resistance of the circuit due to the tickler coil is considered as a means of "balancing out" the resistance of the circuit. As the coupling between the "tickler coil" and secondary coil is gradually increased the resistance is gradually "balanced out" with resultant increase in the strength of the received radio oscillation. This regenerative effect increases up to a certain point where the tube automatically starts oscillating and a further increase of the coupling results in increased strength of the tube oscillation.

It may thus be seen that the three-electrode vacuum tube possesses the ability to perform four distinct functions, simultaneously, namely rectification, direct amplification, regenerative amplification and oscillation. The utilization of these functions is able to produce a considerable increase in the amplitude of radio signals.

NEW RADIO SET WITHOUT GROUND WIRE PERFECTED

Local Man Invents Simple Device Which Receives Long Distances.

A radio receiving set which requires no ground wire and which may be carried in an automobile with only a loop or other simple antenna, capable of long distance receiving, has just been perfected by R. D. Lowell, 1420 Linden street. The set, in fact, is one which Lowell has been making for experimental purposes for some time, but its ability to receive without ground wires was not discovered until recently, and then quite by accident.

The discovery was made after the tuning apparatus had been changed slightly as an experiment.
Lowell discovered, after tuning in several long distance stations, that the ground wire had been disconnected. Noting that the tuning of the set, with no ground wire, was finer and more selective, he tried out other sets that he had made and found that with but slight change they too were capable of long distance receiving without the aid of a ground wire.

In a demonstration yesterday inside a building, with no ground wire and with but a short aerial, (KFBK) at Sacramento was tuned in while (KDUO) was broadcasting.
With the slightest turn of a single dial either station could be tuned in and out.

The new set has no radio frequency. It is a simple detector and two-step, with a hook-up far more simple than the Armstrong super-regenerative hook-up.

EASTBAY RADIO CLUB TO GATHER

Preparations are being made for a dinner and round-table gathering for the Bay Counties Radio club Friday evening. A general admission of topics of interest to the radio world will take place.

The last meeting, falling on the first Friday in the month, was a social affair. Fred A. Anderson, president of the club, welcomed new members and set aside the first meeting of each month for a similar affair. Readings by Mrs. W. A.
Carroll followed.

At the last meeting of the club several of the San Francisco radio broadcasting stations were scored for the class of entertainment put on the air. Better entertainment was urged. The stations were also criticized for their modulation and manner in which they were conducted.

BETTER THAN THE WATER from the OLD OAKEN BUCKET

THE old oaken bucket, the iron-bound bucket, the moss-covered bucket, is famous.

BUT, the water it pulled from the well was perhaps less pure than the water you daily draw from the faucet in your own home.

In the days of the old oaken bucket, few precautions were taken to assure the purity of the drinking water. Wells were often situated where seepage from unsanitary places found its way into them.

Modern methods of aeration, filtration and sterilization were not practiced in those days.
Our forefathers took their water on faith—often to their regret.

The water served the East Bay cities may not be delivered in such a picturesque manner as was obtained at the back-breaking, windlass wells, but it is PURE.

The East Bay Water Company not only takes every precaution in impounding and distributing water, but proves its product is wholesome by providing government, state and city authorities with frequent reports of chemists who analyze it daily.

Pure water is this community's greatest asset.

Everything Remembered

—everything right, when the qualified electrical contractor does the work—

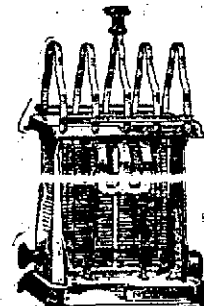

HOTPOINT-HEDLITE GLOW HEATER

—Clean and concentrated heat, when and where you want it, is ideally supplied by the Hotpoint-Hedlite automatic heater. It is especially adapted for warming small rooms, bathrooms, etc., and for drying hair after a shampoo. Should the heater be accidentally upset, the automatic gravity switch breaks the current and closes the circuit again when the heater is righted.

HOTPOINT GRECIAN URN PERCOLATOR SET

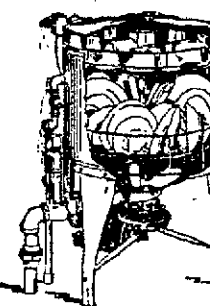

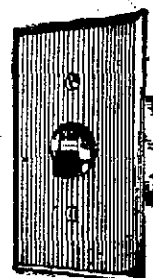

—Very desirable for use in large families, on social occasions or for gift purposes. It is constructed throughout of copper and finished in polished nickel plate. Tray, Sugar Bowl and Creamer are of copper, heavily nickel-plated and polished. Sugar Bowl and Creamer are silver lined.

HOT POINT ELECTRIC TOASTER

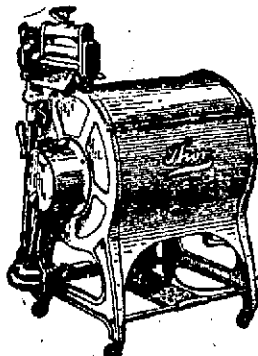

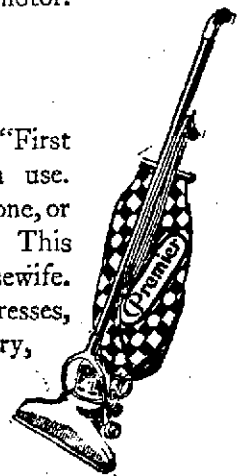

—Toasts two slices at one time, quickly, evenly. Coffee, tea or cereal may be kept hot on top of toaster at the same time bread is toasting. When desired toast rack may be fitted to the top of toaster, providing a handy receptacle for passing toast. Rack has ebonized handle which always remains cool. The Hot Point Toaster is guaranteed for one year by the Edison Electric Appliance Company.

G-E TUMBLER SWITCHES—The G-E tumbler switch is the latest device for controlling circuits, and stands up better than any other device made for a similar purpose. It is self-indicating—up and it's on, down and it's off. It can be operated with the arm or elbow should the hands be full and is supplied in both flush and surface types.

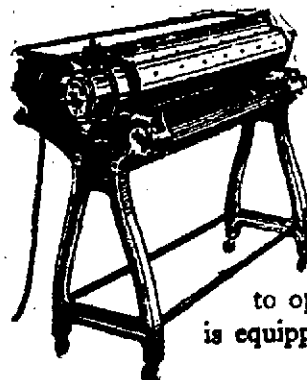

WALKER DISHWASHER—The one thoroughly practical dishwasher. On the market seven years and steadily growing in popularity. Thousands now in use. Can be directly connected with water supply and drain pipes. Practically eliminates the housewife's most disagreeable task and saves fully an hour a day in time. As easy to clean as your dishpan and you may safely entrust the Walker with your fine glassware and fragile china. It is equipped with G-E motor.

PREMIER VACUUM CLEANER—"First among cleaners." Half a million now in use. Cleans in two ways, by powerful suction alone, or by suction plus a rubber-fingered brush. This feature is of great advantage to the housewife. Attachments include tools for cleaning mattresses, clothing, walls, moldings, pillows, upholstery, furniture, pianos, etc. Has air cooled G-E motor.

THOR ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINE

—The Thor washes everything from fine laces to grimy overalls without any rubbing. It does the week's laundry in half the time required for hand washing and eliminates all the hard work of hand rubbing and rinsing. The Thor is scientifically constructed, solidly made and is equipped with G-E motor. On the market 14 years. Over 750,000 now in use.

THOR ELECTRIC IRONER

—Does the average family ironing in about one-fifth the time it takes to do it by hand—and does it better. It handles everything from household linen to lingerie and costs about 5 cents an hour to operate. Has an automatic control and is equipped with G-E motor.

THE NEW HOT POINT WAFFLE IRON

—The means to delicious waffles, prepared electrically, without smoke or bother—right at the table. Equipped with double aluminum plates baking entire waffle at one time without "flipping." Heating units are enclosed sheath wire type. Convenient handles, hinges, etc., insure ease of operation and cleaning.

The qualified electrical contractor leaves no loose ends—no missing outlets, no faulty workmanship. His bid is seldom more than one-half of one per cent ($50.00 on a $10,000.00 house) over that of the irresponsible, casual contractor. And if you employ sub-standard service you are quite likely to pay more than five times that difference in replacing the inferior workmanship and sub-standard materials which made the lower bid possible.

For the protection of the electrical consumer, the Pacific States Electric Company, the largest distributor of electrical merchandise on the Pacific Coast, has marked its products with the "check" seal of quality. Some of these standard electrical materials and appliances are shown on this page; others will appear in later advertisements of this series. They are distributed through electrical contractors and dealers of demonstrated competence and responsibility.

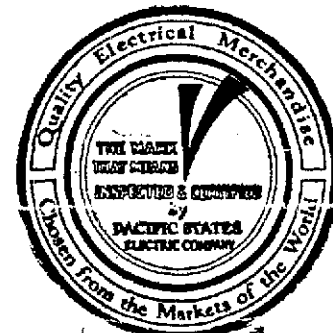

Hence, the blue and orange "check" seal is a helpful guide both to quality in electrical materials and appliances and reliability in contracting service.

The electrical appliances shown on this page, together with other standard electrical products, certified by the "check" seal, are described in our new booklet, "The Electrical How for Householders". You will enjoy this booklet, with its many practical suggestions for the convenient and economical utilization of electricity in your home. It may be obtained free from any electrical contractor or dealer displaying this seal.

DES MOINES Ia., Sept. 6—The fifty-sixth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held here during the week beginning September 24.

greatly diminished by death, will gather with their comrades for the fifty-sixth time since ending their services in the Union armies.

Less than 93,000 of the "boys in blue" are alive today. Their numbers running into hundreds of thousands shortly after the close of the Civil War, have been thinned with increasing rapidity by the advance of time.

The encampment will open Sunday, September 24, with special services in the Des Moines churches, where veterans will be speakers. Monday will be registration day and the time for the exchange of greetings.

SELF-LOVE CHIEF DIVORCE CAUSE, JURIST DECLARES

Haste, Deception Also Bring Unhappiness, Says Judge T. W. Harris.

Selfishness, haste and deception are the three principal causes of the enormous number of divorces with which America is each year starting the rest of the world, according to Superior Judge T. W. Harris.

As presiding judge of the local superior court Judge Harris annually studies and disposes of more divorce problems than any other jurist in the West, with but few exceptions.

Judge Harris today gave it as his opinion that the American fashion of rushing into marriage in romantic ignorance or disregard of many important facts concerning one's proposed mate, his or her family connections, religion, nature and many other things may, after all, be making a mockery of marriage.

Selfishness, haste and deception are the three principal causes of the enormous number of divorces with which America is each year starting the rest of the world, according to Superior Judge T. W. Harris.

Selfishness magnifies the trivial disagreements—the cooking of the breakfast, the hanging of the towel, the search for the lost collar button.

"Greater than these is the love of woman to outshine her neighbor socially. All the chambers are not women, but the female of the species is more deadly than the male." The society woman leaves her home for a lurcher, returns for dinner, dresses and spends the evening out till midnight, or later.

SOCIETY COSTS MONEY. The society woman spends more money than her home than does the business woman. Social functions demand money. Time and money are spent to no account in the effort to outdo one's neighbor in splashing.

The second factor, productive of discord is the haste with which marriages are contracted. The Catholic church prevents this by requiring that marriage bans be published from the pulp. In my opinion, there should be a statutory law making marriage more difficult. The engaged couple should be required to give notice some time before applying for a license. Before that license is granted they should be examined. This test should prove that both parties have a complete and definite knowledge of the laws bearing upon the marriage state, the legal rights of husband and wife, the community property law.

BEETLE ACQUAINTANCE. Furthermore, persons contemplating marriage—the most solemn of human affairs—should be thoroughly informed by a life partner. They should consider the kind of family they may expect to reproduce. In Japan, the parents of the prospective bride and groom investigate the thorough investigation of the family of each of the contracting parties.

"Wise heads of older nations consider that we make a mockery of marriage. It is not a mistaken notion of freedom that allows our young men and women to wreck their lives at the same time destroying the homes that should constitute our nation."

HASTE LEADS TO FOLLY. Undue haste leads to the folly of marrying outside of one's sphere, which, according to Judge Harris is another serious mistake.

"I may sound unlike democratic America to say that we have classes here. Sooner, we have. There is no denying it. People, the world over, are made of different kinds of clay. The traditions of families and sections of the same country may vary to an extent that will cause incompatibility in the marriage relation."

Deception is the third factor in divorce stress. Judge Harris says that the courts are filled with broken promises and misrepresentation. As in all other human relations, honesty is surely the best policy in the marriage business. The state should be clean to start with and kept free from deception.

EDUCATION BLAMED. "Our educational system has been in a measure to blame for SCRATCH BY BABY FATAL. MIDDLETOWN, N. Y.—Scratched on her lips by her baby, Mrs. Mary G. Davies developed septic poisoning and died two days later.

"Forsin Oleo"

So answered the grey-bearded patriarch when the emperor, Augustus, asked him the secret of his great strength and agility.

"Forsin oleo"—meaning "oil for the outside." Of course this young old man meant olive oil for that was the oil of those days just as it has been the oil ever since.

Pure olive oil is applied externally by massaging the skin and is also taken internally for anemic, under nourished and run-down systems. It also acts as a gentle laxative, lubricating, soothing and healing the much abused intestinal tract.

Use Sylmar Olive Oil for it is olive oil in its pure form.

Japan Economic League Is Formed. TOKYO Sept. 6—Preliminary to Japan's participation in the International Chamber of Commerce the Japan Economic League has been organized. Among the promoters are M. Inoue, president of the Bank of Japan, Kenzo Ikeda, president of the 100th Bank, Dr. Takuma Dan, of the Mitsui firm; Kaita Fujiyama, chairman of the Tokyo Chamber of Commerce, and other prominent business men. It was explained that the object of the league was to discuss and establish the economic and industrial policy of the country so that the foundations of commerce and industries might be placed on a sound basis.

Shoals on Which Domestic Bark Is Often Wrecked

HERE are some of the views held by Judge Harris on the divorce and marriage problems:

Selfishness, haste and deception, he says, are the chief obstacles to successful marriages.

The European method, and particularly that of the Japanese, in making a careful investigation into the lives and family connections of one's intended spouse, would prevent many of our American divorces.

In the eyes of older nations, our romantic but often ungrounded alliances are making a mockery of marriage.

Even in democratic America there are social spheres, and other spheres, which should be carefully considered by those about to marry.

Defects in the education of American women along practical domestic lines account for many of our serious matrimonial problems.

Inefficient household management breaks up more homes than jealous, failure to provide or desertion, all put together.

Schumacher Wall Board

"WE are living in our house and enjoying our home while the one next door is still unfinished with unsightly plaster messing up the grounds and leaving tracks throughout the house."

And even if the two houses had been finished the same day the one whose walls were made with SCHUMACHER WALL BOARD, the ready prepared wall, would have been ready for occupancy the moment the last nail was driven in the convenient sized board bearing the "SCHUMACHER" trade-mark.

While the walls of the old fashioned lath and plaster house would have to dry out (which takes weeks) and settle (which takes months) before wall covering could be applied without danger of cracking or peeling off. And in the meantime the house would be damp and ugly coughs and colds and aching bones might result.

But the patented process that pre-shrinks, kiln-dries and cures SCHUMACHER WALL BOARD removes every drop of moisture and prevents the slightest shrinking, warping, swelling or buckling. Any kind of wall covering can be applied immediately—the paper hangers or painters can do their work while the last finishing touches are being put on the house.

Unsightly battens are not required with SCHUMACHER WALL BOARD as the joints can be sealed perfectly giving a single piece wall of smooth, unbroken surface.

SCHUMACHER WALL BOARD comes in convenient sizes for interior or exterior use on practically every type of building from the modest cottage to the finest residence—from the simple store to the mammoth factory.

GARVIN GRANTED WRIT OF REVIEW

A writ of review in the case of Police Officer J. A. Garvin, who had been suspended by Chief of Police Drew for alleged violation of the Volstead Act, and who was dismissed by the Oakland Civil Service Board on charges of insubordination, was granted today by Judge James G. Quinn. Judge Quinn held that both Chief Drew and the board had exceeded their authority.

Garvin's case has been heard by United States Commissioner Albert M. Hardie, and he was exonerated by that official. Prior to his hearing by the Civil Service Board, Garvin was ordered to appear in Chief Drew's office, and did so, accompanied by his attorney. Chief Drew told Garvin that the interview was to be in private, but Garvin refused to submit to examination unless accompanied by his attorney. He was thereupon charged with insubordination both by the chief and the civil service board. His dismissal followed.

Judge Quinn held, in today's ruling, that Garvin was not guilty of insubordination, as he was a suspended official at the time that he refused to be questioned.

SMOKER RALLY OPENS WAY FOR WELCOME WEEK

Preliminary Work Closes As Supporters of Campaign Detail Benefits Due.

With a smoker rally that jammed the Hotel Oakland grill room, the merchants and business men back of the Welcome to Oakland Week brought their preliminary work to close last evening. The program was jointly devoted to inspirational addresses and entertainment.

Every guest was furnished as he entered the door with a paper cap, wooden hammer, a corn cob pipe, and a can of tobacco and told to "go to it." It was explained that the hammer was not to be used for knocking, but for boosting. A jazz orchestra and features from the various theaters filled in between talks.

WELLS OF INSPIRATION.
Morris Mazor, president, and opened the proceedings with a brief history of the inception of Welcome to Oakland Week.

"This occasion is notable in several instances," declared Mazor. "The outstanding feature is that this is the first time in the history of Oakland that 125 business men have gotten together in a mass effort for the common good of the city. It is a manifestation of the new spirit that is abroad in the city. It augurs much for the future."

"There's an old story about unity and strength. What one or two of us working individually would be unable to do, the 125 of us represented here and working together are able to accomplish with ease. The men back of the Welcome to Oakland Week represent our youngest business men and our oldest, the smallest business houses and the largest. It is truly a community effort."

SUCCESS ASSURED.
H. C. Capwell, following Mazor, declared:

"Welcome to Oakland Week is a success if we were to stop right now, but we are not going to stop. As a man thinketh, so is he. As we estimate ourselves so are we estimated by others. The same is true of cities. Oakland has caught the spirit of the times and that spirit is progress."

"Let us look up, talk up and brace up. The man who knows where he is going makes people get out of the way for him. The city that knows where it is going is in the same position. Welcome to Oakland Week is a test, or at least a demonstration. We must please every man and woman who comes into our city and into our stores next week. Put yourself out, and put your smile on. This will be your golden opportunity of selling your store to the people who come in."

"I might compare tonight to the night before the battle. We have your golden opportunity and we have the men. Let's go."

OPPORTUNITY SEEN.
J. D. Allen, of San Francisco, was introduced as the principal speaker of the evening.

"I am glad to find Oakland on its toes," he declared. "This East-bay district is facing the greatest opportunity that has ever been faced by any group of people since the world began. This is not merely my opinion, but it is the expert opinion of the greatest economic minds in the country. 'Your harbor opens through the Golden Gate to the Seven Seas. You have the land terminals of the trans-continental lines of the country. You have back of you the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, representing one-tenth of the available acreages of the United States. This great back country must find an outlet through Oakland.'"

"Before there can be success in the business world, experts agree that there must be the plant, the product and the sales organization. You have the plant. I can envisage a city here of millions, such a city as is yet not seen on the American continent."

WELCOME NECESSARY.
"To get the attention of the people to whom you wish to sell Oakland, you must understand that people go where they feel at home and where there is a welcome. Your week is dedicated to this idea. Creating desire in an advertising sense is simply a matter of creating good will."

"But before you can sell Oakland you have got to know Oakland. And you men know Oakland. Forty years from now young men gathered here tonight will sit back in their clubs and think back to the auspicious launching of 'The Welcome to Oakland Week.'"

Replying to Allen, President Joseph H. King of the Chamber of Commerce said:

"There must be a city on the Pacific Coast to do for the Pacific Ocean what New York is doing for the Atlantic Ocean. Oakland has the opportunity to become that city. We have the materials here which can be shaped into that city. What we want to do is put this week over in such fashion that our neighbors will say, 'That's a good city and those are good people.'"

Among those who contributed to the entertainment of the evening were Charles Reilly, Jack Russell, J. Stanley Martin and Miss Amelia Lake. Those at the speaker's table were: H. Kutchinski, Joseph H. King, Roscoe D. Wyatt, Eugene L. Perry, T. W. Sullivan, S. B. Swan, Morris Mazor, J. D. Allen, H. C. Capwell, J. D. Allen and Lee Bertillon.

Dignity Is Urged On All Undertakers

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The average undertaker forgets his importance and fails to maintain the standard of dignity which his profession is supposed to uphold when in the act of disposing of the dead, according to speakers who discussed this subject yesterday at the eighteenth annual convention of the California Funeral Directors' Association. All undertakers were urged to assume a more dignified attitude during the disposal of the dead in order that the undertakers and the public have a more sympathetic understanding.

Following this discussion, the delegates, numbering more than 150, today hurried themselves at the more important matters, including credits and collections. Bishop William H. Moreland spoke at today's session on "The Proper Disposal of Christian Dead." Other speakers included L. O. Stephens, Fresno; Beale Wood Gustason, Oakland; and E. E. Place, Los Gatos.

Peggy Too Busy to Think of Marriage

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—"People seem to marry me with everyone they see me with," was the comment of Peggy Joyce today on her "friendship" with Charlie Chaplin. "We marry him? Well, I'm too busy even to think of marriage."

"I've known Mr. Chaplin a long time. We first met in Paris. Someone saw me with him in Los Angeles and now they are going to get us married right away."

Peggy arrived here late yesterday from Los Angeles "to attend to business matters."

Human Hand Sent As K. K. K. Warning

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—A package containing a human hand handed yesterday that of a white man, and a letter signed "K. K. K." threatening murder, was received today by A. Philip Randolph, editor of a negro monthly magazine, "The Messenger." The package, which bore a wrapper marked "from a friend, New Orleans," was opened by the police.

The letter warned Randolph to keep out of white men's movements and to unite with his own race.

LODGE PLANS PROGRAM.
The Oakland Lodge, B'nai B'rith, is planning an active season of addresses by noted men, musicals, dances and other forms of activity now that the summer vacation is over. The lodge resumed its activities last evening with an address by H. A. Snow, naturalist and big game hunter, who illustrated his talk on big game hunting in Africa with still and moving pictures.

TOOK PASTOR'S WIFE.

Robert Murray, twelve-year-old Tacoma, Wash., boy, can reach half an octave above the upper limits of the piano key board.

Widow to Take Ashes of Spouse to France

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Alice Frey, of San Rafael, widow of Franz Frey who died in San Rafael last April, is returning to her childhood home in the suburbs of Paris. She is taking her husband's ashes with her. At the time of Frey's death, Mrs. Frey attempted to take her own life by swallowing poison. Through the efforts of physicians her life was saved and she was prevailed upon not to make another attempt at self destruction. She caused the body of her husband to be disinterred and cremated so that she could take his ashes back to France.

U. S. Sailors Tried Hard to Rescue Man

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Efforts to rescue Oscar Smith, a seaman second class on the flagship California, who leaped overboard Monday night, were of no avail. It was reported on the arrival of the ship in this port yesterday, Smith, it was stated, swam away from a lifebuoy which was tossed to him. He is believed to have been temporarily insane. According to officers on the California, Smith was subject to attacks of insanity. He was a native of Honolulu. He leaped overboard last Monday night while the ship was between Port Angeles and this port.

PERFORMANCE PROVES SAVAGE TIRES Are BUILT TO EXCEL

IN SPOKANE, WASHINGTON

Within a two minutes walk from the retail and financial center of Spokane, Little Republic Tire Co. shows the users of the Spokane River tumbler over the Lower Cataract.

With roads ranging from pavement to crushed and volcanic rock to sand and loam, the inland Empire requires an exceptional tire. It must withstand the demands of greatly varying conditions.

The tread of a tire, to be successful in this territory, must be tough so it will not wear prematurely yet so soft that it will not "cut" or "chip"—a rare combination.

The side walls must be thick and of durable rubber stock to ride in ruts where need be.

The carcass must be unusually strong to stand up under the bruises of mountain roads.

These and other essential qualifications for the rendering of satisfactory tire service in your territory have been incorporated into the Savage Cord. That we have successfully overcome local road conditions with our tire is evidenced from the highly consistent and satisfactory service Savage Tires are giving in this and tributary territory.

In Territorial Service
A corporation sending salesmen over severe country roads has received over 10,000 miles of uninterrupted service to date on the first set of Savage Cords installed. These tires are still in service and from appearances have traveled only one-third of the mileage they are capable of.

We point with no particular pride to such individual records as 37,000 miles rendered by our Cord tire over mountain roads, although that mileage is remarkable considering the type of service performed. These we class as exceptional cases. They do not necessarily portray the general consistency of Savage Tire performance that we are desirous of showing.

In Stage Line Service
After comparing the performance of our product on his stages with the mileage previously secured from nearly every other so-called standard make of tire, an operator in your Idaho territory is using Savage Tires exclusively—getting better mileage and service than from any other tire used heretofore.

Operating eight stages and taxicabs between Lewiston, Idaho, and Pomroy and Dayton, Washington, over roads composed mostly of rocks and ruts, Savage Tires are averaging 60% greater mileage than the highest previously secured from other makes.

The Reason
With the fixed purpose of manufacturing the best Cord tire on the market, our engineers incorporated into that product seventeen outstanding constructional features. These make it a really remarkable tire. Some of these features, to be sure, are used in other good makes of tires but we know of no other tire that begins to embody them all.

perform equally well under every condition—on the short haul of the heavily laden commercial car, on the heated roads of the sandy desert, over mud and stones of the land of forests or the broad dirt highways of the plains.

That we have accomplished our purpose is evident from the results users of Savage Tires are getting—everywhere.

Almost any tire will give satisfactory service under ideal conditions. Some makes will even render satisfactory service under certain adverse conditions. Certain makes of tires will perform best on long drives over pavements, other makes will show better advantage on dirt highways—and so it goes.

Our object has been to build Savage Tires to

Colorful Services Mark the Opening of Triennial Conclave.

PORTLAND Ore., Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Formal organization of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies was the first business of the forty-seventh triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America which convened today with colorful opening services. They were marked by communion service, a procession of the bishops and a mass meeting at which the convention sermon was delivered by the Right Rev. Edwin S. Lanes, Bishop of Newark, N. J.

Moss Rev. Daniel Sylvester Tuttle, Bishop of Missouri, was present to call the House of Bishops to order to be scheduled in the chair by the Right Rev. Thomas F. Gallor, Bishop of Tennessee, chairman of the House of Bishops. Bishop Gallor had indicated his desire to retire and that a successor to him be elected.

Bishops chosen since the last meeting were present to be introduced following which brief memorial services for those who had passed since the last meeting of the bishops was on the program. Dr. George F. Nelson, secretary of the House of Bishops had rendered his resignation and his successor was to be chosen. Dr. John F. Plumb, of New Milford, Conn., has been assistant secretary.

Following the rollcall of the deputies by Rev. Dr. Henry Anderson of New York, who has been secretary since 1917, the election of the president of the House of Deputies was in order. Rev. Alexander Mann of Boston, who has been president at the last three conventions, was expected to be re-elected.

As soon as the House of Deputies and the House of Bishops is organized and it formally notifies the other body that it is ready for business, appointment of committees and commissions follows. The first business sessions of the Woman's Auxiliary and of the Daughters of the King were ready to open simultaneously with the convention.

The report of the joint commission on the Book of Common Prayer is to be presented to the convention by Rev. Charles L. Slattery, rector of Grace church, New York. This report is embraced in a printed volume of 231 pages and covers alterations in 21 different sections of the prayer book, including those relating to the service of the Holy Communion, the marriage rite and the visitation of the

Fear of Footless Future Brings Deluge of Queries

"My angel, I throw my fortune at you—at your—er, that is—"

That's what is likely to happen to our proposals of the future when we have the fulfillment of the prophecy of Dr. Albert Schneider, scientist and head of the Berkeley Police School, that the human race will be footless with-

In the next thousand years as the result of its preference for motorizing over walking.

"Where are we to end?" is the question that is being hurled at Dr. Schneider today, with a purely anatomical meaning, not only by footwear specialists, who see the future of their business tottering, but by manufacturers of trousers, overalls, skirts, and—well, and others.

Will ankles follow feet into the happy hunting ground of the Dodo bird, and will calves, and then knees, join the departing procession? Just how many clothes are we going to have need of when this thing finally comes to a stop—or is the sky to be the limit? Optimists are quick to spring up on a solemn occasion such as this.

Peru, Bolivia Delegates Quit League of Nations

By HENRY WOOD.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
GENEVA, Sept. 6.—Peru has withdrawn her delegates from the League of Nations assembly because a Chilean, Augustine Edwards, was elected president.

Bolivia instructed her delegates to remain away from Geneva for the same reason.

The Tacna-Arica dispute, believed practically at an end since arbitration at Washington, was the basis for the Chilean-Peruvian split. Bolivia's enmity towards Chile also had its root in this South American controversy.

GENEVA, Sept. 6 (By the Associated Press.)—The League of Nations assembly today elected as its six vice-presidents the Earl of Balfour, England; Gabriel Hanotaux, France; Sonhor Gomez, Portugal; Hjalmar Branting, Sweden; Amelio Gigono y Cabanas, Spain, and Dr. Montchelo Nunchich, Yugoslavia.

The six new vice-president, with six members elected by the assembly committee, will make up the steering committee to organize the business of the assembly under the rules along with the president. The debate on the work of the league was re-opened by Lord Robert Cecil of England, representing South Africa. He approved of the work of the council during the past year, but expressed the fear that it was in danger of being overwhelmed by a mass of detail, leading to public opinion to underrate the really important work. He asked why the League of Nations could not intervene between Turkey and Greece and halt the bloodshed in Asia Minor.

PARIS, Sept. 6 (By the Associated Press.)—An agreement for the restoration of France's war-devastated regions, utilizing chiefly German materials, came up for consideration today before the special governmental committee charged with consideration of deliveries of merchandise by Germany.

The plan has been under negotiation between Hugo Stinnes, German industrial magnate, and Senator de Lubersac, president of the Federation of Cooperative Societies of the French liberated regions, representing 130,000 proprietors with war losses aggregating more than 13,000,000,000 francs.

SAYS SETTLEMENT REFLECTS CREDIT.

The settlement of the Albania, Aland Islands and Upper Silesian question had reflected credit on the council, Lord Robert continued, but he thought something might also have been done by the league to restore peace in Turkey and open the door for the restoration of relations between Russia and the outside world.

On the armaments question Lord Robert was not confident that a reduction in armaments was possible soon, because the necessary preparations had not been made, but a beginning was possible and the assembly could make it. Sooner or later, he declared, the league must really take on responsibilities placed on it by the covenant. If the league risked nothing it would never accomplish anything, he said.

If material disarmament was impossible now, added Lord Robert, it was nevertheless possible to obtain what he called "moral disarmament."

Sir Arthur Steel Maitland, of New Zealand, asked the league to investigate the situation in certain African mandated territories, where he said slavery had been re-established.

Car Service Taken Up at Luncheon

HAYWARD Sept 6.—Transportation problems of Hayward were discussed at a forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held at a luncheon at noon today. J. P. Potter, of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway, addressed the body.

According to Potter the traction company is preparing to establish a more frequent service and to provide additional accommodations for Hayward transit. The time element, he pointed out, is now reduced to such a point that, with existing traffic conditions, it can not be greatly reduced.

W. H. Alberger, general manager of the company, promised the Chamber of Commerce last summer that with the purchase by the company of double control cars and additional rolling stock the service to Hayward would be increased. Alberger was today in conference with the board of directors of the company and was unable to attend the luncheon.

PLANS MADE FOR WELCOME WEEK TOLD AT MEETING

Advertising Club Luncheon Scene of Discussion of Aid Methods.

Preparations for the "Welcome to Oakland Week," from September 11 to 16, were discussed at yesterday's weekly luncheon of the Oakland Advertising Club at the Hotel Oakland by W. B. Swan and Arthur Karbach.

Swan told how a large advertising campaign had been started, and how newspaper advertising is playing an important role in announcing the week to the public in nearby cities. Other mediums of advertising resorted to, he said, are billboards, motion picture slides, stickers and posters. He also announced that the City Hall Plaza will be suitably decorated for the occasion, and the City Hall illuminated.

Arthur Karbach advocated a program of organized entertainment for the visitors. He told what had been done on a similar occasion at Omaha, Neb., and in other centers.

CO-ORDINATION URGED

George Kahin, attorney for the Better Business Bureau of the Northwest, spoke on co-ordination of the work of these bureaus. He advocated the value of "truth in advertising" and declared that "Caveat Emptor"—let the buyer beware—has become antiquated as a business slogan.

Kahin emphasized the importance of uniformity in the reports issued by the various Better Business Bureaus throughout the country, and cited instances showing how the methods of one particular concern had been variously judged by different bureaus. Discussing one of the many instances in which the Better Business Bureau had intervened in the public interest, he spoke of a real estate firm in Seattle which had recently been selling "homesteads" and "garden land" which were actually several feet under water.

BIG PARADES SOUGHT

In outlining an entertainment program for "Welcome to Oakland Week," Arthur Karbach proposed that parades should be held by business men and by fraternal orders and civic bodies, as well as by uniformed units. He urged that everything possible should be done in order to give visitors from interior cities a hearty welcome, and that a united effort be made in this direction by all civic organizations.

Reference was made during the meeting to the fact that the Pacific Coast Conference of Better Business Bureaus is to be held in Oakland. A movement for the organization of a Central Better Business Bureau on the Pacific coast has been started by C. H. Chase of Oakland, manager of the local bureau.

MRS. CANDLER IN STATE EN ROUTE TO AID HUSBAND

Because of her faith in her young millionaire husband, Walter T. Candler, against whom accusations have been made by Mrs. Sarah G. Byfield in a $100,000 damage suit, Mrs. Marion Candler is in California today, on her way from Honolulu to Atlanta, Ga., to aid Candler.

Mrs. Candler, on reaching San Francisco, on the Oceanic liner Ventura, characterized the suit as an attempt to tap the millions accumulated by Asa G. Candler, the "Coca Cola" king.

Mrs. Candler today arrived in Pasadena, where her mother and baby are living. From there she intends to proceed almost immediately to Atlanta.

Mrs. Byfield, in the $100,000 damage suit, which she filed more than a week ago, alleged that she had been attacked by Candler in her stateroom on board a steamer bound for France last July, and that she had been compelled, as a result of her injuries, to undergo an operation.

Candler, at the time of the alleged attack, was accompanying Clyde Byfield and his wife on a trip to Europe. His wife was in Honolulu at the time.

Mrs. Candler, on reaching San Francisco, denied that she had separated from her husband.

"Our domestic relations have been completely happy," she said. "I was merely on a vacation."

"As soon as I saw in the newspapers that my husband had been accused by Mrs. Byfield I made arrangements to join him and show him and the world that I did not believe the charges," young Mrs. Candler declared.

She has known the Byfields for some time and have warned my husband that their professed friendship for him was based upon their interest in his money. He laughed my fears away, however, and even went so far as to help the Byfields financially, through his connection with the Central Bank and Trust Company of Atlanta.

"This is the second lawsuit of its kind to which a member of the Candler family has been subjected," Mrs. Candler declared, "and I am convinced that the motive behind it is the same. My husband's father, the founder of the Candler fortune, was made defendant by a woman, who left town after his vindication while a man with whom she had been associated was sent to prison."

Candler, answering Mrs. Byfield's charges, has declared that she filed the suit to embarrass him, after he had fled suit against her husband to prevent him from making on a $20,000 note, which Candler alleged Byfield had obtained from him by means of extortion.

"Tread Path of Honor," Barrows Urges Students

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—University students were warned yesterday to walk the "path of honor" by President David P. Barrows in addressing a freshman class meeting yesterday in Wheeler Auditorium.

"We have no special rules of behavior," said the president. "Conduct is judged as it reflects on our institution good or bad. We exclude those who in the opinion of the student welfare committee and the president have not lived up to and upheld our time-honored traditions."

"The purpose and primary ideal of the University of California is fully to prepare its students for the problems of every-day life. The University of California assembles, for instruction more people than any similar institution in the world. We expect you to bring to your work an attainment of your own. We cannot tolerate the use of work not your own, work not the result of your own labors."

Workings of the honor system at the university were explained to the new students and a warning given that failure to recognize this system would bring punishment to guilty students.

"Revue of Reviews" Party to Be Held

HAYWARD, Sept. 6.—A "Revue of Reviews" party is to be given on Friday evening in the new schoolhouse on the Castro Valley road in honor of the new piano the Parents' Teachers' Association has given the school. Those who attend the dance are asked to come dressed in the local papers.

The ladies of the club recently were active in a contest for a piano which they intended giving to the school. They did not win the piano, but won a Victrola, which was turned over as part payment on a piano.

LAFOLLETTE WINS IN WISCONSIN'S PRIMARY FIGHT

Senator Believed to Have Secured Renomination By 150,000 Votes.

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEALED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 6.—Robert M. LaFollette, by a landslide vote, was re-nominated for United States Senator by the Republicans of Wisconsin at Tuesday's primary. He defeated William A. Ganfield by a majority of nearly 150,000.

The Senator carried the entire slate of state officials to victory with one possible exception. The vote in 1425 precincts out of 2531 in the state gave LaFollette, 177,494; Ganfield, 74,843.

Governor John J. Blaine, LaFollette supporter, was renominated by a majority of more than 100,000 on the basis of figures now compiled. He was opposed by William Morran on the Canfield slate and A. C. McHenry, a wet. Blaine, 167,843; Morgan, 81,383; McHenry, 84,822.

ARENZ IS LEADING CHANDLER IN NEVADA

CARSON CITY, Nev., Sept. 6.—With about one-third of the vote cast yesterday at the primary election counted up to early today, Samuel S. Arenz was leading Charles Chandler for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate by 82 votes.

Senator Key Pittman, Democrat, was nominated without opposition.

BANGKOK, Sept. 6.—The Siam government is spending $10,000,000 improving the railroads and installing an irrigation system.

Shakespeare Is Revised by New "Pelican" Editor

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—Modern versions of Shakespearean dramas coupled with the usual flings at college maids and prohibition marked the first issue of "Pelican," university campus monthly, for the new semester.

"Pelican" spread its wings on the campus today under the editorship of Robert Ingram, graduate of last year's class. The first of a series of revised Shakespearean dramas marked the issue.

Some of the jokes culled from the pages of the comic monthly are: She—Clothes don't make the man. He—No, and it's taking less and less of them to make a woman.

Estelle—Are you familiar with "Outlines of History?" Dick—Not exactly, but I've heard Cleopatra and Queen Elizabeth had good figures.

"Do you think my dress is too low?" Er—do you mean morally, my dear?"

"And now we're engaged, darling, shall I ask father?" "Yes, dear, but first you had better ask mother if you may ask father."

She—How did you ever guess there were a lot of nice young men where I spent my vacation? He—Oh, you've learned to kiss so nicely.

Woman Attorney To Address Club

HAYWARD, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Gale Laughlin, attorney, will speak before the members of the Hayward Civil League of Women Voters Tuesday, September 12, on the lawyers bill passed at a recent session of the legislature. The bill would restrict any but lawyers from giving legal advice.

According to Mrs. Laughlin the bill, although properly enacted, is not being enforced in the state.

SIX ARE INJURED BY AUTO MISHAPS IN CITY STREETS

Two Women, Man Seriously Hurt When Car Overturns.

Two women and a man were seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding was overturned last night when the driver attempted to make a sharp turn at Thirty-seventh and Grove streets.

The machine was driven by De Witt Briggs, 1621 Ashb, Avenue, Berkeley. He was treated at the Grove street hospital for a possible fractured skull. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Hicks, was treated for internal injuries and Mrs. Anna Raymond, of the same address, suffered a fractured arm, broken ribs and internal injuries.

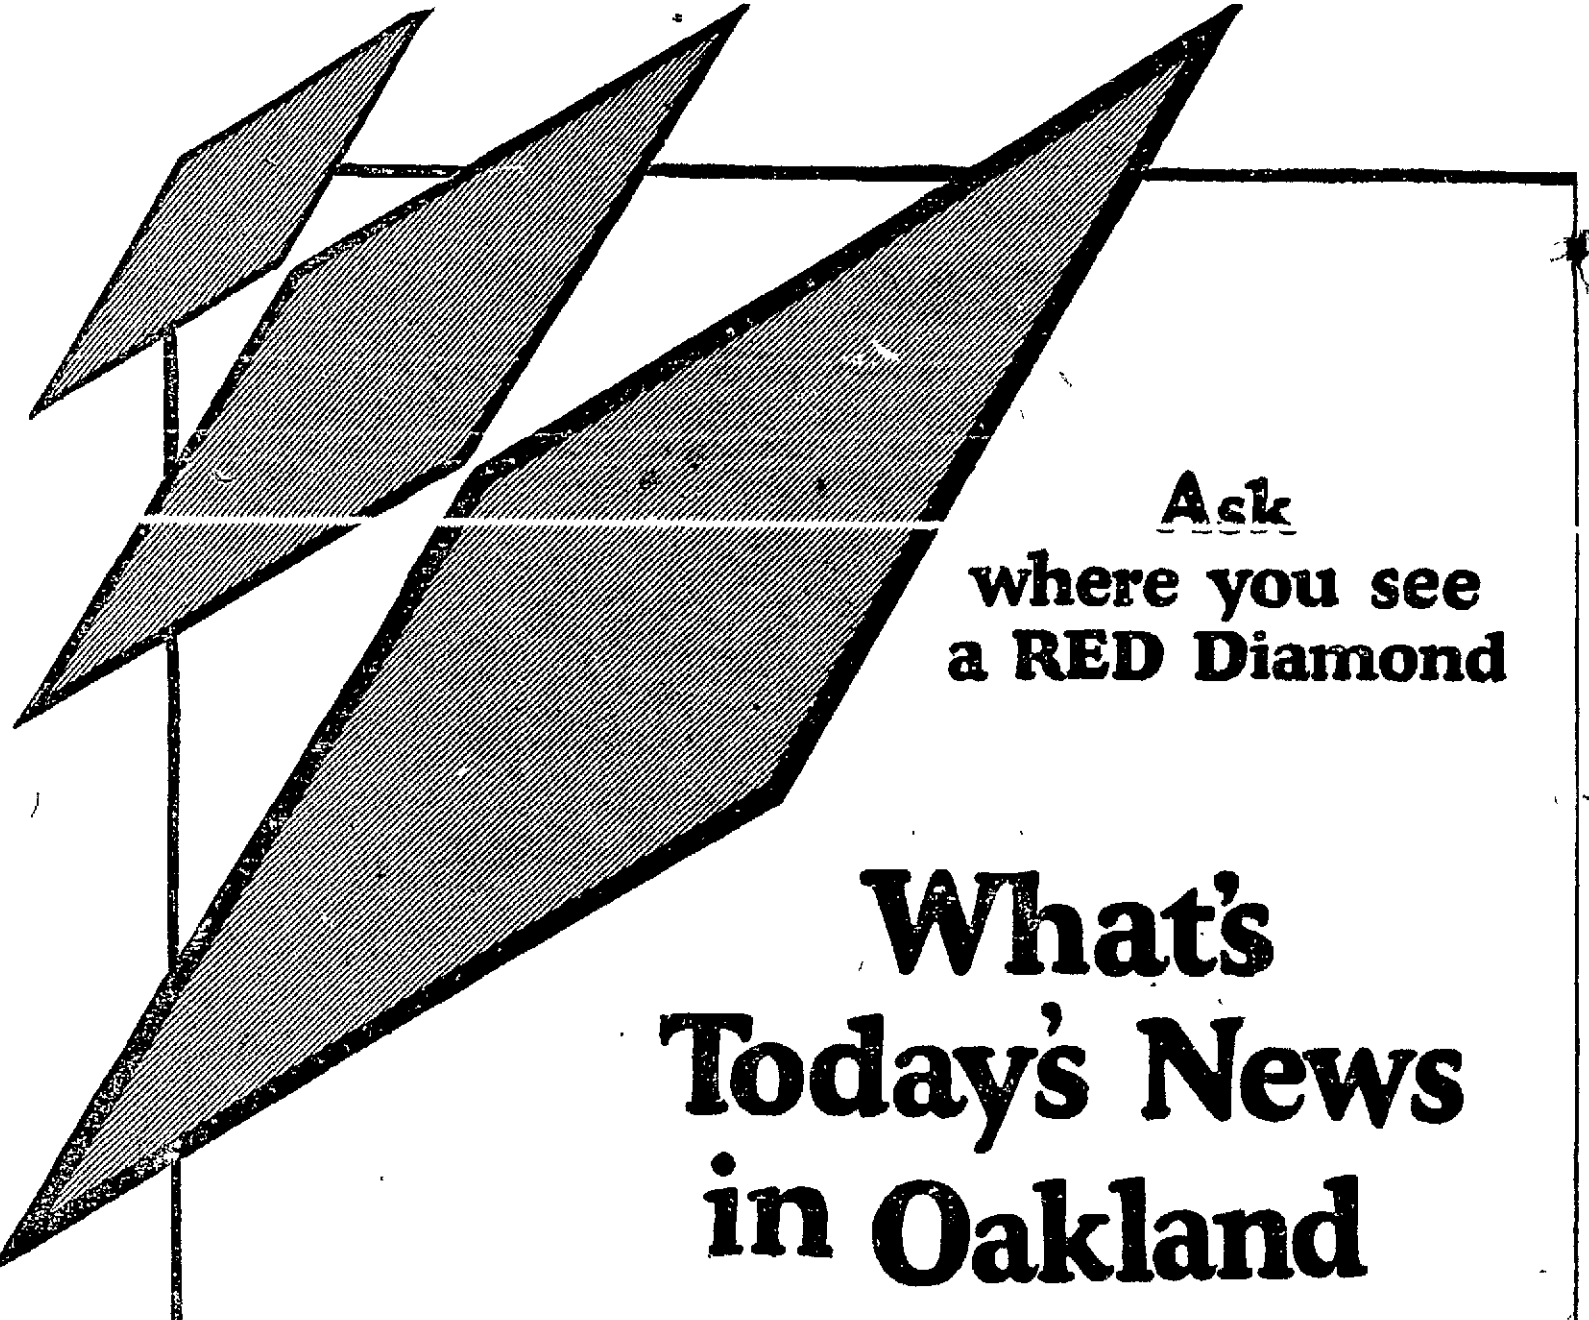

Two sailors and a civilian are in the Emergency Hospital in a serious condition as the result of an automobile accident today.

The automobile was driven by Robert Sterling. The sailors were Mike Murphy and Irvin Anderson of the U. S. S. Arizona. The accident happened at Mendocino and Grove streets when Sterling lost control of his automobile and ran into a telephone pole and a fire hydrant.

Murphy has a broken hip, Anderson internal injuries and Sterling is suffering from shock.

Wife Accuses Man of Threats to Kill

MARTINEZ, Sept. 6.—Charging that her husband made threats to kill her and cursed her, Madeline Nys of Fullman today filed suit for divorce against Joan B. Nys. The couple married in January, 1919, and separated August 30, 1920, according to the complaint.

My dear Mr. Gillette:

I am glad that you asked me about my Gillette razor. The old one I have used, I thought represented the last word in shaving comfort, but the new and improved Gillette certainly is proving to be a genuine revelation.

I am sure you know how well we think of your razors, for last year we presented nearly a thousand Gillette Safety Razors at Christmas time to our various friends and never was there a more genuinely appreciated holiday gift.

Please accept my sincere congratulations on the remarkable strides you have made in improving Gillette Razors.

Sincerely yours,

AMERICAN BANK HEADS WELCOMED TO EMERYVILLE

Section's Great Potentialities Extolled at Banquet to Financiers.

Welcoming the officials of The American Bank to Emeryville and celebrating the opening of the Emeryville Branch of The American Bank, the Emeryville Industries Association tendered a banquet last evening to the bank officials in the big dining room of the Virden Packing Company.

Owing to the absence of A. MacKenzie, president of the association, Andrew Irving, vice-president, acted as toastmaster and delivered an address of welcome.

P. E. Bowles, president of The American Bank, responded.

"My memory goes back to the days when Emeryville was a grain field," said Bowles, "and to the contrast that with the present Emeryville impresses me with the wonderful possibilities that you are just beginning to realize."

NATURAL ADVANTAGES

"Emeryville is indeed in a most naturally advantageous position, and enjoys the unique distinction of having its own administration, pledged to industrial advancement, compact and able to act without waiting upon red tape that would of necessity exist with a larger metropolitan governing body. Yet with this advantage, Emeryville is distinctly a metropolis owing to its position in the heart of an extensive metropolitan area."

"Located on the main line of one of our largest railroad systems for the transportation of raw material and finished products; but a short distance from the wharves where dock the ocean-going vessels of lines touching every world port; with quick and convenient local transportation lines for its workers; with ample homes and home-building areas for these workers close at hand—these and many other inducements to offer industries of all kinds assure Emeryville's continued growth and advancement."

GREAT POTENTIALITIES

"I pride myself on having a forward-looking vision of the future of the eastbay district, but a man who can see, as I have seen, the change from a grain field to a thriving industrial center, with the greatest potentialities of any eastbay community in a few short years, and not have the means to develop this vision, is a man who is blind indeed."

"In your lives and mine, you will see greater advancement in this city of Emeryville than has occurred. At the present time your industries are using the Oakland waterfront, but I can see the future of Emeryville, and I can see the future of the world's greatest harbor, extending from San Leandro Bay to Point Richmond."

"No section of this great east side of San Francisco Bay is more favored than Emeryville, and the advantages which I represent feel privileged to be able to contribute somewhat to the future of the city of Emeryville."

Joseph R. Knowland, R. S. Hawley, secretary of the Emeryville Industries Association; James H. MacLafferty, T. C. Jenkins, city attorney of Emeryville, also spoke.

AMERICAN WARRIORS PASS IN REVIEW AT ANNUAL CONVENTION

Spectacular Parade Marks Climax at San Jose in Succession of Thrilling Events on Program of Legion Department

By JOHN G. ROBINSON.

SAN JOSE, Sept. 6.—Sturdy feet that four years ago trod the bloody sod of Flanders, tramped through the heavy woods of the Argonne forest and grew hot in pursuit of the fleeing Hun, today beat time to the triumphant strains of blaring bands on the streets of this Garden City nestled in the "Valley of Heart's Delight," when members of California's 361 American Legion posts, assembled here in their fourth annual department convention, augmented by troops of United States infantry and cavalry, joined in a great victory parade.

Gleaming under the light of a typical California sunshine proudly waved beside Old Glory the flaming banners of the Legionnaires. This was their day and all California did them homage as they passed in review beneath the arch of triumph welcome erected over the corner of First and Santa Clara streets.

CIVIL WAR MEN MARCH

Veterans of every war from the days of 1865 on down, were included in the line of march, forming the official escort to Department Commander John R. Quinn and the members of his staff.

The gleam of bayonets borne by the infantry of the San Francisco Presidio gave way to the clatter of horses' feet as the cavalry of the Minutemen followed in the caravan of troops. Overhead in the blue of California skies an escort of army aeroplanes from Crissy field purred rhythmically as they ranged their way in battle formation.

BOLLES GETS OVATION

Lemuel Bolles of Indianapolis, national adjutant of the American Legion, arriving on the floor of the convention this morning at the high school auditorium, was accorded an ovation second only to that yesterday accorded Major L. Allison Coe of the Salvation Army. Rising to their feet, climbing to the chairs and waving frantically, the 1000 delegates gave way to a mighty cheer that made the proverbial ring.

With Bolles was Charles R. Kendrick, national vice commander of the Legion, who was simultaneously given the convention's official ovation.

Bolles spoke briefly but stirringly, bringing to the California ex-servicemen the greetings and the tribute of the national officials of the American Legion.

"You men of the west, who fought so valiantly on the field of battle, writing your names in the book of history with the blood of your brave hearts, stand as an inspiration to the youth of this nation," declared Bolles. "The eyes of the world are turned to you, and the eyes of the American Legion officers, too, turn to the west, and in your splendid record of achievements and your demonstration of sterling Americanism we find constant source of encouragement."

MINERS REMEMBERED.

With the exception of a few brief announcements of a routine nature by Commander Quinn and Adjutant Morgan Keane, this morning's meeting was exclusively devoted to the convention's tribute to its national officers, but the halls of the local high school still reverberated today with the doings of yesterday afternoon's second session of the convention proper.

All the nation knows today how California's Legionnaires yesterday banded and banded the unspoken plea for help from the stricken families of Jackson's 48 entombed miners. A relief fund of $572.30 is today on its way to the mining town, representing the donations of the convention delegates yesterday afternoon assembled. The contribution was taken in convention hall following the reading of a telegram from Amador county posts expressing regret at inability to attend the state convocation because of the mine horror at Jackson.

The tremendous ovation accorded Major L. Allison Coe of the Salvation Army yesterday afternoon, and a second remarkable demonstration, accorded Past Commander

KIDNAPED GIRL'S WINDUATION NOW SOUGHT IN COURT

Three Alleged Criminals Put On Trial on Violette French's Charges

Validation of the character of Violette French, 16-year-old high school girl, who told a story of kidnapping and abuse at the hands of three youths was sought today when Judge Follette today, during the argument, counsel for Alexander, who is accused of abducting with $1600 belonging to the star, threatened $100,000 damage proceedings against the star for "malicious prosecution." The case was continued to permit Miss Walton and her witnesses to appear.

Investigation by police officers failed to hear out her story except in so far as her companion corroborated her statement of the kidnapping. The three youths had vanished and no trace of them could be found.

ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY

Last January Knudson, Jeffries and Michaelson were arrested following their arrest they were identified by the girl as the ones who assaulted her. Grilled on the charge they pleaded not guilty. Knudson and Jeffries were placed on trial on the robbery charge and sent to San Quentin. But the friends and parents of the girl, and Miss French herself, maintained that the last vestige of doubt as to its truth be swept away. So the two were brought back from the penitentiary to stand trial, and with Michaelson, faced a jury today.

Each of the three is replete with daring holdups and burglaries. Prior to the Alameda robbery, which brought about their arrest, they were on probation from the Oakland night court on a charge of theft of an automobile. During the year which followed their release they participated in almost thirty robberies and in addition stole twenty-eight automobiles, according to the confession of one of the three following their arrest. It was during this year that the attack on the French girl occurred.

DIFFERENCES FORGOTTEN

An interesting feature of the case was enacted in the witness room on the day of the confession. Gathered there were Miss French, her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Welsh, and her father, Dr. H. W. French. The parents of the girl have forgotten the differences in the trouble that has overtaken their daughter.

The case began with the drawing of a jury and it is not believed that testimony will be taken before tomorrow morning.

Star Threatened

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—Failure of Gladys Walton, screen star, to appear in her case against Allen Alexander, her former secretary, precipitated a stormy session before Judge Follette today. During the argument, counsel for Alexander, who is accused of abducting with $1600 belonging to the star, threatened $100,000 damage proceedings against the star for "malicious prosecution." The case was continued to permit Miss Walton and her witnesses to appear.

MANY TO ATTEND FETE OF CHURCH

Judging from the increasing numbers of Presbyterians who attend the annual Pan-Presbyterian Day at the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo on Admission Day, more than 1000 are expected to cross the bay from Oakland and Berkeley to San Anselmo on Saturday.

The program begins with a dramatization of Bible scenes and studies in the great outdoor amphitheater. One hundred children will take part.

There will be awards of banners to the Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco Vacation Bible schools that won prizes in the song and yell contests staged on two different days at Mission Park. Special music will be featured for the day.

The address of the day will be delivered by Dr. E. A. Yarnall, who has recently come from Chicago to take the pastorate of the Calvary Presbyterian church in San Francisco.

San Francisco News

Former Teller in S. F. Bank Indicted

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The United States Grand Jury last night indicted Mark James O'Connell, former collection teller of the First National Bank of San Francisco, on charges of embezzlement and making false entries in his books. The indictment, returned by Judge J. J. Van Orsland, charged O'Connell with having made good O'Connell's alleged falsifications, were returned more than two years ago by the grand jury. The indictment against O'Connell, it is said, was returned by the grand jury under the provisions of the federal bank law.

Naval Commander's Wife Gets Decree

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Jennie Rees, 28 Presidio avenue, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce today by Superior Judge J. J. Van Orsland, on the ground of desertion. The divorce was granted in a suit for $450 brought by Herman Winoker. When Philbrook acted for his client the judge interrupted. "I cannot let you practice in this courtroom," said the judge.

Mining Bureau Aide Sued for Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Martha Thayer, 1242 Forty-second avenue, today filed in the superior court a separate maintenance suit against William Warren Thayer, secretary of the state mining bureau.

Mrs. Thayer charged in her complaint that her husband had been spending much of his time in the company of other women, and drank a great deal.

$3.47 Tax Rate Set By S. F. Supervisors

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The Board of Supervisors last night fixed the tax rate for San Francisco for the fiscal year, 1922-23, at $3.47 on each $100. The vote was 15 for the budget and three against. The total amount of the assessment roll or which the tax levy was based, is $815,330,576.

Nolan's Condition Reported Improved

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Congressman John L. Nolan, who is under treatment at St. Mary's hospital and who was reported to be in a serious condition following a relapse, was better today, it was stated at the hospital.

FIRE LIEUTENANTS TO BE PROMOTED TO CAPTAIN RANK

Five Promotions Authorized By Council For Proper Command of Captains.

Because of dissatisfaction in the fire department, where some companies are commanded by captains and some are not, Commissioner Frank Colbourn introduced today before the city council an ordinance providing for five additional captains in the five department, and subtracting that number of lieutenants. The ordinance was passed to print.

According to a report by Fire Chief Sam Sinton, each fire house is theoretically headed by a captain, but many have been commanded by lieutenants, giving the latter houses a feeling of inferior rank. These companies have expressed dissatisfaction, and the new ordinance is intended to straighten out the matter.

The increased cost of the promotion, according to Sinton, comes to $720 per annum.

The council passed to print an ordinance appropriating $3000 to buy 400 green poles for the estuary shore south of the auditorium, accepted a tract from E. B. Stone for the opening of One Hundred and Third Avenue, and ordered plans made for paving Fourteenth Street from Poplar to Peralta, and Twelfth from Fifty-second Avenue to Linda Park.

POUNDMAN GETS MONKEY BITES IN RUSHING THINGS

ALAMEDA, Sept. 6.—Giant Hicks, Alameda's lumber dealer, has come off second best in battle with a monkey, as regards casualties. After the monkey Hicks went to the emergency hospital to be patched up for numerous cuts and bruises. The monkey is enjoying life and, incidentally, the fruits and other eatables at the police station. The police are looking for its owner.

Hicks came into the station this morning that a monkey had wandered into a chicken yard at 1311 Sherman street, and was locked in.

Hicks responded. Immediately the monkey showed fight. Hicks threw a lasso over its head. The monkey threw it off. Finally, after half a dozen attempts to snare the monkey, Hicks decided to rush it. The monkey met the charge manfully and sunk its teeth in Hicks' leg. Hicks was game despite the savage bite he was receiving and managed to get a collar around the monkey's neck, after which it was comparatively easy going to the station.

Mother Has Legal Right to See Son

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Victoria Enos, 1210 McAllister street, has been granted legal permission to see her son Leonard, who is in the custody of his grandparents. The permission was granted by Superior Judge Fitzpatrick, who held that a mother has an inalienable right to see her child, and that the wishes of the grandparents, who are now with the relatives of her former husband, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Enos, of 1330 Independent Way, Oakland, are not binding.

Disbarred Lawyer Tries to Handle Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Horace W. Philbrook, disbarred lawyer, appeared as counsel today for Alexander Hior, official of the jitney bus union and Socialist candidate, for governor, before Judge Tryon of Del Norte county, sitting for Judge Bernard Flood. Hior is defendant in a suit for $450 brought by Herman Winoker. When Philbrook acted for his client the judge interrupted. "I cannot let you practice in this courtroom," said the judge.

S. F. Pledges Aid For Highway Work

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The recommendation that the city pledge itself to appropriate its share of the sum not to exceed $25,000 for surveys and rights of way for the proposed San Francisco-San Mateo county highway, has been adopted by the Board of Supervisors. The recommendation was made by the joint finance and audit committee of that body. The total cost of the highway, when finished, will be about $4,000,000.

Australian Health Men Study in U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—W. J. McMenimen, labor member of the United States railroad labor union, arrived here today on a vacation of several weeks. He prepared to depart for Chicago. McMenimen declined to discuss recent developments in the rail controversy.

New Director of C. of C. Takes Over Position

Roscoe D. Wyatt Comes to Oakland From San Jose.

Roscoe D. Wyatt, newly-elected managing director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, arrived in this city yesterday and has taken over his new duties.

Wyatt comes from San Jose, where he was director of the Chamber of Commerce. He fills the position formerly held by Joseph E. Caine, which has been vacant since Caine's resignation last January.

"I am very glad to come to Oakland," said Wyatt. "I have long believed in the future of the city on the eastern side of San Francisco Bay and feel that my position offers me the opportunity to take an active part in the development of what eventually is to be the biggest city on the Pacific Coast."

"Oakland has so many natural advantages that it would be impossible for it to fail to take its place among the big cities of the nation. It has location, rail and water, climate and the friendship of the neighboring communities."

"Speaking as one who has for three years been a resident of one of your nearby cities, I can assure the people of Oakland that they are well liked in the valley cities, and that this regard is growing."

Presbytery to Hold Semi-Annual Meet

The semi-annual meeting of the Presbytery of San Francisco will be held at the First Presbyterian church, Broadway and Twenty-sixth street, Tuesday, September 12, at 1:30 p. m. In view of the Pan-Presbyterian Day, which is to be held Saturday, there will be no evening service on Tuesday. Reports to be submitted on Tuesday include those of the promotional department, educational department, and operational department.

Oakland Policeman Contests Father's Will

Joseph H. Robinson, member of the Oakland police force, today filed a contest over the will of his father, the late James Robinson of Berkeley. He names his sister, Mary Elizabeth Jacobs, named as executrix of the estate, charging that she exercised undue influence over her father to the end that under the terms of the will, the contestant is practically cut off from sharing in the estate, which is valued at about $6000.

Robinson charges that his father was of unsound mind when the will was made.

L. A. SHIP MEN BARGAINING FOR HANLON CONCERN

Would Assimilate Local Drydock and Construction Plant.

Negotiations are progressing by which the Los Angeles Shipbuilding Company may assimilate the Hanlon Drydock and Shipbuilding plant, thus bringing to Oakland a concern of large capital which is closely affiliated with the Los Angeles Steamship Company and the Baker Iron Works of Los Angeles. Dan Hanlon, president of the local concern, today confirmed reports that the negotiations were in progress and said he would have further conferences with F. A. Baker, president of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding Company, in Vancouver, Washington, next week.

"The Los Angeles concern wants to assimilate my plant and retain my services," said Hanlon today. "I have not decided whether I would remain in the business or return in case the deal goes through."

The interests with which Baker is dealing have recently purchased $20,000,000 feet of lumber and are establishing paper pulp mills in the Angeles and on an island in Puget Sound. It is reported. The Los Angeles Steamship Company has recently purchased three steamers from the Shipping Board and four more are to be secured to ply between Vancouver and Los Angeles, according to reports.

Osteopaths Hold Luncheons for Law

The first of a series of educational luncheons was held in Oakland today at the Peerless Cafe by the Oakland osteopaths. Dr. R. F. Robie was chairman, and a number of other prominent osteopaths spoke. The theme was Number 20, the initiative which the California Osteopathic Association have placed on the November ballot.

"The bill provides for no change in the present law," said Dr. Robie. "We have proved our case in the Supreme Court and have no apologies to make for our graduates. All we ask is that the state meet of justice now enjoyed by the pharmacists, the veterinarians, the dentists and the 'old school' doctors—an examining board. We do not think that it is fair to have our graduates admit to an examining board only two out of the ten members of which are osteopaths."

EDUCATION BOARD PLANS FUND TO INSURE SALARIES

Reaffirms Policy of Sufficient Money to Pay Teachers.

The board of education last night adopted a resolution reaffirming its policy of "a professional wage for professional service," and, by resolution, approved the request of the Oakland Teachers' Association that it set aside, each year, sufficient funds to guarantee the payment of teachers' salaries for the full 200 days.

This action, according to board members, insures that there shall never be again such a situation as happened two years ago, when the schools were forced to close earlier than usual for lack of funds to carry them on. The new system will insure that.

In the same resolution, in a paragraph providing "that in case of an increase in salary we stand for a uniform increase applying alike to all groups and classes of teachers, principals and supervisors."

Notice was received from the state educational department that Oakland is entitled to $24,787 from state and government funds this year, for educational education. Oakland receives the largest amount of any city in California, as it has the greatest number of vocational training students.

A communication was received from the district attorney advising the board that contractors who are low-bidders on school jobs and then want to withdraw cannot do so.

Concerning the teaching of German in Oakland schools, Superintendent H. A. C. Sprague said the board that this is a matter under control of the state educational department and the Oakland board has no jurisdiction.

Auto Knocks Rodeoan Down Embankment

RICHMOND, Sept. 6.—Henry Leeper, a Rodeoan, narrowly missed death Monday while walking from Oleum to Rodeo. He was struck by an auto on a curve on the state highway between the two communities and knocked down the embankment, sustaining a gash in the head and the leg. Leeper is the father of Mrs. E. E. Van Marter of 2525 Downer avenue. Charles Johnson of Oakland was driver of the car which struck Leeper.

WATCHES STOLEN
ALAMEDA, Sept. 6.—Frederick Matner, 1219 Lafayette street, and O. F. Westphal, students of the Alameda high school, had their watches stolen from their clothes at Lincoln park yesterday afternoon. The two boys were participating in athletic events and their clothes were in the locker.

"Her Gilded Cage," Is Proving Great Attraction at The American Theater.

GLORIA SWANSON, Paramount star, whose beautiful gowns worn in her screen productions have made her the fashion model of the screen, is not limited to stately, formal fashion creations in her latest Paramount picture, "Her Gilded Cage," at The American this week.

It is asserted by those who saw Gloria wearing the new dance costumes about the studio that if she is fascinating and charming in the ballroom gown, evening gown and afternoon frock, these accessories

MISS MARY NEWELL, appointed director of home economics in Oakland schools

HOME ECONOMICS TEACHER CHOSEN AFTER LONG HUNT

Filling the position of director of home economics for the Oakland schools, vacant since the resignation of Miss Florence LaGanke last autumn, the board of education last night appointed Miss Mary Newell at the recommendation of Superintendent Fred M. Hunter, who said he had sought the right person for months and selected Miss Newell as fittest for the position.

Miss Newell served two years in France with the Red Cross and has been connected with the San Francisco schools.

LEAGUE TO HEAR BILL
ALAMEDA, Sept. 6.—The Wright Referendum Bill will be discussed before the Alameda Housewives League tomorrow. The speaker will be Mrs. Mary Merrill. Mrs. Harry O. Tenney will preside.

THEODORE BELL'S FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Burial of Theodore A. Bell, former congressman, who was killed in an automobile accident near San Rafael Monday night, will take place on a slope of Mt. St. Helena tomorrow afternoon, according to arrangements announced today.

The funeral services will be conducted at the Bell country home at St. Helena, under the auspices of the Masonic lodge of which Bell had been a member for many years.

The final resting place of the nationally known political leader will overlook the famous Napa valley, which is intimately associated with both the beginning and the close of Bell's public life. It was in Napa valley that he began his political career as district attorney nearly thirty years ago. And it was the vineyards of Napa valley for which Bell was waging a light against a rigid interpretation of the prohibition laws at the time of his death.

Bell's widow, Mrs. Annie Bell, and his daughter, Miss Maurine Bell, are at the family's St. Helena residence today, having gone there last night from their home at 2949 Ashby avenue, Berkeley.

Sixteen Autoists Arrested in Alameda

ALAMEDA, Sept. 6.—The police opened war upon the violators of the head and tail light ordinance last night. As a result 16 drivers of machines have deposited $2.50 each with Chief of Police William Walmuth as a guarantee that they will be in court tomorrow morning to answer to Police Judge L. R. Weinmann. The roundup follows several near accidents of the past week caused by lack of light on machines.

Those who are cited to appear in court tomorrow morning are Mrs. M. E. Nutting, Redondo Beach, Los Angeles; Mrs. E. S. Spann, 1422 Walnut street; William Wilson, 1406 Webster street; A. Bales, 1417 Fifth street; Joseph Tavia, Eureka; William McIntosh, 1020 San Antonio avenue; E. L. Balfitt, 1314 Encinal avenue; W. E. Bridgen, 1824 Rose street, Oakland; Gay Herzberg, 550 Grand street, Oakland; G. H. Wallace, 1240 Thirteenth avenue, Oakland; C. G. Mize, Modesto; M. L. Sale, 1330 Caroline street; Ernest Strange, 1274 El Centro, Oakland; Nathan Asua, 1500 Park street; E. Bruzoni, 721 Pacific and H. H. Haight, 1533 Central avenue.

GIRL FEARED LOST
BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—The police are searching for 21-year-old Elma Kurten, Swedish girl, who is lost on route from her home in Oakland to Berkeley to join her sister, a domestic in the employ of Mrs. E. W. Wright, 2521 Elm street. A message that the girl was leaving New York was wired some days ago by railroad officials. She is now five days overdue. As the girl speaks no English, it is feared that she became confused in directions.

HARBOR ENGINEER SEEKS REVISION OF DOCK CHARGES

Specific Classification of Facilities and Tolls Aim of Ordinance.

The entire schedule of dockage, Oakland waterfront will be re-tolled and wharfage charges for the unimproved and reclassified in ordinance now being drafted by the city attorney and Harbor Engineer Ralph Beebe.

The announcement of a new schedule, according to Beebe, is of general interest to shippers who have complained that the present ordinance are ambiguous, contradictory and out-of-date.

The new ordinance is being based on the general San Francisco system.

For instance, according to harbor experts, Oakland docks and wharves have never been classified. Hence, the dockage charge for any particular dock is a matter of guesswork. Beebe's proposed ordinance would classify each kind of dock, according to its depth, water and loading facilities, and tariff would then be arranged for Class A, Class B and Class C docks and so on down the line.

LITTLE TOLL CHANGE

"There will be little change in the actual charges," says Beebe. "The whole idea is to put in a modern schedule for the docks and wharves of Oakland."

"The present ordinances were framed when Oakland's waterfront needs were not urgent; and as time went on, and new ordinances were added, the whole business became a mixed-up affair which is not easy to decipher."

Oakland must have an explicit waterfront toll and dockage ordinance. It must be explicit. It must be incorporated in a book and published for the information of shipping men on the Coast and all over the world. The ship touching at the Port of Oakland must know exactly what the costs will be, without guesswork.

San Francisco, which has had longer experience in waterfront affairs, and whose waterfront is under state control now, has evolved a specific system of tariffs. Those tariffs lie on the desk of every shipping firm throughout the world.

OAKLAND'S NEED SHOWN

"Oakland has never had such a tariff. It has had many tariff ordinances, but they are jumbled. The new one will be a clear-cut tariff."

"In addition to this tariff, we hope to add in Oakland's booklet a few details about our harbor, with maps, soundings, loading facilities, transportation, and everything which will be of direct information to the shipper."

Beebe and the staff of the harbor department expect to complete the surveys and tariff schedules by the end of the month. The city council for ratification, and authority will be asked to publish Oakland's "shipping book."

Boy Scout Support Is Planned by Lions

RICHMOND, Sept. 6.—Each member of the Richmond Lion's club is to be assessed $10 in order to carry out plans for a Boy Scout movement in Contra Costa county, as discussed at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Richmond Den of Lions. V. D. Brammer, now scout executive for Solano county, was present and made an interesting talk about the work. Members of the club spoke briefly in favor of the movement.

Rev. Paul Little of the Wesley Methodist church addressed the club, and urged that the club make donations of used clothes to the poor and needy. Each member was asked to bring something to the next weekly meeting.

President C. E. Clark thanked Joe Bowen for the contribution of banners to be used today in the Contra Costa Day celebration.

White Lies Bad As Black Ones, Says Educator

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—There is no distinction as to lies in the opinion of Warner Brown, assistant professor of psychology at the University of California. The convenient "white lie," the professor avers, is bad as his elder brother, the "black" one. Tellers of "white lies" may be popular, says the professor, but they are losing their own character.

"A lie is a lie, be it white, gray, or black," declared the psychology expert to a class yesterday. "Even a little deception is not worth while, for we can get along much better if we culti-te a fixed policy of telling the truth." Professor Brown maintains that while a "white lie" may be useful to a social favorite, that a reputation for sincerity is much more worth while.

Civic Center Club Resumes Meetings

RICHMOND, Sept. 6.—The Richmond Civic Center club resumed its meetings yesterday afternoon following the vacation period. At the close of a brief business session an entertaining program was enjoyed. There were vocal solos by Mrs. R. E. Stewart, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Little; violin solos by Mandel Mansfield, accompanied by Miss Florence Little, and a piano solo by Miss Florence Little.

The year's work of the club is to be mapped out by the president, Mrs. G. E. Milnes, and presented to the club at a future meeting.

IMPROVEMENTS INSTALLED AT SIERRA CAMP

Superintendent Jay Nash On Return Tells of Sewer Being Installed.

Returning with Attorney Jesse Robinson after a two weeks' trip to the municipal camp in the Sierras, Superintendent Jay Nash of the recreation department announced today that the sanitary sewer at the camp is completed in part, and will be finished this year. Showers are being placed in back of the cook house, and repairs and alterations are going on apace to make the camp bigger and better for the next season.

Nash admits that the "dust problem" has not yet been entirely solved, but hopes by a few applications of oil to make the roads and byways dust proof for next year.

Nash and Robinson rode for miles through the Sierras on a vacation trip, Robinson bagging a bear and a deer on the same day. They were in the saddle seven days.

RICHMOND, Sept. 6.—The city council last night granted the Contra Costa Realty company permission to improve Key boulevard and Roosevelt avenue in the Richmond Traffic Center tract. The work is to be done under the supervision of the superintendent of streets.

Two Men Are All 'Cut Up' in Alleged Jealousy Combat

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—In a fight believed by the police to have been caused by jealousy over a woman, Jesus Cervente and Pablo Hernandez slashed each other with knives today at a Mexican boarding house at 712 University avenue. Neither of the men was seriously injured, although both were covered with superficial cuts. Their wounds were dressed at the Temple hospital, where they were taken by Policemen C. D. Lee and R. A. Abbey. No arrest was made.

Funeral Planned For Rail Employee

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—Arrangements are being made for the funeral of George Walden, employee of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway, who died yesterday at his home, 4903 Telegraph avenue, Oakland. The funeral will be held from Berkeley undertaking parlors. Walden was born in Indiana and had resided in the bay section for the last 14 years. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters.

GIRL STRUCK BY AUTO

Ora Wilkerson, 18, of 1745 7th street, escaped with a slight bruise yesterday when she was run down by an automobile at Ninth and Campbell streets. She was taken to the receiving hospital where she was given first aid and later removed to her home.

Accused of Insubordination
Fire Department Man Draws Lay-Off.

Accused of insubordination to his superior officers, Captain G. Buswell of Engine 14 was given ten days' suspension without pay by Commissioner Frank Colbourn yesterday.

Two instances of alleged insubordination were charged against Buswell. Battalion Chief Lutke asserted that Buswell refused to change a line of hose at a recent fire when ordered. Battalion Chief Delario charged that Buswell refused to turn off the water at a later fire when ordered.

Colbourn suggested that Buswell might have been suffering from a "grouch."

ONETAU TRIBE MEETS

RICHMOND, Sept. 6.—Onetau Tribe, Improved Order of Red Men, met last night in Prithian Castle. T. R. Jarvis, Robert Core and John A. Easy Terms at Standard Cash Prices

JACKSON'S is a successful complete Home Furnishing institution, founded upon years of honest endeavor in truthful selling and honest merchandising.

Why we advertise—"The One-Price Store"—

(No extra charge for credit—Easy Terms at the Standard Cash Prices)

Any discount for cash means two prices—one for the cash customer and a higher one for the credit customer.

At Jackson's there is but the One Price—and that one is the standard cash price. Our constant endeavor is to mark all merchandise as low in price as is charged anywhere after all discounts for cash have been deducted.

Each article is then plainly marked and the price is exactly the same, whether you pay all cash or buy on our usual easy payment plan.

So, you see, you can buy here at Jackson's as low for cash as anywhere—and when you buy on our easy terms you make a considerable money saving, as you pay no extra for that privilege.

We believe that when a customer buys on credit and pays within a reasonable length of time there is no sound reason why there should be any additional charge made or any interest charged on the deferred payments.

This system of selling has proven, for the last fifteen years, that we can make a reasonable, legitimate profit (which we feel is all we are entitled to make) and at the same time render a service as near perfect as is possible—a credit system that is dignified and beneficial to all.

We invite you to shop—compare our prices, the quality of our merchandise and our easy terms—before you buy.

We are delighted to hear so many of our new customers comment on the "Home Atmosphere" and the "Spirit of Friendliness" in our store—for, that is a condition we have striven very hard to attain and then to hold.

EASY TERMS constitutes the very foundation of our existence and continued success. Nowhere will you find easier terms, unless possibly at places that do charge extra for that privilege.

At Jackson's you pay no more in buying on Easy Terms than the standard cash prices asked anywhere.

The very real advantages of Apartment House life have so strongly attracted the American family that many students of social conditions have feared for the downfall of the American home.

Yet no group of apartment houses in any city in America is so favorably situated or offers so many attractions as does that centering about Lake Merritt.

With a climate and situation akin to that of a summer resort, looking out on a lake with beautifully parked shores and over to the forest and mountains back of Piedmont, it combines every advantage of Metropolitan life.

The occupants of these houses have at their very doors the tennis courts, canoe clubs, and the wide lawns of an unusually well planned city park.

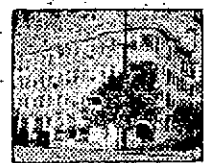

Through the heart of this district, north and south of the Lake, runs interurban as well as street car transportation.

Service garages of the most modern type are immediately adjacent without disfiguring the neighborhood by their presence on residential streets.

With all these advantages, any one of which would be almost unique, rentals of apartments throughout this district are most conservative.

One outstanding feature of the location of these houses is the wide spacing between them with the consequent increase in the number of sunny apartments and the very great reduction of the fire risk for, owing to the high value of apartment house sites, there is a tendency elsewhere in America to crowd such buildings shoulder to shoulder.

You are urged to study this diagram, the numbers in the circles correspond to the numbers on the advertisement printed below and show the exact location of the apartment-hotels here advertised.

JACKIE OBJECTS— Jackie Coogan protested when his father made him up outdoors.

HE'S A PRIZE WINNER—Grand Master, the six-year-old mount of P. E. Bowles, Oakland banker, which has won the Northern California championship prize for three-gaited horses. The contest was held at Stockton.

HERE'S LAKE MERRITT SEA SERPENT—New Jersey failed to send out usual sea serpent yarn this year. Oakland has one. It is the dredger at work on Lake Merritt.

SHE IS A CHAMP-MAKER—Jack Dempsey says he owes as much to "Ma" Kearns, mother of Jack Kearns, the champ's manager, as he does to any one, for the fact that he is heavyweight champion of the world.

THEY FIGHT OVER HER.—From Deauville comes news that Edith Kelly Gould slapped face of man there and that Erskine Gwynne, nephew of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, fought with a head waiter over it all.

YES, THERE IS GERMAN FLEET—Here are small warships leaving naval harbor for cruise in northern waters.

SHOULDER

Don't hurry over this letter. Let the richness of its philosophy sink into your spirit—let its tolerance and kindness make you the better human for a few minutes' reading. "Jerry"—judging by the tone of comment in newspapers it seems that the subject of "The Eternal Triangle" is being somewhat slowly but very surely crowded into the background by "The Eternal Flapper."

"So passes one more of the old customs and the new custom is certainly very important."

"I do not mean that the Flapper is new, for I have no doubt that she came into existence with the birth of the first girl child of this world. The public discussion and study of this being has now as never before assumed its proper place among the important things of life."

"The Flapper herself has always been important only we have not before understood or realized her importance."

"So many letters in your column show that parents are becoming more the problems of their own Flappers than the Flappers themselves. The public discussion and study of this being has now as never before assumed its proper place among the important things of life."

"I know you are fully competent to handle the situation without assistance."

"I am writing now merely to give a specific instance to corroborate your theory, expressed in the article mentioned, that parents should give more attention to their children's point of view and show the expression of those views. This can be done without disrespect on either side, just as it can in discussions among adults. For fifteen years I was blessed with the companionship of the most unselfish woman I have ever known. Now don't get the idea that I am accusing woman of selfishness. I think they are less so than men. My wife's character and example had greater influence in moulding our children's character than anything else."

"I'm getting sidetracked so must switch back to main line."

"From the time our first baby could understand simple sentences we tried to get him to follow every rule, whether it was our own rule or that of society at large. We explained why he should or should not do certain things, and he never disobeyed. Now don't get the idea that I am accusing woman of selfishness. I think they are less so than men. My wife's character and example had greater influence in moulding our children's character than anything else."

"I did not change my methods, though the transition of the girl's methods and ideas was somewhat painful to both."

"I issued very few commands and even those few were accompanied by reasons and a statement of consequences to result from obedience as well as disobedience. Not the punishment or reward to be meted out by me, but the same things by the rest of the world's people. The religious phase was not stressed because I am not competent to properly present it, but I explained it to the best of my ability and tried to teach a proper study of that under competent teachers."

"The child was always allowed to present his views but they must be accompanied by reasons, not just personal wishes, and such reasons were met with reasons and in almost every instance an amicable settlement of the subject was reached."

"During the last few years I recall only one instance where the difficulty existed for any length of time and even that has now been laid at rest. That was the subject of bobbed hair."

"My girl has always had beautiful hair in great abundance and when the new style arrived there was considerable friction."

"The girl acknowledged that her principal reason was to appear as others were appearing, and she presented no other logical reason. After much argument I issued the only command for several years, and with the full knowledge that I probably could not enforce it, and that it was a punishment of any kind, I issued the command: 'You have decided to have a bobbed hair. The crisis is now past and my reasons (no my command) have gained the day.'"

"At the age of fourteen this girl was left without a mother and with a sister of nine years to care for, as well as the care of a large apartment and the numerous household duties in which she had previously had no experience except under direct supervision."

"She did all these things, at the same time continuing her studies in high school and taking a vocational course. So had entire management of our household affairs, made and mended her own and sister's clothing, even including their hats. With this she found time to assist me occasionally as a clerk in a small store and was not deprived of occasional recreation at the theaters, school dances or hikes, etc."

"When this sister was taken, I felt considerable uneasiness on account of there now being less responsibility to help this girl hold her life together, but so far my fears appear groundless. She is now at the somewhat dangerous flapper age, but we are still the best of friends, though a young man is encroaching on my position of pal. However, he seems to be the right sort and I try to take my medicine with a smile."

"We have many conversations about the problems of her life as they arise and I have found it a good plan to hold these discussions

Listen, World!

SHOULD A GIRL COME OF AGE AT 18?

SHOULD a girl be considered legally of age when she's eighteen? With the exception of the voting privilege she is now so considered. At eighteen she becomes "her own boss" by a law framed in the remote past. Is this right? Consider Jean Marie. Jean Marie's great-grandmother was "of age" at eighteen. This did not imply very much—then, she could not vote. She had scant voice in the family councils and none at all in the national ones. She could not "work" save as she went from the confines of one home to the confines of another. She was important solely as wife or mother. Therefore her legal maturity corresponded with the age at which she could safely assume the responsibility of widowhood and motherhood. Citizenship didn't enter into the matter at all.

But now comes Jean Marie. Jean Marie is also "of age" at eighteen—and that implies a very great deal. Her voice is heard most distinctly, not only in the home, but in the land. It is heard for exactly the same reason that her mother's or father's voices are heard—because she is of age and an important wage earner. All the temptations and responsibilities which her mother and father faced, Jean Marie faces, too. All the liberty which they enjoy, because of their economic independence, she also enjoys. BUT—

Jean Marie's brother is not accounted for these freedoms. He is a twenty-one-year-old man, and his parents are still his legal guardians. Whereas Jean Marie, under a law framed to meet the requirements of her grandmother's life, becomes the arbiter of her own fortune (with the exception of the voting privilege) at eighteen. The law was framed to meet the exigencies of physical maturity. Mental maturity, however, and economic independence were not considered because women were not supposed to have minds or pocketbooks. But now—?

How about it? This question may seem of slight importance to you, but in many homes it is a spelling tragedy. What do you think should be done? (Copyright, 1922.)

In the presence of the young man whenever it seems a good time, it does us all good, for it brings out three different points of view.

"I do not go to extremes in anything. I do not fear to get angry in my flapper life, but I regard it as my duty to be just to the world."

"In spite of the sorrows, troubles and early responsibilities, life is full of life and has lots of fun, though most of the fun of my life is tinged with pain, and we are constant companions."

"About the only fortunate thing that has occurred to me for several years has been my ability to arrange for her to be with me most of the time, out of school or at least during leisure hours."

"Financially and physically I have been very unfortunate except that I have been able to keep my health in proper condition to work all the time."

"I am proud of my girl for many reasons. She is the only one I have known who could or would make all her frocks, hats, wraps and the countless little articles of dress so dear to girls, as well as keep house in a pretty good manner."

"She has kept ahead of her classes in school, completed a course in vocational training which will enable her to earn a good income for life is a good housekeeper (though she dislikes that work), can fill a position as saleslady in at least one class of stores, has a good start in commercial art and has most of the usual accomplishments of girls of her age—sweet sixteen."

"When I think of the things and the knowledge that I have helped to train one who has ample ability and knowledge to complete the structure of a character that will make her a useful member of society. No matter if she is deprived of my counsel and guidance now, the solid foundation is laid and instructions given to enable her to complete the job. Though I have failed in many things during my life, I hate to see my child fail. I have succeeded in one or two occasions when disputes or at least warm discussions have arisen between my flapper and others I felt well paid to see and hear her take the right stand, even in the face of criticism and jeers from the whole crowd."

"Once when her arguments did not avail, she said: 'Well, I think I am right, and as my daddy says so that is enough for me.' I initiated a pacifist for several days."

"There have been many occasions when arguments have been brought to me for settlement and it is good to see the pride in her eyes when I am able to confirm her judgment. However, if I decide against her she is calm enough to accept her defeat in good part, even when her opponents 'rub it in' somewhat."

"I realize that this is probably too long a rant, but perhaps you can hold it down if you consider it worth while. At any rate it may help to substantiate some of your arguments. DADDY."

As an explanation of "what's the matter with marriage" how's this: "The trouble is there is so many folks growin' up who won't even taught how to get along with themselves, yet they hook up with others and pull opposite ways." Yes, the rest of the letter is just as good. Read it.

Jerry O—

Bagged another rabbit today, an' while he's on stews'n thought I'd jot a few remarks about that peculiar thing what ain't a thing, yet what folks call love.

Now it may sound queer for an old cuss like me to be addin' around with such feminine things, but when evenin' comes on, and the night owls ask who's who, even a worn out old plug like me will get sentimental. What I know about love I read in my old boss's eyes just afore he went to wherever the good Lord keeps his stables for the souls of horses.

Love is blood; so is money, so is life. Without blood there won't nobody live; without money livin' is mighty hard, and without love life is dam miserable.

Blood has to circulate to keep the body healthy. Money's got to travel around some to keep business healthy and love runs needs exercise to make life what it should be.

Folks use love like they use money. Some folks squander it all on themselves, and then there's them that are regular misers with it. They hide it so there don't nobody get to see it.

Now, I love love. I sure feel about right when I sees an old mother maw rubbin' her velvety face down the face of her impudent fly. It starts two songs singin' in the heart when one only sung before. Yet there ain't nothin so cloggin as to see some young cickin' vine thing lally-goooin' all over her newly acquired when her bum cookin' different sock mendin', and I'll be-hoss-later-on ideas spells a split up before a wooden wedding can be celebrated.

Some couples think they are in love up to their necks when in fact the matter with 'em is a slight nervous disturbance of their sense of proportion. They feel a slight flutter under the fifth rib and right away go to a jewelry store to get a ring put around it. Next thing you hear about is one or two of 'em is tryin' to get a divorce on the grounds of cold coffee or misremembered birthday.

Now, that is a sort of romantic love, or in other words, they started married life on the Dutch treat basis and went broke, ran out of food and tried to throw from 't'other partner. They look every-thing away from each other but their goo-goo carresses and then when the goo runs out they got nothing left to give each other. They start to wish their nuptial halter was a slip noose with hangman's knot features, so they could slip out themselves and hang the other partner.

Now I ain't advocatin' that young couples should start a contest in seein' which could out 't'other in doin' things for each other. Nothin' like that. But I do think they should put a foundation under their choicest romantic dreams to consist of equal proportions of well cooked meals, nicely chopped wood, stavin' o' grain out and nights o' stavin' home and all the little necessary regulations of married life. I ain't much on set regulations myself, but I've been in homes where there was such a system of irregularities entertained by a daily routine of milkin' cows and tendin' calves was a relief, and there ain't no rut goin' compared to the life of a milkster.

I thought several times I'd like to lasso a real honest to goodness girl like mother, and so I broused around among some of my up to date married friends to see how 'worldin' in a team was like, but, honest to Gawd, I ain't seen but very few o' these teams broke to harness yet. Now there don't none o' my hosses bite each other when I'm drivin' 'em or at any other time. I taught 'em how to get along to-gether.

BUT THE TROUBLE IS THERE IS SO MANY FOLKS GROWIN' UP WHO WANT EVENS TAUGHT HOW TO GET ALONG WITH THEYSSELVES, YET THEY HOOK UP WITH OTHERS AN' PULL OPPOSITE WAYS.

Love is team work. It ain't just a continual demonstration of individuality. Furthermore, love don't belong to the one who has it. It ain't to be used on himself, and when two people get together they can't pile it up and hoard it away. They gotta spend some of it for the next generation and see that it is brought up right and taught the things it should know, and so on.

Love properly invested collects its interest in peace and happiness. But if you invest it in wild cat stocks a time or two, don't get discouraged; try again.

Well, so long, Jerry. I'm going to take my own advice some day. I'm lovin' the smell o' my rabbit stew right this minute.

BILL HUE.

Court Bouillon.

Court bouillon is frequently used by French cooks to boil fish in as it imparts a wonderful flavor. Add two quarts of water and a half tablespoonful of salt, a half cupful of vinegar, two sliced onions, two sliced carrots, a minced pepper, a bunch of celery stalks cut fine, a bay leaf, six cloves, a few sprays each of parsley and thyme, a salt-spoonful of red pepper, a dessert-spoonful of sugar and a thin slice of lemon. Boil this mixture gently for a full half-hour, strain and cool. When cool return it to the kettle and add the fish. A cupful or more of this bouillon is used in making of the fish sauce.

The Political Manager

Phineas Green—
Had an itching—
That he couldn't scratch—
He longed to become Head Barker—
Of the Un-necessary order of Bow-wows—
He imparted his dark secret—
To his nearest relatives—
And after a dark chamber family caucus—
Enlivened by a few intimate personalities—
Phineas emerged minus three front teeth—
But with his resolution intact—
So the following week—
Phineas donned his long-tailed coat—
And took himself hither—
To the biennial council of Bow-wows—
Where he whispered his great ambitions—
To a few trusted growlers—
When the nominations—
For officers of the grand lodge—
Was in order—
Phineas Green's name was presented—
By a member who long had owed him—
Five Dollars—
Who received in turn for this favor—
A—Paid in full—
The only other candidate—
For this heavy honor—
Was a regular jowler by name—
Tim Riley—
Tim came to Rhineas and whispered—
That his arduous business duties—
Would compel him to refuse the honor—
And that Phineas would win—
Without drawing a long breath—
All he had to do was to leave it to him—
And go to bed—
This he did—
And for fourteen hours—
Phineas dreamt the dreams—
That glory is made of—
On the morrow he awoke—
And bought himself—
Four dollars' worth of beefsteak—
For breakfast—
Then repaired to the convention hall—
Tim met him all smiling—
And told him to get ready to shout—
And Phineas went back of a barn—
To get his wheezer in good trim—
Then walking on air—
Repaired to the hall—
The tellers filed in—
Heavy-lidded from loss of sleep—
And the roof fell in on Phineas—
As in sepulchre tones—
The chairman said—

CUT OUT ALONG THESE LINES

A Country Gentleman
TODAY'S SHORT STORY
by Ad Schuster

WILLAPA PETE removed a wad of gum from his mouth and placed it under a jagged rent in the front of his coat. Gently, and with the seriousness of a tailor, he rested the garment on a smooth stone while, with a smaller one, he patted and ironed on the torn spot and the gum.

"There was a time," he observed, surveying his handiwork with satisfaction, "when I was not forced to do my own mending. To look at me you wouldn't think I was once a man of leisure, would you?"

"I'd never think nawthin' else," his companion of the roadside replied, and the two sat in silence gazing through a swarm of gnats at the sunset sky.

"Say," said Little Ernie after a while, "I haven't known you long, but about once a day since we've been partners you've made some crack about your palmy days. What's the idea?"

"The idea," the taller tramp replied, "is that I was jacked from a life of luxury and landed here with you. I was thrown from proud estate. Why, at one time I had an automobile, a big house and a cook and—"

"And a vally and a wife, I suppose," Little Ernie interrupted. "Go right ahead, spin the yarn. Tell me about them golden days or else forget 'em."

Willapa Pete brushed the dust from his mended coat and put it on. He thought deeply a moment and then began.

"It is all the fault of modern invention, of human ingenuity, that instead of sitting at home on my own porch like a gentleman I am sitting here with you like a—"

"Bum," said the other, supplying the word. "Keep a going, you can't wound my tender feelings."

"It was like this. I was married and living on what they call a country place, the same being different than a farm because there was no work to be done. It was a fine place three miles from town with everything handy and fearfully clean. All I had to do was wash the roadster and keep it full of oil and, once a day, I drove to town for supplies. I was a country gentleman which came, in some respects, I am yet."

"The trouble about the whole situation was that the house and the bank account belonged to my wife and my wife was a very good business manager. I won't say she was as stingy as she was rich but it was an even break so far as I was concerned."

"For a fellow of my temperament, if you know what that is, it was humiliating not to have any spending money and it was worse than that to have to nip a dime and a quarter here and there out of the grocery and recreate money for smokes and recreation. But that's what I did. Everytime I found a sale on it, I meant a little for me. When the steak cost sixty-five I said seventy-five and, not playing the came too strong, I kept small change in my pocket. Then I sold eggs and butter from the place and got a rake-off there. Pretty small business for a country gentleman in an $80 suit, but what else could a fellow do?"

Willapa Pete sighed heavily, borrowed tobacco from his partner and filled his pipe.

"Well," said Little Ernie, "how did it end?"

"I got found out and I raised a terrible row about having no money. I am a proud man and when she told me to get out, I went. Here I am borrowing tobacco of you, me what has a big house and a wife."

"It's good tobacco, isn't it?" Ernie asked. "And besides, the house belongs to your wife. Why I want to know is how you lay all this to the notion of invention and human watchamacallit?"

"I told you, didn't I?" Pete replied impressively. "I got all my money by lyin' about the prices of things I bought and sold. Well, things were going great when some smart Alec up and invented the radio. Then, almost the first thing, I sold my broadcasting market returns. My wife was a radio fan and I was ruined."

Graves Work Praised

Universal executives have commented in a gratifying way upon the performance of Ralph Graves in a film play recently finished by Irving Cummings at Universal City. The title is "The Jit," and it is a Saturday Evening Post story of superior merit providing a fine comedy drama role, utilizing all the spontaneity and naturalness for which Graves is noted.

While this portrayal is being praised with the same spirit as his work under Griffith in "Dream Street" and "Scarlet Days," the Universal City editorial department has put the final touches on "The Long Chance," an all-star production which is expected to bring Graves his best acclaim up to date. Both pictures give the young actor roles not in the "straight lead" class.

Duke Visits Movies

Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaiian

aquatic marvel and world's champion swimmer, got his first glimpse behind the scenes of movie-making recently when he knocked off breaking records for a day, to visit the Mayer Studio, where the filming of John M. Stahl's new picture, "The Dangerous Age," was under way.

Edith Roberts, Lewis Stone, Ruth Clifford, Cleo Madison and others whom "The Duke" met during his tour behind the camera were unanimous in the statement that if the Hawaiian could transfer his magnetic personality to the screen, he would prove the most popular star in filmdom. Always good natured and courteous and possessed of a keen sense of humor, Kahanamoku is probably the best liked figure in American sports. He is an ardent admirer of moving pictures, both as a science and as an entertainment, and believes that through educational films the teaching of swimming can find greater advancement than through any other agency.

Both Artists

Everybody knows that Hugo Ballin was a famous artist before he became a motion picture director, but very few have heard that his wife, Mabel, who is the featured player in all his productions, once thought seriously of art as a career for herself.

It was just about the time when the mother husband, that she was studying at the Art Students' League, where every body was predicting big things for her.

Mabel Ballin's interest in art now is more that of the appreciative spectator, except at such times when her talent comes to the fore in the matter of designing her own costume, many of which are used in her screen impersonations.

"My wife says she will leave me if I don't quit smoking," said Mr. Meekerton. "Going home to her mother?" "No. Her mother smokes more than I do."

THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE

the Army of a Million Crooks

A study in scientific criminology. Facts gleaned from the records of the Berkeley School for Police and of its founder, August Vollmer, past president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, and leading authority on criminology.

FIGHTING THE CRIMINAL

Chapter 74.

SINCE Cain killed his brother, since the hand of man has been lifted against his fellowmen; since human greed and avarice and viciousness have been a factor in existence, "society" has been seeking effective methods of combating the criminal.

At one time death by torture, burning, incarceration in dungeons and diabolical inquisitions were brought into play to stamp out crime. It was the theory that such methods would strike terror to the hearts of the offender and thus prevent him from doing any more damage.

The "fear" theory of crime prevention proved to be a fallacy. At the time in Europe when thievery was a cause for hanging, pickpockets plied their trade in the crowds that swarmed around the gallows. When simple assault brought death to the hands of the official executioner, thousands of people were waylaid, attacked and murdered. If an outlaw committed a robbery, he killed his victim because he knew that the punishment could be augmented. If he killed the man there would be one less witness against him.

To put into effect this punishment the constituted authorities in those days organized a "police force." In the Middle Ages called the gendarmes, in England the constabulary, but whatever its name might be, its function was the same.

The police force, whether military, civil or semi-military, was organized to apprehend wrongdoers and aid in their punishment. This was its main function at a time when even the most learned thought that the criminal could be deterred by fear.

So slow are the mental processes of the body politic that even today there are unenlightened communities which base their criminal administration upon the punishment of fear.

Every intelligent criminologist realized long ago, however, that fear of punishment is not an effective deterrent. This was demonstrated when every petty crime was punishable by death. It is illustrated even more strikingly every time a recidivist is convicted.

In the present century, the police are regarded by thinkers more as a crime preventive force than as a punitive organization, and the idea has been carried right into the heart of prisons and jails.

But just as the "fear" theory proved fallacious, so also have police forces and prisons failed to adequately meet the situation. Even in the best police cities in the world, crime still persists. True the criminal prefers those towns with a weak or corrupt police organization, but this does not deter them from operating under the nose of a most efficient corps.

The best weapon for fighting the criminal, education, is generally overlooked and does not become a criminal. Statistics show that 90 per cent of the army of a million crooks are ignorant to the point of illiteracy.

In the days of Caesar and Hannibal murder often went unpunished and the strong man could kill and rob the weak with impunity. The life of a human being was worth nothing. The slaying of a person of low estate was considered the same as killing cattle.

Today human life has a high value. The murder of even one human, arouses great indignation, repugnance. Men do not think in terms of slaves and property. The world is a better place in which to live.

The natural evolution of the race from savagery to civilization accounts for the greater value in which human life is held and for the increased consideration which one member of society is inclined to show toward another.

In a savage state the genus homo waited only for an opportunity to pounce upon his neighbor, slay him and take his wife and cattle. In modern society there are people existing who rejoice in the happiness and prosperity of others. They represent the highest development of mankind. On the other hand there are still primordial beast-men who lay in wait to spring upon some unfortunate and rob him of everything if he stumbles or places himself at a disadvantage. The robber, the profiteer, the high finance artist, the banker, the monopolist, the stock manipulator and the rent-gouger are anthropological throw-backs to the near-ape era. These latter are the modern criminals.

Genuine indignation, the instillation of the doctrine of fair play and brotherly love, is the only remedy. "Police Methods."

"EVER YOURS"

Winifred Black on BEAUTY

HERE ARE SIMPLE WAYS TO GAIN GREATER BEAUTY FOR YOUR HANDS.

Beautiful hands are your birthright, and if you make up your mind to keep your hands as nearly beautiful as possible you will be surprised at the wonderful improvement you can bring about.

Many women cannot have beautiful hands if they do not cease to give over this fact and would turn their attention to the points of which they can take advantage, how they might enhance their hands.

Now, there are certain preventive measures which should never be overlooked by the woman who is on the alert.

Do you wear gloves when you use your hands for any kind of work which may mar their beauty?

I feel that cannot stress too strongly the need of this precaution. There are a thousand and one little jobs a day, especially for the woman who does her own housework, which can do her hands no good.

Wear old, loose gloves, then, when you are sweeping, dusting or fussing about with odd jobs. Wear rubber gloves when you are washing dishes. If your hands are never stiff food over a hot stove without first slipping on a pair of old gloves.

Don't forget gloves when you go out. If you live in town, the grime and dust which fly about in the air will do your hands no good. Protect them with gloves.

Plain cotton ones are very satisfactory in the summer. If you live in the country and wish to avoid sunburn and freckles on the back of your hands, wear gloves.

Your hands are as delicately sensitive as your face to the rays of the sun. If they have become red and sunburned, try the following lotion:

Strained honey 1 ounce
Cologne 1 ounce
If it is treacherous that mar the back of your hands instead of sunburn, you should find this lotion helpful in banishing them.

Powdered borax 1/2 dram
Sugar 1/2 dram
Lemon juice 1 ounce
Apply either of these when you wash your hands at night, and take care to wash your hands well in the right manner.

Tepid water is always best to use and with it the purest soap that you can find. After you have dried your hands thoroughly on a towel, massage them gently for a few minutes. This massage consists in rubbing them, always with a lengthwise stroke, and pinching the tips of your fingers as you do so. This helps to make them taper.

Tommy had been asked the perplexing query: "If five times six were 33, what would the half of 20 be?" The other pupils solved the problem readily, but Tommy could not see how a thing that was not what they said it was had anything to do with anything else that is not what they say it is.

Can you give him the answer?

Winifred Black FOLKS and THINGS

MOLLYCODDLING CRIMINALS.

"Throw up your hands!" "Your money or your life!" "Who killed the society beauty?" "Who's behind the mask that hides the face of the gentleman burglar?"

"What started the crime wave? Where did it come from and where is it going?" All the women's clubs and all the reform associations all over the country are discussing the question.

And now comes the American Bar association and announces that the crime wave is not the result of the war and not the result of prohibition, not the result of woman suffrage and not the result of short skirts, and not the result of bobbed hair and not the result of a lack of religion, and not the result of the decline of home life and not the result of living in apartments, and not the result of crowding into the result of under-nourishment and not the result of "inhibition" or "complexes," but is the result of years of mollycoddling and sympathy with criminals by misinformed and unwise meddlers.

There now, we know what it's all about! I am glad somebody has had the courage to come out and say a few plain words on the subject of mollycoddling criminals.

Lovely word—"mollycoddling"—I do wonder who invented it. Yet, somehow—when we look back at the crime records in the good old days, when they hung a man for stealing a sheep and a woman for stealing a loaf of bread, I am so much in awe with the word "mollycoddling" after all.

It was the mollycoddles who put a stop to sending little boys of 12 and 13 in the penitentiary, where they grew up with professional thieves and murderers for their teachers.

It was the mollycoddles who refused to allow young girls to be locked up in prisons without a matron of any sort.

It was the mollycoddles who started the idea of the juvenile court, and took an interest in boys and girls who were sent to court for grabbing bananas or an apple from a corner fruit stand or for throwing a ball through a window or for claiming some other little girl's doll, and things of that sort.

It took the mollycoddles and their friends to clean up the county poorhouses and county insane wards, and the county jails and the city prisons and the hospitals where the very poor must go when they are ill.

Yes, the mollycoddles are undoubtedly very busy, but sometimes they do seem to do a good deal of good, one way or another.

However, there is something in what the Bar Association has to say. For who that has ever listened to a sentimental discourse which tries to prove that the man who murdered his wife and seven children, did it not because he was a selfish brute who wanted to get rid of them, but because he had some kind of "complex" and couldn't help himself—well, who that listens to such an argument can help what our friends, the analysts, would call a "distinct reaction" in favor of the Bar Association and its opinion on the subject of the crime wave?

"The trouble with all these fellows in here," said the good warden of a well-kept penitentiary to me, not long ago, "is that they are not sent here for being too good."

POOR THINGS.
And when I went through the penitentiary and saw the sullen, lowering, brutish faces behind the bars, somehow I knew exactly what he meant.

I wonder if we women aren't a little bit to blame in this matter of over-mollycoddling of criminals.

Poor things! How can you help being sorry for them? They do make such messes of their queer, puzzled, benumbed lives. But I am not a little inclined to think that we women are sometimes to blame for managing a prison as the warden, for instance? And don't we do a little too much talking about the irresponsible moron?

Maybe the moron wouldn't be quite so irresponsible if he were sent here to be held to answer for what he does.

Nowadays a great many people eat "oatmeal," that is, oats which have been rolled flat. Roman grains, oats grew in many parts of Italy; but they were wild. The Romans thought the plants were weeds. They were amazed when they found that German tribes were in the habit of cooking oats into porridge.

Potatoes, rice and "Indian corn" were also absent from the tables of Romans.

barley. Turnips, radishes, beans, peas and garlic were also raised. Grapes, apples, pears and figs were among the fruits.

Owners of large farms seldom lived on them. They thought it more pleasant to live in Rome or some other city. Now and then they paid a short visit to the farm, but they never stayed long.

Each slave was given a certain amount of grain each month. He had to grind it himself, and then it was baked by a woman slave.

The master was always glad when he heard the slaves had fought among themselves. That made it less likely they would ever get together and fight against the master.

There was an underground prison on most large farms. Here the "dangerous" slaves were penned up at night.

Goats getting a drink at trough leading from spring.
The slaves hated that man best of all the masters. He was the overseer or steward. He was usually a slave himself, but he was picked out so he could drive his fellows to the hardest kind of labor. Often he used a whip. He did this, gain favor with the master. He hoped some day to be freed from slavery.

My Marriage Problems

Revelations of a Wife

HOW LILLIAN CAME BACK FROM HER RIDE

Marion's eyes widened with interest as she saw her mother descend from Colonel Travers's automobile and watched the stately politeness of the officer in taking leave of her. That he had meant to escort her to the house, I guessed, and I smiled to myself as Lillian frustrated his purpose by giving him her hand in farewell. He bent over it ceremoniously and Marion gasped ecstatically.

"Oh Auntie Midge, Uncle Robert!" she exclaimed. "Isn't it just like a movie! Only he ought to have kissed her hand. I don't see why he didn't. Oh-h, Uncle Robert, don't you squander me so tight you hurt."

"I'm sorry dear." The man loosened the arm which he had involuntarily tightened around the child at the sight of her heedless, unconscious words, and Marion, wriggling down, ran to meet her mother.

Robert Savarin rose as Lillian came toward the steps, and Lillian slipped in front of him, determined to keep the management of the situation in her own hands.

"Do hurry, Lillian," I entreated laughingly. "Here's a starving man who has waited breakfast so that you and I may have a second cup of coffee with him."

"I'd better look out, or I may desert the whole breakfast," she retorted lightly, coming up the steps. "There's nothing like a motor ride in this air to give you a second appetite, Robert you were a dear to wait. Thank you," as he took her motor coat from her. "Now for the breakfast room!"

DICKY HELPS
Nothing could have been more casual, more matter-of-fact, than her manner, as yet I saw that Marion's ridiculous little speech concerning the movies had roused again the absurd jealousy concealed behind Robert Savarin's calmness. Would he be able to control it, or would it devour him?

With a heartful little sigh of relief I saw Dicky riding the corner of the house, and knew that if he were only in the mood to set going his never-failing stock of nonsense, there would be a chance for Robert Savarin to betray his jealousy or to brood over it.

"Morning everybody!" Dicky called. "Midge, may I inquire why you didn't take me when you rose to be queen of the May this morning? If I hadn't had the subconscious thought of those fish Mrs. Cosgrove promised to fry for breakfast, I would have been sleeping away. If you've awoken them all this—who's had breakfast, anyway?"

"Everybody but you and Robert," I returned. "But I'm sure there are plenty of fish for both of you. Mrs. Cosgrove would never fail you like that."

MADGE SIGNALS LILLIAN
"Cupid alone knows what a woman will do, and he won't tell," Dicky observed, walking to the dining room door and bowing low as he passed me. As I pressed close after Lillian, I managed to give her an old signal which we had used when we were doing government work together during war, and which meant that I must speak to her alone as soon as possible. It was not until we were all seated at the table that she was able to assure me by an answering signal that she had understood and would act upon my message.

The day was over, and the breakfast table. Dicky was in one of his most nonsensical moods, and I breathlessly aided him in keeping the conversation at the frivolous level to which he had raised it. I think Lillian comprehended what I was trying to do, for she tossed out absurdities back to us admirably, and Robert Savarin—while a close observer could see his submerged grouch—manfully tried to hide his annoyance.

"Will you motor with me this morning?" he asked Lillian. "I'd love to," Lillian rejoined cordially, but her eyes were on me and I saw she was saving a word or two to manage the prior interview I wished.

"Can you delay your trip just a few minutes, Robert?" I asked innocently. Lillian has been promising to go ages ago, and I was on the line of a fascinating little suit for Junior which she saw in the shop one day. And I do want to get started making it today. I have the material all ready, and I'll keep her only a few minutes.

"Of course, as long as you wish," the artist responded courteously, and I relaxed with the assurance that I would be able to warn Lillian of Robert's reaction toward her work, before he saw her.

She came to the point at once, as after breakfast, I strolled with her to her bungalow, leaving Junior and Marion with Dicky and Robert.

"What's up, Midge?" she asked. "Any more news of last night while I've been gone?"

"No, but it's something almost as startling," I returned, "and I have no business keeping it to you, but I feel somehow that I must."

Then I told her.

First Woman—How do you like the new neighbor? Second Dicky never saw such an ignorant person as she is. She can't talk about anything but painting, books and music. She doesn't know a word of gossip about anybody.

"Let me see! When was this little boy born, Brother Johnson?" inquired the presiding elder. "Well," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, "it was just before our fight after my best dog died, and I haint precisely sure which."

"SKELETON ED."

100 Ninth Street, Oakland.
IN THE DAYS OF '49.

In the days of '49 the people came from all parts of the world to find gold. Some came by land, and some by sea.

In the town of Bull Creek, which was in Death Valley, there was a certain man that all people feared. His name was Dead Shot Mike of Death Valley. He was a man that wanted his own way.

Now there was a wagon train coming to the town and with this train was a young man named Joe Andrews. He was a college graduate and a good mate. The train stopped in front of the Devil's Grotto, where Mike hung out. Joe noticed him looking at a young girl across the street. Dead Mike went across the street and took the girl's hand, but she snatched it away from him.

Joe rushed over and grabbed him by the arm and turned him around so swiftly that Mike lost his balance and fell off the porch. When he got up he tumbled something to himself and went away. The girl thanked him and hoped to see him again.

When Joe went to the Devil's Grotto the proprietor said, "You better leave town at once, because he will lay for you and shoot you. He is the brother to a great outlaw, Oklahoma."

That night when Joe went to go to his room, he stopped him and said, "Will you give me an hour to leave town. Get me?"

Then he left and got on a horse that was waiting for him. Joe went to his room and put on his bullet belt and gun and started down the road to a livery stable. There he hired a horse and went towards the mountains, the same way Mike had went. He rode an hour when he came to a house.

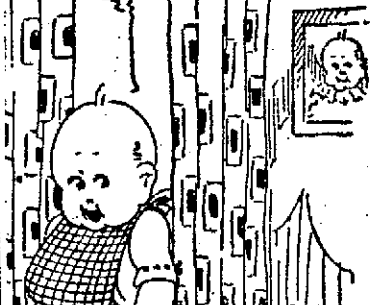

He got off and took out his gun and sat at a table was Mike. He was "inking" room. When he saw Joe he tried to grab his gun, but Joe pointed his gun at Mike and said, "One move, and you are a dead man!"

Mike sneered and said, "You are scared to fight with your fists?" Joe put down his gun and took off his coat and hat and put his arm up and took a fighting pose. He knew something about fighting for he was taught at college.

They fought a few minutes when Joe hit Mike on the jaw and started to fall to the floor unconscious. Joe took his things and went away. The next day Joe met the girl he had

PIRATES IN THE WOODS.
One day a girl and a boy asked their mother if they could go to the woods. Their mother said that they could go, and the girl said, "I want to take my rope."

While they were going through the woods they heard some one whistling. They looked all around. The girl said she saw something moving, and the boy said, "Give me your rope."

He made a slipknot in it, and he lassoed the moving thing. When they came up to them they found that they were pirates. He bound them up tightly and went home to tell their mother.

They had a dog and dog cart. The two little children hitched the dog onto the dog cart, and with their mother they got the pirates into the cart, and brought them to headquarters.

Then the judge said that those were the very pirates the officers had been looking for for a long time, and there was a reward of $2000 that would be paid the children.

The children said "Thank you," and grew up very happy. They never forgot that wonderful day, and kept the rope as long as they lived. JAMES OSBORN.

MY DREAM.

One night my papa he got some ice cream and he and I got through eating it my mama told me to go to bed. And on the way to bed I saw some pickles and I eat one and mama said that's what made me dream.

I was a going down the street when someone grabbed me. Oh! they took me into a dirty cellar! They told me I had to eat bug stew and I said I wouldn't—so they said they'd throw me down a well. I was going down when I woke up and was laying on the floor. Just a dream. I WAS GLAD! JACKIE TIMMONS.

THE BEGINNING OF THE DAF-TODIL.

One day I was walking along in the country a little brownie came up to me and said "How do you do?" Then he took me by the hand and told me to follow him.

He walked and walked until we came to a dark tunnel. I hesitated about going in but the brownie told me not to be afraid, that nothing would harm me and I would be glad if I went.

We started on again, but this time the brownie seemed to go much faster and I could hardly keep up with him. We were soon through the tunnel, but when we got to the end of it the brownie left me. I was all alone, and the longer I stood there the more frightened I got.

Suddenly another little brownie came and he bowed to me and said, "How do you do?" Then he took my hand and started to run. He went a little ways with me and then left me also.

It was not long until I saw a band of fairies coming toward me. When they got right in front of me they started to move all around, when suddenly what did I hear before me—the fairies had spelled out—FAIRIE BAND—Then they all disappeared but one. She had a yellow bonnet on and a yellow dress. This little fairy was also very polite and bowed very low. When she lowered her head her little bonnet fell off and right away it sprang up in the ground and pretty soon there was a large bed of these bonnets. But they were not bonnets any more, but flowers.

The little fairy said "We will call them Daffodils." Then the little fairy asked me what my favorite flower was. I immediately replied, "Daffodil!"

Then the fairy told me to follow her. I gladly did so. We came to a lake and it was all covered with daffodil petals. There were arches bending over it and these were also covered with daffodils.

Everything was very beautiful. As I was looking around very curiously I saw a boat coming toward me. It had a row of daffodils and the sides were all covered with them.

The fairy that took me to this beautiful place then told me when the boat got near to get in. I did so. A little brownie was the Captain. He drove the boat around the lake. I saw many beautiful things. When we got to the other side of the lake the brownie told

BENNY VIERRA AND JIMMY DUNDEE WILL TANGLE TONIGHT

BOSTON TEAMS SHOW NEW YORK CLUBS IN BOTH LEAGUES HOW TO SPILL BEANS

RIVAL FEATHERS ARE READY TO STAGE A FAST FIGHT TONIGHT

Frankie Farren and Joe Coffey Will Meet Again for Championship of the Mission

By BOB SHAND.

Trained to the minute and ready to step the fastest four rounds ever seen in an Oakland ring Benny Vierra and Jimmy Dundee this morning expressed absolute confidence in the outcome of their quarrel. Vierra says he is going to win and Dundee says Vierra won't even get a draw so it is up to the cash customers to help themselves. It looks like one of the greatest featherweight tilts ever staged here and some of the ardent fans have advised Promoter Tommy Simpson to have an asbestos covering over the ring canvas. Los Angeles and Vernon tried and tried hard to get the match but both principals are local boys Simpson thought the match belonged here so he sidetracked other bouts he had in mind to give the little fellows a chance at the time-light.

The Dundee adherents like Jimmy's chances because he has had more experience. He was boxing the best in the four round ranks when Benny was lucky to get a curtain-raiser and in his recent bouts Jimmy proved that he has not gone back any. For Vierra it can be said that he licked every featherweight round here with an assortment of imported feathers besides and then he started on a tour through the lightweight ranks which was successful in every way. He lost one to Young Brown down south, recently because Brown proved immune to punishment and kept boring in. That's the only decision Vierra has lost since he gained prominence.

Dundee is hitting 1000 and Pete Nolan who trains and seconds the Tenth street merchant can't see Vierra at all this evening. Pete admits that Dundee is a smart boxer but he thinks that Jimmy knows too much. The young men who hang around the training quarters declare Dundee has a new right hand punch to the body which he is going to use tonight. Jimmy's best punch was a left hook to the stomach and if he has a good right hand body punch to go with it he will be hard to beat.

Joe Coffey and Frankie Farren box the semi-final and if they step as fast as they did last time out the customers will ask for a third thing better. In their initial meeting they fought like a couple of strange bulldogs and the judges could do nothing but call it a draw. There is no love lost between the pair and their rival delegations of rosters present for the mission they will tear tonight.

Frankie Fuller, manager of Johnny Cline called up this morning to express sympathy for Joe Azevedo who is to be entertained by Mr. Cline tonight. "Joe was lucky to get a draw last night but he'll get a fine beating tonight," remarked Mr. Fuller. Cline wants to box Jimmy Duffy again and he has the best best Azevedo does in order to get a return match with the champion. Cline recently held Duffy to a draw.

Jack Sparr, a member of the Brathens stable, has been first to start here with Joe Brown on the other end of the bout. Danny Nunes, the Sacramento boy, comes here to meet Billy Wallace and Pete Francis will enter in Joe McDevitt. The main event will be furnished by Harry Dakey and Pete Woods. Woods defeated Al Crisp at the last show.

Crack Oakland "Y" Marathon Team

The Oakland Y. M. C. A. Merritt Marathon team, coached by Glenn Williams, will be the most formidable Eastbay organization in the tenth annual TRIBUNE Marathon next Saturday morning. The "Y" runners are a veteran aggregation and have been in strict training for a month. Reading from left to right they are: COACH GLENN WILLIAMS, GEORGE SPENCER, JESS COOCH, GLEN BRATSBURG, ERNE STANGE, CHARLES KLEIN, THOMAS HILL, ARCHIE HUFFAKER and HENRY GONDSTEIN.

Marathon Race September 9

Runners Complete Training Around Lake Entry List Out Next Friday

Two more days to wait until Chief of Police Drew's gun will send nearly three hundred runners on their way around Lake Merritt in the Tenth Annual TRIBUNE Lake Merritt Marathon. The classic running event of 1913 is almost at hand and a larger number of runners than ever before in the history of the race are on edge awaiting the start that will mark the greatest race ever held in the Eastbay. A. In every way the race this year is to be bigger and better than ever before. The runners are largely high school runners of the Eastbay, the prize list contains many awards that have never before been offered, and the race is to be strictly an amateur contest in fact as well as in spirit.

Nothing that could be done for the safeguarding of the interest of all entered has been overlooked. Under the direction of Y. A. Kearns of the Oakland Y. M. C. A. a capable corps of officials have been secured to officiate at the Tenth Annual Marathon and all is in readiness for the start.

Early yesterday a late mail entry arrived to bring the total up to 236. Harvey Michaels, who formerly ran in the TRIBUNE Marathon of 1913 under the colors of Camp Fremont, was the lanky runner who mailed his blank on Saturday but which, due to a holiday on Monday, did not arrive until yesterday. Michaels will run under the colors of the Oakland Y. M. C. A. in the coming race and his entry brings the Y. M. C. A. team list up to ten.

That runners are continuing to avail themselves of the training privileges offered by the Oakland Y. M. C. A. is shown by the report by Glenn Williams, physical director, who declares that he has never seen a larger and more enthusiastic group of runners anxious to get out over the course at every possible opportunity. Many of the runners have been training around the Lake every evening while others have been going around two and three nights a week for the past three weeks.

The official entry list, assigning runners to the numbers which they will wear in the race, will be published Friday evening. Watch for this list and clip it out to have for ready reference on Saturday morning when you will gather around the Lake to watch the runners flash by.

When the large entry list from St. Mary's high school arrived and was announced many of the other institutions claimed that it was not possible that all of the St. Mary's lads would be on the mark to start. Louis Le Fevre, athletic moderator of St. Mary's high school, yesterday assured us that Coach "Flash" Madigan had personally signed every runner who had sent in a blank and that the time they signed he impressed it upon them that they were expected to complete the distance. Under these instructions the St. Mary's boys will probably gather in two team prizes for having the largest number to start and for having the most to finish in the time limit.

From the second varsity are several likely candidates, Harry Dunn, Herb Bauley, Chet Bowes, Charlie Loskamp, "Jap" Rogers, and Wesley Lustrum being the most likely prospects.

Buddy Dixon and Len Renick, cowboys of the third varsity and freshmen of last spring, are a hand.

Coach Williams is anxious to line up with the freshman material early and make an unusually early start on the water.

The race with Washington for both freshmen and varsity rights for the Pacific Coast Inter-collegiate title, will be held on the Oakland estuary next spring.

After it battled for Chavez in fourth.

Red Sox Pull

Yankees From Lead in A. L.

Giants' Lead Cut Down Below Five Games As They Drop a Pair.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Double-barreled disaster at the hands of the Boston clubs tail-enders in both leagues, left the pennant prospects of the New York clubs in a precarious condition today.

The Red Sox, a jinx most of the season to the Yankees, jolted the American league champions from the lead with a double defeat, 4 to 3 and 6 to 5, while St. Louis nosed out Cleveland, 10 to 9.

The Braves gave the Giants a twin trouncing by scores of 6 to 0 and 4 to 2, and as Pittsburgh crushed the St. Louis Cardinals, 11 to 0, New York's lead over the Pirates was cut to four and a half games.

Yankee discards helped the Red Sox to make it 11 victories out of 18 games with the Yankees this season. Johnny Mitchell's homer in the first and Del Pratt's circuit clutch in the second were blows that sealed defeat for Huggins' two pitching aces, Bob Shawkey and Joe Bush.

HOMER FOR WILLIAMS
Ken Williams helped the Browns to regain the lead by walloping out his thirty-fourth homer with the bases full, tying Rogers Hornsby for the major league slugging lead.

George Sisler laced out two hits, bringing his streak of consecutive hitting to thirty-five games, five behind Ty Cobb's American league record, made in 1911, and nine back of Willie Keeler's old National league mark, made when he was with Baltimore in 1897.

Pitching weakness that has become chronic with the Giants and failure to solve Frank Miller and Tule Marquard were the principal factors in their double set-back. Ryan was knocked out of the box in the first and McQuillen in the second contest.

The Chicago Cubs tied St. Louis for third place in the National league by beating Cincinnati, 3 to 1. Detroit and the Chicago White Sox split a double-header while Brooklyn and Philadelphia also divided honors in a twin bill.

Cy Williams of the Phillies made two home runs in the first game of the double-header with Brooklyn and Jack Petrs catching the second game for Philadelphia duplicated the feat.

The hitting of "Rabbit" Maranville was a big factor in Pittsburgh's victory over St. Louis, the peppery shortstop collected five hits, two of which came in the eighth inning, in five trips to the plate. Every Pirate made at least one or more hits.

Cecil Duff, recently obtained from Aberdeen of the South Dakota league by the White Sox, made his first major league appearance in the third inning of the second game with Detroit, after Ted Blankenship had been knocked out, and held the Tigers scoreless in the remaining six innings.

BROWNS ARE ANXIOUS
Having won three games from Cleveland in the final series of the season, the Browns today were eager to make a clean sweep of the four-game series and at the same time defend their grip on first place which they regained yesterday, due to the Yankees' double defeat by Boston.

Though the Browns have won two more games than their eastern rivals only two points separate the two clubs in their see-saw fight for the pennant, owing to the fact that the Yankees have played three games less than the locals. The standings today of the two teams is:

St. Louis—Won 80; Lost 54; Percentage .597.
New York—
Won 78; Lost 53; Percentage .595

Jones Leading

Gardner Over First Round

Fourteen Americans and Two Britons Remain in Tournament.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 6.—Bobby Jones of Atlanta, Ga., led Robert Gardner of Chicago, two up, when the players reached the ninth hole in their 36-hole match in the second round of the national amateur golf championship. Jones was out in 37 and Gardner in 39.

The cards:
Jones, out....4 3 5 4 5 4 3 4 5—37
Gardner, out....5 4 6 4 4 4 4 4—39

Chick Evans of Chicago led W. C. Fownes, Jr. of Pittsburgh, two up at the ninth hole.

Bobby Jones and Robert Gardner were all even at the end of their morning round in the national amateur golf championship today.

William McPhail, Boston, led Harrison Johnson two holes at the ninth; Frank Godchaux, New Orleans, led George Rotan, Texas, one up in the ninth; Rudy Knepper, Sioux City, led Francis Culbert, Boston, two holes; Jesse Gifford, defending champion, was six up on Reggie Lewis at the end of their morning round.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 6.—Fourteen American and two British golfers remained in the national amateur tournament when the second round began today at the Country club with the prospect of getting several thrilling matches before the field should be reduced to eight in the afternoon.

One feature match was that between Robert A. Gardner of Chicago, former champion, and Robert T. Jones, Jr., the Atlanta youth whose stive and excellent play have marked him as a coming champion for some years.

Willie Hunter of New York, former British champion, who defeated Jones at St. Louis last year, had an opponent another young star, Jesse Sweetser, of New York, where he is metropolitan champion.

Speedboat Volger On Way to S. C. Race

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—The speedboat Volger Boy IV, owned by Fred W. Volger, of Portland, Oregon, is on the way to Los Angeles to take part in the De Mille 50-mile trophy race, next Sunday, according to word received here from Volger. The race will be run in three 33-mile heats over a triangular course three miles to the lap.

The official entry list, assigning runners to the numbers which they will wear in the race, will be published Friday evening. Watch for this list and clip it out to have for ready reference on Saturday morning when you will gather around the Lake to watch the runners flash by.

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE FOOTBALL PLAYERS START PRACTICE

STANFORD FOOTBALL TEAM TO PLAY SEVEN OUT OF EIGHT BIG GAMES ON HOME GRIDIRON

GRID WORK STARTS AT ST. MARY'S AND CALIFORNIA FIELD

Madigan Has Plenty of Veterans, But Local College Eleven Will Be Light.

By DOUG MONTELL

The ice is broken. St. Mary's College started strenuous training for the coming football season yesterday afternoon when a group of thirty varsity candidates held a hard three-hour workout under Coach Edward P. "Flash" Madigan on the local college grounds. It consisted of the usual routine limbering up exercises to get the muscles in shape for the season and to avoid "charley horses," but setting-up exercises gave way to the handling of the football within a short time. Madigan is a firm believer in starting the ball rolling early and getting off on the right foot. While he has practically a veteran team to start with, he realizes the necessity of whipping his men into shape early to prepare for their two strenuous early season contests with California and Stanford.

St. Mary's should turn out a winner this year. Optimistic enthusiasts at the local college see visions of a victory over California such as was scored in 1917 in that memorable 14-13 win featured by Doc Silva's long run to touchdown from the kickoff. It is not to be. But the Saints will be a fighting aggregation and with a start more than a week ahead of both Stanford and California should add the necessary physical condition to give a good account of themselves and make for one of the most interesting games of the early season.

St. Mary's Will Be Closely Watched

St. Mary's will be closely watched throughout the football season on account of having resumed athletic relations with Santa Clara. No longer will the Saints be regarded as merely a plaything for the larger colleges. They have their own "big game" to point at and while "sneaking California" would afford them more glory than beating Santa Clara it is doubtful whether it would afford any greater satisfaction.

The insurmountable lack of material to field a university side of California. Reserve strength is lacking and weight, while present to some extent, is not there in the departments needed the most. Light ends and small, fast men in the backfield may be an asset in some games and under some conditions but the old theory that a good little man can beat a fair big man is not due to come true with a team of his men coached by men like Andy Smith or Andy Kerr. It can be done.

Inter-Class Work On in Full Blast

Out at California work is on at full blast. A casual visitor dropping into California Field of an evening would see a regiment of men in football togs occupying every nook and corner of the field. They are played up three and four deep around the edges trying to find a vacant bit of ground on which to plant a foot. It is inter-class work and there are sufficient men in togs to make up close to one hundred players. No wonder Andy Smith and Nibs Price sit perched high up on the bleachers with a twinkle in their eyes and remark that it would be a great scene for the lovers of mass play.

Mass is good. Yet all of these men who are on the field at the present time are either freshmen or under-graduate students who have little or no opportunity or hope of making the varsity. Varsity practice does not start until September 15 and no varsity men are out in suits at the present time. Neither are the two Freshmen coaches.

Baltimore to Be Shaken Up By Jack Dunn

Orioles' Manager to Operate "Connie Mack" on His Winning Machine.

By HARRY RUTH

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—It is reported and not denied that Owner-Manager Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Orioles will do a "Connie Mack" next winter. By this I mean that he is supposed to be planning to gear the team into a machine which has dominated the International League for the past several seasons, not because he wants to but because the other clubs in the league threaten serious reprisals unless he does.

Agree on Contests.

St. Mary's and California have agreed on a few athletic dates for the coming year, according to an announcement by Graduate Manager Louis Le Ferre of St. Mary's yesterday afternoon. For the first time in eight years the California baseball team will play at St. Mary's.

BENJAMIN STOPS EDDIE MAHONEY IN THE FIRST

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—Suave Joe Benjamin, lightweight protégé of the late Jess Willard, mowed into the ring at Vernon last night with Eddie Mahoney, who has the reputation of a rough man. Mahoney went down three times in the next two minutes and the fourth time he curled up and took the count, while Benjamin was absentmindedly making a motion on his forearm like a man who is looking at his wrist watch.

Norman Selby, Kid McCoy, to Take 9th Bride

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—Norman Selby, who was known in the squared circle as Kid McCoy, and who is now a motion picture actor, yesterday secured a license to wed Mrs. Jacqueline Arthur McDowell of Baltimore, Md., who arrived from that city for the wedding, which will be Selby's ninth, and the bride's second.

The prospective bride and groom declined to say where or when they would marry. They left the court house in an automobile after they got their license. Selby told one reporter that they would be married right away, last night, and told others that the ceremony would be delayed until September 13.

GREAT BALL CLUB.

To this end he assembled one of the greatest minor league ball clubs ever organized. This club, with very few changes, already has won three consecutive pennants and is winning another with ridiculous ease. No other club in the league is in the same class with the Orioles nor has been for the past four years.

PLENTY OF GRID TALENT SHOWS UP AT SANTA CLARA

UNIVERSITY OF SANTA CLARA, Sept. 6.—The appeal of Coach "Buck" Buckingham for three full football teams for the coming season has been responded to by the students of University of Santa Clara in a splendid manner, and each afternoon on the university grid may be seen three complete football eleven going through their preparatory tactics with "Buck" as their instructor and a host of husky substitutes as an audience.

Ed. (Strangler) Lewis Defeats R. Gardini

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Ed. (Strangler) Lewis, heavyweight champion wrestler, defeated Renato Gardini, Italian champion, in a two-hour match here tonight. Lewis scored the only fall in one hour and twenty-two minutes with a headlock. Up to that time Gardini had been the aggressor.

New Leader Of Card Team Well Pleased

Graduate Manager Makes Known Full Schedule of Gridiron Games.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 6.—Seven of the eight football games scheduled for the 1922 Cardinal eleven will be played in Stanford stadium according to information released by Graduate Manager W. D. Fletcher today. The only off-campus game will be with Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis on October 13. Four of the games will be with conference teams, U. S. C. University of Washington, California and O. A. C.

Mr. Davis' Cup To Remain in This Country

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 6.—America reigns supreme for another year in the international tennis world. By an exhibition of flawless, smashing super-play William M. Johnston, "Little Bill," clinched possession of the famous Davis cup for the United States by defeating Gerald L. Patterson, captain of the Australian challengers, in the first of the two concluding singles matches. His victory was in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, and as a decisive victory.

California Varsity and Babe Net Teams Start Eliminations

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Sept. 6.—Play in the elimination round of both freshman and varsity tennis tournaments started on the University courts yesterday afternoon and will continue daily until September 18th. After that date there will be one match played each week. All matches except the finals will be determined on a best two out of three basis.

Neville Loses To Armstrong At Del Monte

DEL MONTE, Cal., Sept. 5.—H. E. Armstrong of Los Angeles captured the honors yesterday in the qualifying round of the California golf championship tournament. E. S. Armstrong, 71-74-146. J. F. Neville, San Francisco, 71-76-147. Robert Hunter, Berkeley, 75-79-154. Fred J. Wright, Jr., Los Angeles, 82-75-157. Max Behr, Los Angeles, 81-77-158. Gerald Hardy, San Francisco, 80-78-158. Dr. C. H. Tatum, Los Angeles, 74-78-162.

California Varsity and Babe Net Teams Start Eliminations

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Sept. 6.—Play in the elimination round of both freshman and varsity tennis tournaments started on the University courts yesterday afternoon and will continue daily until September 18th. After that date there will be one match played each week. All matches except the finals will be determined on a best two out of three basis.

To date forty-four men have signed for competition for places on the varsity squad while the freshmen are close behind with thirty-seven on their role. Phil Bettens and Jerry Stratford are among the leading candidates for varsity positions, both being well known in tennis circles. Bettens played in Eastern tournaments throughout the summer, yielding with William Tilden in many doubles matches. Bud Chandler looks to be the outstanding star on the freshman list at the present time. Chandler is state interscholastic singles champion.

Al Hoag Into Camp

CLINT, Kramer took the decision from Al Hoag in the main event of the Aroclor show last night. Tony Gregory, a green kid, was fed Eddie Macey, and Eddie let him stick the limit.

Purpose of Issue
The proceeds of these bonds are to be used in connection with the recent acquisition of this property by its present owner, the Santa Marina Corporation, and will also be used in part for comprehensive improvements shortly to be made.

at 4½; last loan, 4:10. Total acceptances, 4. Total combined collateral, $2,000,000.

Earnings
Current annual net earnings amount to approximately 1.7 times interest on outstanding bonds. It is conservatively estimated that after the improvements have been completed annual net earnings will amount to or $2\frac{1}{2}$ times maximum annual bond interest charges and $1\frac{1}{2}$ times maximum combined interest and serial maturity payments prior to 1937, with
